PUBLIC NOTICE

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners will conduct a public hearing concerning proposed revisions to three principal land development ordinances currently implemented by the County. The proposed revisions would affect the following ordinances:

1) Deep Creek Watershed Zoning Ordinance;
2) Garrett County Subdivision Ordinance;
3) Garrett County Sensitive Areas Ordinance

The Date and Time of the Hearing is:
Saturday, May 8, 2010, at 9:00 a.m.

The Location of the Hearing is:
Garrett College Auditorium

All interested citizens are cordially invited to attend

The Department of Planning and Land Development released initial preliminary drafts of these three ordinances for public review on September 29, 2009. The Planning Commission sponsored a public information meeting on the initial drafts on October 14, 2009, and subsequently prepared new Revised Draft Ordinances that incorporated major changes into the September draft. On March 6, 2010, the Garrett County Planning Commission conducted a public hearing on the revised ordinances. Based upon citizen comments submitted at the public hearing or in writing subsequent to the public hearing the Planning Commission made further minor adjustments to the Draft Ordinances.

With the acceptance of these final adjustments, the Planning Commission has now recommended adoption of all three Revised Draft Ordinances. The following represents a summary of the most significant policy changes to these Ordinances as recommended by the Planning Commission:

Deep Creek Watershed Zoning Ordinance:

1) New Zoning Districts are proposed: Agricultural Resource (AR), Rural Resource (RR) and Lake Residential 2 (LR-2) are new districts intended to preserve rural character and conserve natural resources by limiting residential development to a relatively low average density. New standards for subdivisions in the AR and RR districts are proposed using either a cluster or non-cluster option with incentives to promote cluster subdivision. The Rural Development (RD) district is proposed to be eliminated.
2) A Scenic Protection Overlay District is proposed for those areas identified as Crestlines on the proposed zoning map. This provision is intended to preserve the scenic views of the ridge tops and crest lines surrounding Deep Creek Lake. Requirements for retaining and planting trees on the sides and rear of structures when viewed from the lake and shoreline are proposed.
3) Architectural Standards for non-residential structures in the TC, TR and GC zoning districts for metal buildings are proposed.
4) Provisions, including setbacks, for domestic, agricultural and industrial wind energy devices are proposed.
5) New setbacks for drilling for natural gas are proposed.
6) New provisions for non-conforming structures and grandfathered non-conforming lots are proposed.

Garrett County Subdivision Ordinance:

1) The Agricultural Resource (AR) and Rural Resource (RR) land classifications are proposed to be expanded and new standards for subdivisions in these areas are proposed using either a cluster or non-cluster option with incentives to promote cluster subdivision.
2) A provision that would allow the Planning Commission to require a Traffic Impact Study for major subdivisions is proposed.
3) A provision to retain trees and other vegetative cover for new subdivisions abutting Scenic Byways is proposed.
4) Provisions to delineate the boundaries of any wetlands or Source Water Protection Areas on subdivision plans are proposed.

Garrett County Sensitive Areas Ordinance:

1) Provisions to protect Source Water Protection Areas are proposed.
2) A provision to limit the exemption from the steep slope requirements to lots of record that are less than four acres is proposed.
3) A provision to prevent construction of buildings on man-made slopes exceeding 30% grade is proposed.
4) A provision to use the Maryland Sensitive Species Project Review Areas map as the indicator for referring applicants to DNR is proposed.

The Revised Draft Ordinances are formatted such that readers will be able to easily compare the proposed changes with the text of the existing Ordinances. All three Revised Draft Ordinances and related maps are available for public review on the County's website at http://www.garrettcounty.org by clicking on Draft Revisions to Ordinances under News. The revised drafts are also available at the Department of Planning and Land Development office.

MARYLAND DEPARTMENT OF THE ENVIRONMENT WATER MANAGEMENT ADMINISTRATION NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

Garrett County

Application for State Discharge Permit 09-DP-3667, NDPES Permit MD0070629:

Maryland Energy Resources, LLC, 6015 Ferguson Rd., Indiana, PA 15701, submitted an application for a permit to discharge an average of 500,000 gallons per day of mine drainage and variable volumes of storm water from a proposed underground coal mine, located along Durst Rd., southwest of Grantsville, MD, to the North Branch Casselman River (Existing Use III waters).

The Department proposes to issue the permit with limits for total suspended solids (30 mg/l average and 45 mg/l maximum), settleable solids (0.5 ml/l maximum), total iron (3.0 mg/l average and 6.0), total manganese (2.0 mg/l average, 4.0 mg/l maximum), temperature (68°F daily maximum), pH range (6.5 to 8.5), mine drainage flow (144,000 gpd daily maximum, 1.1 cfs instantaneous maximum), mine drainage toxicity (less than 1 TUa) and effluent monitoring for numerous other parameters. The permit requires immediate suspension of the discharge in the event of mine drainage temperature or pH exceedance, wastewater operator certification, biomonitoring, restrictions on the use of treatment chemicals, best management practices, a storm water pollution prevention plan, and additional requirements for acid mine drainage. The permit also requires a study of stream flow velocity to support an authorization for a higher flow limit for mine drainage.

It has been determined that at least two State listed endangered species habitats are situated downstream from the discharges that are authorized under this permit. While the permit conditions are appropriately conservative and stringent, issuance of this permit will not relieve the permittee from the responsibility to ensure that the continued existence of these endangered species is not put at risk or jeopardized by the activities authorized under this permit.

The Department has received a request for a public hearing on the tentative determination for the above permit and has scheduled the hearing for Wednesday, May 19, 2010, at 6:30 PM, in the cafeteria of the Grantsville Elementary School, 120 Grant Street, Grantsville, MD 21536.

Persons who wish to present information regarding the tentative determination may speak at the public hearing; submit written comments at the public hearing, or submit a written statement to the Department no later than May 26, 2010. All comments will be considered in making a final determination.

Written comments should be addressed to the Maryland Department of the Environment, Water Management Administration, 1800 Washington Blvd., Baltimore, Maryland 21230-1708, Attn.: Mr. Michael Richardson, Chief, Industrial and General Discharge Permits Division. The supporting information for the tentative determination, including the draft permit and fact sheet, may be reviewed by contacting Mr. Richardson at the above address or by telephone at 410-537-3323 or 800-633-6101 to schedule an appointment. Copies of documents may be procured at a cost of $0.36 per page.

Any hearing-impaired person may request an interpreter to be present at the public hearing by giving ten working days' notice to Mr. Richardson at the address or telephone number listed above.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Mayor and Town Council of Friendsville hereby gives notice, pursuant to Article 23A, Section 2(24) of the Annotated Code of Maryland, of its intention to sell by private sale certain unimproved real estate not located within the Town of Friendsville, and known as part of "Ironwood Resurveyed Twice".

NOTICE IS ALSO GIVEN, that Ordinance No. 20101 has been introduced before the Town Council, authorizing the Town to sell the said real estate and other property interests, consisting of one half acre, more or less, along with certain water and other easements not within the Town, more commonly known and designated as part of "Ironwood Resurveyed Twice", to the Estate of Theresa Selby Murphy, under the terms and conditions set forth below, and that the Mayor and Town Council of Friendsville shall hold a public hearing on said Ordinance on the 3rd day of May, 2010, at 6:30 P.M., at the Friendsville Town Hall located at 313 Chestnut Street, Friendsville, Maryland 21550.

A fair summary of the Ordinance is as follows:

An Ordinance authorizing the Mayor and Town Council of Friendsville to convey, by Quit Claim Deed, to the Estate of Theresa Selby Murphy certain lands and easements not within the Town of Friendsville, known as part of "Ironwood Resurveyed Twice", consisting of one half of an acre of ground, more or less, along with certain water rights, easements and other property rights, not within the Town, in consideration of the payment to the Mayor and Town Council of Friendsville by the Estate of Theresa Selby Murphy a purchase price of Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00), to be paid in cash at the time of settlement. The intended Grantee shall also pay all costs of said transfer, including, but not limited to, attorney's fees to the Town attorney for preparation of the Ordinance, the required Public Notice and all other such costs of document preparation, as well as the cost of the required publication of this Public Notice, any transfer taxes, recordation fees, title searches and all other such costs. The subject property was conveyed to the Town, in its proprietary capacity, by the City Water Company of Garrett County, Inc., by deed dated November 1, 1973, and recorded in Book 344, Page 167, among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, consisting of approximately one half acre for the purpose of providing water to the Town, and said property is not held in public trust; that the Town desires to dispose of said property by private sale and to use the proceeds for other Town purposes. The Town water system of which the property and property rights to be conveyed were a part has long been abandoned by the Town and said property and rights are of no use to the Town. The one half acre cannot be located on the ground due to an incomplete deed description and there is no clear access to the said property. The property rights hereby conveyed were part of and represented an encumbrance on the land owned by Theresa Selby Murphy, now deceased, and constitute a cloud on the title of the said property which passed to her estate.

On or about April 5, 2010, the Mayor and Town Council adopted Resolution No. 2010-1, declaring that said property was held by the Town of Friendsville as business property, and not in public trust, and that the property is no longer needed for any public purpose in that the actual land does not have access and cannot be located and the easements and other property interests to be conveyed were only of use to the Town for the operation of the abandoned water system.

That this Notice is intended to meet the requirements of Article 23A, Section 2(24), of the Annotated Code of Maryland, and to give notice of the public hearing on Ordinance No. 2010-1.

The full text of Ordinance No. 2010-1 is available at the Friendsville Town Hall, 313 Chestnut Street, Friendsville, Monday through Friday, from 10 A.M. until 2:30 P.M.

ELCA Women Hold Assembly In Friendsville

The Monongahela Valley/Mountain District of Women of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America (ELCA) held its spring assembly at Grace Lutheran Church, Friendsville, on Saturday. The theme of the gathering was "Helping Hands Helping Others."

Registration and fellowship began at 9 a.m. at the Northern Garrett county Rescue Squad building. The program began at 10 a.m.

A program titled "The Mayan Hands" was presented by Marilyn Moors, who showed various articles of material and items made by the Mayan people. She has been a board member of the Mayan Foundation since it was founded in 1992, and has served as its president since 2000. Each received a book mark made in Guatemala.

Mimi Demaree spoke about Demaree Inflatable Boats, a manufacturing company located in Friendsville since 1982.

Norma Bowyer, cluster coordinator, presided over the business meeting. Announcement was made of the W.Va./Western Maryland Women of the ELCA synodical convention, which will be held Aug. 6-7 at Paul VI Pastoral Center, Wheeling, W.Va. The fall retreat for the Monongahela Valley/Mountain and the Ohio/Kanawha Valley districts will be held at Tygart Lake State Park Oct. 22-24.

Roll call revealed that 12 churches were represented at the spring assembly. There were three guests and two pastors – Rev. Roland Nairn of Accident Parish and Rev. Marjorie Lauver of the Aurora-Red House Parish – present.

Mary Ann Greer spoke about the Afghan Project and showed samples of the work being done, after which Pastor Nairn led a dedication service for the project.

Lunch was served by the Women of the ELCA of Grace Lutheran, and a worship service with Holy Communion followed.

Zion Lutheran Women Convene

Women of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America (ELCA) at Zion Lutheran Church in Jennings recently held their April meeting. The theme was "Holy Hospitality," and the program was led by Leota Baker.

Judy Stanton presided over the business meeting. A report covering the past three months was given, as meetings were not held January through March.

Offerings were made over those months and sent to the synodical unit treasurer of Women of the ELCA. Subscriptions to "Lutheran Woman Today" were renewed, and quarterly offerings were sent to the American Bible Society.

Ten baby quilts were made and sent to Our Savior's Lutheran Church, Box Elder, Montana, for that church's layette program to the Rocky Boy Indians. Ten chair pads were made and sent to Pendleton Nursing Home in Franklin, W.Va. Thank-you cards were received for both projects.

Lap robes are currently being made for the Pendleton home and will be sent later.

The district meeting of the Monongahela Valley/Mountain District was held April 17 at Grace Lutheran Church, Friendsville. (See separate story.)

Rite Aid Plans Kids' Carnival

Rite Aid will sponsor a kids' carnival on Saturday, May 1, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. in the Grantsville Plaza.

The event will include food, games, prizes, a live character, and a bounce house.

All proceeds will go directly to Children's Miracle Network, which is a non-profit organization that raises money for more than 170 children's hospitals and helps more than 17 million children each year, including in Pittsburgh, Pa.

DCL Policy Board Schedules Meeting At Discovery Ctr.

The Deep Creek Lake Policy and Review Board (PRB) will hold its spring quarterly meeting in the lower level of the Discovery Center at Deep Creek Lake State Park on Monday, May 3, beginning at 6 p.m.

"WE WILL DO WHAT WE CAN," said Southern High School science teacher Jamie Beeman on Tuesday as students of the school arrived at the Garrett 8 Cinemas for classes. Beeman's sentiment was apparently shared by all the school officials and faculty in response to the inadvertent mercury release at Southern, which has caused the school's closing for many days. The faculty proposed the idea of creating the alternate instruction site at the theatres, and manager Bill Ingram and owner Mike Delligatti readily agreed. The process has worked well, according to Superintendent Wendell Teets and several other officials. The clean-up at the school is nearly completed, according to Rodney Glotfelty, Garrett County health officer, and the school is set to reopen Monday, May 3. See story and additional photographs. Myers Inducted Into Chamber Hall Of Fame

Karen Myers, president of Recreational Industries Inc., the firm which owns and operates Wisp Resort, and president of Mountaineer Log & Siding Company Inc., was one of three Marylanders formally inducted last night into the Maryland Chamber of Commerce's Maryland Business Hall of Fame. The ceremony was held at the Hilton Baltimore BWI Airport and attended by an estimated 500 of the state's top business leaders.

Myers is the first Western Maryland business leader to be inducted into the Hall of Fame, which now includes 32 members. The Hall of Fame was established to recognize entrepreneurs and business executives whose contributions have helped advance the quality of life for Marylanders and improve the state's business climate.

Myers, who represents the 10th generation of her family in Garrett County, is a member of a number of boards and organizations, including the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival, Garrett County Board of Realtors, Garrett County Development Corporation, and Garrett County Chamber of Commerce, on most of which she has served as a director and/or officer. She was twice named to the Daily Record's Maryland's Top 100 Women, and was selected Garrett County Woman of the year and Garrett County Employer of the Year. She is an active member of St. Mark's Lutheran Church, Oakland, and of the Garrett Community Concert Band.

"It is my high honor to accept this recognition on behalf of my partners at Wisp, Steve Richards and Gary Daum; the Wisp management team; and our 125 year-round employees and 700 seasonal employees," Myers said in her acceptance speech. "We're in the 'fun' business, and it is our goal to generate smiles on [the faces of] each of our customers. It is not a one-person show; it is a team...

"This honor never could have happened 25 years ago, because very few people in the state of Maryland even realized that Garrett County existed, so they had no idea what the business community was doing," she continued. "The world has changed for those of us in

SHS Students Attending Classes At Cinemas During Mercury Clean-Up

Southern Set To Reopen Monday

The clean-up of mercury at Southern High School is nearing completion, with the school system expecting to reoccupy the building on Monday morning, according to a report issued this morning by the Garrett County Health Department.

Mercury was inadvertently released on the afternoon of Wednesday, April 21, and the school was closed immediately for the decontamination process. As of Tuesday of this week, the 863 students and 87 staff members have been holding classes at Garrett 8 Cinemas in McHenry.

With the exception of the auto shop area of the high school building, mercury has been removed in all areas of the school to below targeted levels set by state and federal officials, according to Rodney Glotfelty, county health officer. This target level was set at 50 times less than the federal regulatory limit for long term workplace exposure.

"The verification of the removal of mercury to these exceptionally low levels provides assurance that children and staff can safely re-enter the school environment," Glotfelty said.

The Maryland Department of Environment (MDE), Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DHMH), Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), and the Garrett County Health Department are all in agreement that upon receipt of confirmatory laboratory results this morning, the school is now ready for resumption of classes and activities.

The automotive shop area is the only part of the school where clean-up continued Thursday. But according to an EPA official, clean-up is progressing well even in that area. If targeted levels are not reached by Monday, the area around the auto shop will be isolated and restricted until satisfactory tes results indicate the area is safe to re-enter.

According to Dr. Wendell Teets, superintendent of Garrett County

GC Commissioners Hold Staff Mtg.; Health Officer Reviews SHS Incident

The Garrett County commissioners held a staff meeting on Tuesday, hearing reports from leaders of 15 county departments and agencies. Topics reviewed included the Southern High School mercury incident, snow removal statistics, early voting, alcohol sales compliance checks, and wind turbine construction.

Health Department

Health officer Rodney Glotfelty reported that cooperation and preparation are playing key roles in the successful handling of the mercury release problem at Southern High School. The incident occurred last Wednesday.

Glotfelty said the Health Department would not have been able to respond to the incident if it had not spent some of its federal emergency preparedness funding to train Craig Umble. The training has enabled the environmental sanitarian to handle situations involving hazardous materials, such as mercury, and other environmental emergencies.

"We had great confidence when it was reported to us that there had been a possible mercury incident out at the school, that we could send Craig out and that he could assess the situation, get the area quarantined as fast as possible, and do whatever else we needed to manage the incident," Glotfelty said.

Also helpful was the good relationship that the department has developed over the years with the public school system, Department of Public Safety and Emergency Management, and other agencies, the health officer indicated.

Health Department and school officials were able to quickly identify the five students who had direct contact with the mercury and the areas in the school where it had been transported. A short time later, officials learned that about 15 other students had been exposed, but they had already left school for the day via buses.

"[But] we were actually able to have all of those students back to the school by 8:30 [p.m.] or so and have them tested and decontaminated," he said.

In addition, those students and others concerned about possible contamination were instructed to bring their clothing, shoes, and book bags to be tested.

"We were also able to set up an emergency operations support center at the Health

JWCC CONTRIBUTES TOWARD DOVE CENTER CAMPAIGN – The Junior Women's Civic Club of Oakland recently presented a check toward the Dove Center's Capital Campaign for a new shelter, family counseling center, and office space. Funds are being raised locally to support the Dove Center's request for a Community Development Block Grant. The application for this grant must show sufficient local funds raised to demonstrate community support, a spokesperson said. The Dove Center serves about 500 new clients from Garrett County each year, victims of domestic violence, rape, and sexual abuse. "The JWCC learned of the matching funds recently offered by an anonymous donor, and we raised our contribution to garner more money for this much needed community project," said Sandy Zakaluzny, president of the Junior Women's Civic Club. Shown from left are Dorothy Tuel, board chairperson for the Dove Center, Greg Elliott, board member, and Zakaluzny. GCSO Make Drinking And Driving Arrests

Two drinking and driving arrests were made this past Tuesday by Garrett County sheriff's deputies. The following incidents are unrelated.

A deputy conducted a traffic stop along Maryland Highway for an equipment violation. Investigation led the deputy to conduct field sobriety tests on driver Connie Lynn Schrock, 41. She is charged with driving under the influence and driving while impaired. She was taken to the Garrett County Jail to await a bond hearing.

A vehicle was stopped by deputies on Crellin Underwood Road. The driver was identified as Dennis Wayne Long, who was found to be driving under the influence. He is charged with DUI and DWI. He was later released.

Gormania, W.Va., Man Arrested On Maryland Warrant

A West Virginia man was arrested by Garrett County sheriff's deputies last Friday for an outstanding Maryland warrant for burglary and theft.

A search and seizure warrant was executed at the Gormania residence of Roger Lee Strawser, 43. The warrant stems from a burglary at a Broadford Road, Oakland, residence that occurred the weekend of April 10 and 11. Several guns were stolen from the residence.

Strawser was taken into custody without incident and was then transported to the Potomac Highlands Regional Jail. He was to be held there without bond while awaiting extradition to Maryland.

GC Health Dept. Continues Majority Rules! Campaign

During the past eight months, the Garrett County Health Department's Majority Rules! Campaign has been making its way around the county in many different forms, from T-shirts to yard signs, and from movie slides to billboards.

"Watch for our latest message 'You've Been Majoritized,'" said Kendra Todd, director of health education at the health department. "In the same way other groups have used pink flamingoes to 'flock' a neighbor's yard, we are posting a group of '7 outta 10 Northern/Southern Students Don't Drink' signs in yards around the county to 'majoritize' a neighbor's yard."

When the signs are posted in a yard, a card will be put on the door of the house, asking for help spreading the positive message that 7 out of 10 Northern/Southern students don't drink. "Please be so kind as to move the signs in the next few days to a friend, neighbor, or relative's house and surprise them with the sign barrage!" the card reads.

The latest version of the Majority Rules! message is part of the ongoing social norms campaign designed to change perceptions which change behaviors. Research shows that social norm messages targeted at the true norm (in this case that most students don't drink) will change youth's perceptions, which will influence their behavior to not drink.

According to a spokesperson, research shows that the process works because students have a misperception that most youth use alcohol. In turn, they begin to use alcohol to "fit in" with what they think, that a majority of their peers are also using. When they understand the true norm, they are "given permission" to belong by not using.

"We want youth and adults alike to understand that drinking alcohol is not the norm," said Nancy Brady, prevention supervisor at the GCHD. "Most students in Garrett County are making the right choice; they are choosing not to drink."

The Majority Rules! campaign is funded by a Drug Free Communities grant from the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration and sponsored by the Garrett County Drug Free Communities Coalition.

For more information about the Majority Rules campaign, or about other prevention efforts, persons may call 301-334-7730 or 301-895-3111 or visit the web site at www.garrett-health.org.

clean-up is progressing well even in that area. If targeted levels are not reached by Monday, the area around the auto shop will be isolated and restricted until satisfactory test results indicate the area is safe to re-enter.

According to Dr. Wendell Teets, superintendent of Garrett County Schools, the modified instruction at the movie theatres will continue through Friday to allow staff enough time to prepare the school for students on Monday.

The health department began working immediately with the board of education Wednesday afternoon when approximately 21 students at Southern High School received primary exposure to mercury through inappropriate handling, Glotfelty said. MDE and a private contractor arrived Wednesday evening, and Thursday afternoon Region III of the EPA began supervising the mercury clean-up process.

"All students who had primary exposure were identified and tested, and if necessary, their clothing and backpacks were removed and handled accordingly Wednesday evening," Glotfelty said. "There does not appear to be any immediate health concern associated with this exposure, and we do not anticipate any long-term health issues. To help ease fears, we also offered blood test to those students."

Glotfelty reasserted this week that low-level, short-term exposure to mercury leads to no lasting health effects and treatment is not needed. A single small exposure is not likely to cause delayed or long-term effects, he said. Mercury does not cause a chemical burn, and washing the exposed skin with soap and water should remove any residual liquid mercury.

Dr. Teets said the school system is currently conducting a thorough investigation of the incident and appropriate actions will be taken.

Teets said this morning that the process at Garrett 8 Cinemas has been "remarkably successful," and he said the smooth operation there is "a tribute to the faculty and the students."

In interviews with several key players in the situation, all noted the high level of cooperation among county leaders, the faculty at Southern, and the students.

Bill Ingram, manager of Garrett 8 Cinemas, has worked closely with Lynn Bell, director of secondary education, James Maddy, principal of the school, and Dr. Teets since last weekend in arranging the alternate location for the students. Teets said Southern's faculty came up with the idea to have classes at the cinemas, and Mike Delligatti, owner of the facility, and Ingram were agreeable and helpful.

"We are very thankful to Mr. Ingram and to the community for helping with this situation," said Principal Maddy.

The students are being transported to the theatres on their regularly assigned buses. Students who usually walk or who are transported in other vehicles are taken to the alternate site via an extra bus that leaves from Southern Middle School. Once they arrive at the theatres, they follow maps that show where each subject is being taught. The different theatres are housing grouped subjects, such as languages in one theatre, mathematics in another, the arts in another, and so on.

Ingram, who has been at the site each day to assist with the process, said he has been impressed with how well the faculty and students have adapted.

"I have always had the deepest respect for the teachers in Garrett County," Ingram said. "But I am just amazed at what they have been able to accomplish in that space and that situation. At first I thought this would be nothing more than meeting state requirements for having classes. But they have created a true learning environment. It's amazing to see. For them to come up with a program that works is incredible. I'm sure nothing of this magnitude was ever covered in their teacher training.

"Yesterday, which was just the second day for the kids, I watched them come into the theatres in the morning, and it was just like they were coming to school on a regular day. They fell right into step. They were quiet and calm, and so well-behaved," Ingram said.

Bell said the cooperation the school system has received from Ingram and Delligatti has been invaluable as well.

"They have gone out of their way to make this work," Bell said. "With their cooperation, in addition to our staff, it has actually been a great experience. I am so proud of the staff and students, of how well everyone has worked together. This is a true example of community cooperation."

Ingram and the school officials communicate every afternoon to go over any problems or issues, and the movie theatre is then readied for business in the evenings.

"The custodians, Bob Canan and Rachel Stanley, are leaving the place cleaner than how they found it, every day," Ingram said.

Teets added that the Garrett 8 Cinemas, which has a capacity for 1,143 people, was one of the only available locations in the county where all the students could be instructed together.

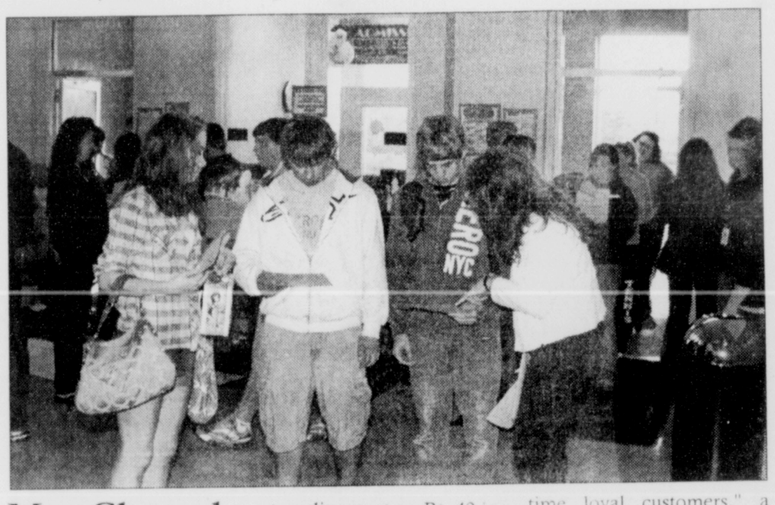
"It's very helpful to have the students all in one building," Teets said. "We talked about a couple of other sites, but this was a much better solution."

Teets indicated that the arrangement with Delligatti was also "extremely" cost-effective. More information on that issue will be published at a later date.

"We owe a great debt of gratitude to Bill Ingram and Mr. Delligatti," said Doug Oxford, a teacher at Southern.

THE BACK-UP PLAN is ironically the title of the movie showing in this particular theatre, at least in the evenings. What is happening during the day is a true back-up plan, as students have been relocated to the Garrett 8 Cinemas to continue their studies while the high school is decontaminated of spilled mercury. Electronics teacher Steve Cosner is pictured as he addresses his class, which is combined with all business and CTE (career technology) students in the first theatre. As shown below, the students sit in the rows labeled with their teachers' names. Some subjects are taught to the whole group, and at other times, they break off into smaller gatherings. Photos by John McEwen.

MAKING THE BEST OF THINGS – The relocation of classes for Southern High School students set up a long list of complications, but the adaptation for both students and staff has worked remarkably well, according to school officials. A makeshift "main office" is pictured above, with staff member Kayla Cathell serving in her usual role of answering questions and pointing the way for students. Several teens are shown below as they study their new class locations and work to "go with the flow" in the wake of the mercury incident at their school. Classes are to resume at the high school on Monday, May 3, according to the Garrett County Health Department. Photos by John McEwen.



Man Charged With Second-Degree Assault

A Swanton man was arrested by Garrett County sheriff's deputies after they were dispatched to a Deanna Road, Swanton, residence for a domestic dispute last Friday.

Investigation led to the arrest of Michael Cumerlato, 41, at approximately 10:30 p.m. that evening. He is charged with second-degree assault and was taken to the Garrett County Jail to await an initial appearance before a District Court commissioner.

Drivers Taken To Cumberland After Head-On Collision

A head-on collision along Rt. 40 Monday sent two drivers to the Western Maryland Regional Health Center, Cumberland. Maryland State Police, Grantsville Volunteer Fire Department, and Northern Rescue Squad responded to the 6:20 a.m. scene.

Investigation revealed that Gyanesh Ranjan, 34, Herndon, Va., had been traveling west on Rt. 40 in a 2002 BMW X5, when he crossed into the eastbound lane to pass a tractor trailer in front of him. He passed the truck on a double line, no passing zone, at the crest of a small hill. Renee Tressler, 49, Confluence, Pa., was traveling east and was hit head-on by Ranjan.

Both were taken by Northern Rescue Squad to the Cumberland hospital for treatment.

Ranjan is charged with negligent driving and passing in a no passing zone.

We now have comprehensive healthcare reform in the United States. Rather than debate the merits of the legislative choices that were made, why not find out "What does this mean for me?"

Understand how you can benefit from the key provisions such as increased tax credits and reduced payroll tax and health insurance costs. It is critical that employers understand the requirements and be in a position to take advantage of the incentives contained in the provisions.

Grant Deadline Near...

Time is rapidly winding down toward an important deadline for the Dove Center, Garrett County's domestic abuse and sexual assault resource center. As most readers of this publication know, the directors of the center have been conducting a capital campaign to raise matching funds that will enable the center to obtain a major grant for the construction of a new center. The more money and pledges that can be generated locally, the greater the amount of money that will be awarded via the grant.

There has been outstanding support of this project, as well as continued support of the operations budget of the center. To date, over $170,000 has been raised by the capital campaign, but more is needed in order to optimize the opportunity afforded by the grant.

Donations can take one of three forms: a one-time cash contribution, a pledge for which the donor will have up to three years to satisfy, and in-kind donations. For those making a pledge of, say, $300, even though one may make payments of $100 per year for the next three years, the entire $300 will be credited toward the matching grant monies. In-kind contributions can take the form of anything that can be used in the construction of the new facility, from lumber to concrete to wiring to plumbing to flooring to paint. So this could be an excellent giving opportunity for some local businesses that sell such items. Of course, all donations are 100% tax-deductible.

It is recognized that economic times are tough right now for businesses, organizations, and individuals. However, the value of this center and those who operate it cannot be over-estimated. Without question, the center and its staff continue to save lives, both in a literal sense and in a more figurative way, by helping abuse victims get out of seemingly dangerous, awful situations and helping them start their lives anew. The need is absolutely real and the results of the center's efforts are priceless.

The absolute deadline for persons to make donations/pledges to support this particular grant is May 17. This column today, then, is a plea to all to consider making one of the above described contributions to the Dove Center within the next two weeks. It seems that the general economy is truly on the upswing, so perhaps a pledge would be the best recommended type of support since the donor will have up to three years to make the contribution.

Certainly the Dove Center will continue to need contributions well beyond next month's deadline, but obviously this is an excellent time to make a commitment to this life-saving, life-changing facility.

To the Editor:

We experienced an unfortunate fire event on Thursday, April 22. It was a windy day with very dry ground. A fire was started at our neighbor's in a fire pit in their yard that quickly spread to our wooded property.

The Oakland Volunteer Fire Department was the first responder, and Oakland firefighters worked diligently to contain the burn; however, the wind and dry woods worked against them. Deer Park and Terra Alta volunteer fire departments were summoned to provide assistance.

When we arrived at the scene, the level of smoke and fire was shocking, and we feared that we would lose timber and suffer fire damage to all of our 30-plus acres. However, after a few moments of watching the skill, speed, and dedication of these firefighter "professionals," we knew they would do all they could to minimize damage and contain the fire. In the end, we suffered a burn to approximately three acres of property, with no loss of life, pets, or home. Without question this is due solely to the efforts and hard work over several hours by all of the volunteers.

We personally thanked as many of the firemen as possible, not knowing their names. All were so humble, especially John Feather, the chief from Oakland. In the group we recognized two friends, Fred and J.T. Collins, and seeing them with the other responders gave us great comfort.

As we witnessed the work of these brave firefighters, it was clear to us that their work is dangerous, hard, dirty, and physically demanding. And they all "volunteer" their efforts on behalf of the communities they serve, and when needed these firefighters join fellow communities for the good of their citizens. In addition, the response and investigative assistance provided by DNR was extraordinary.

We thank each fire department and the volunteers, and recognize the exemplary work they do and service they provide to all. We are proud to be part of this community.

With deep appreciation and respect,

Dennis and Sharon Reeves

To the Editor:

Contrary to Mr. Krewson's opinion, you do not owe an apology to anyone in Garrett County. He either didn't read or chose to ignore the last paragraph of your editorial that appeared on April 8. The editor should be congratulated for "Telling it like it is."

I am a former local resident who began working in the Oakland area in 1951 and continued in other places until retiring last April. Because nearly 35 of those years were with an American domestic trunk airline, I feel qualified to comment about labor/manage-ment relationships.

Contract negotiations were always adversarial, with both sides frequently hostile and intransigent. Union leadership failed to recognize the realities that faced our industry when U.S. commercial airlines were deregulated circa 1977. They didn't trust, and tried to force out the CEO (Frank Borman) in 1986. They called a strike in 1989 that put Eastern Airlines into bankruptcy and eventual liquidation in 1992. Pilots, cabin attendants, mechanics, and non-contract employees all lost jobs, wages, and benefits.

My own opinion is that it would be best for all of us to "shut up and get back to work."

Sincerely yours,
George Moats

To the Editor:

Here we go again. The party of No, Nyet, and Nay gets all revved up to go backwards. God forbid we have a discussion about the future of the American banking system.

That very system in which the six largest banks control about 60% of our gross national product. The one that bet against America succeeding by doubling down on their own bets in a convoluted scheme to make as much money as they could, as fast as they could, at most everybody's expense. After baking that cake, they skimmed off the icing by putting the American taxpayer on the hook for the whole meal... that they, the money changers, ate. Now in the Senate, the Republicans refuse to allow a debate on regulating this group of money whores. What the Sam Hill gives?

I'll tell you what gives – money. And lots of it; $300,000,000 just last year in campaign funding and lobbying efforts. If we had to bail these thugs out, where did they get that kind of money to throw around Washington?

It's a shame. It's a sin. It's un-American. We the people ought to bust these banks and investment houses down to a manageable size so that when they fail again we can all stand on the shore and watch them sink clear out of sight. Teddy Roosevelt busted the trusts in his time for all the same reasons we should be rough-riding over this bunch of pencil-pushing donothings. They create nothing but wealth for themselves at our expense.

All you tea baggers ought to redirect your efforts toward Wall Street, where you can do the most good. Shoot your credit cards full of holes and mail them back to the scalawags that charge you 25% on your money.

Besides, I heard that Wall Street wants to take your guns!

Department to give Craig the assistance he needed out in the field, and get nurses out to Southern to talk to families who were coming in," Glotfelty said.

The health officer said the good news is that the mercury did not make it out of the school. He added that Umbel "did a great job" handling the incident.

Umbel said he would be continuing his federal level training in Anniston, Ala. This is one of two sites where he receives "live" training on such hazardous gases as ricin, the sanitarian said.

Given these tough budgetary times, Umbel stressed to the commissioners that the training is available free of charge to all employees of sheriff's offices, hospitals, and health departments, and some social services personnel.

"The federal government pays for everything, top to bottom – your flight down, your meals while you're there, any travel expenses incurred to get there," Umbel said.

(More information about the mercury incident is available in a separate article on the front page of this issue.)

Roads Department

General superintendent Jay Moyer, Roads Department, presented the commissioners with winter operation statistics from the county's three roads garages.

Grantsville garage workers plowed a total of 109,673 miles of roads this past winter, Moyer said.

Oakland garage crews plowed an average of 1,875 miles per day on the day shift, while the night shift plowed 1,250 miles. On average, the day shift used 450 tons of antiskid and the night shift used 750 tons.

Accident garage workers plowed a total of 272,000 miles. Day shift crews logged more than 1,000 hours of operation time on graders and loaders, while night crews had more than 1,500 hours. In addition, Accident workers used 21,400 tons of antiskid.

"It's amazing when you look at these numbers; they tell you why it costs so much for winter operations," Moyer said.

Because of economic conditions, the county's Fiscal Year 2011 budget will not include any major equipment purchases and employee vacancies will not be filled. Additional funding, however, has been allocated for equipment repairs.

Moyer indicated road crews will be meeting soon to plan for this coming winter and making adjustments to accommodate the lack of new equipment and employee.

"It's going to be interesting what we finally come up with," he said.

Moyer added he hopes the upcoming winter is not like the most recent one, and that the public understands that his department can only do so much.

Elections Board

Director Steve Fratz, Garrett County Board of Elections, reported that a local early voting site for the 2010 gubernatorial election has been designated. Early voters will be able to cast their ballots at the Oakland Community Center from Sept. 3 through Sept. 9 for the primary election. The hours of operations will be 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. every day during that period except Sunday.

Fratz also reported that the local board of elections will need 25 or 30 new judges for the upcoming primary, mainly at Oakland and Mtn. Lake Park area polling sites.

"I've lost 20 percent of my workforce since the '08 election," he said.

The director noted that machine judges earn $175 a day, while a chief judge receives $200 a day.

For more information about becoming a judge, interested persons may call the Board of Elections at 301-334-6985 or 301-895-3822.

General Services

Director Gary Mullich, General Services, reported that the county's Liquor Control Board, with the assistance of Maryland State Police cadets and the Health Department, conducted compliance checks recently.

Checks were made at 67 of the county's 76 establishments that have liquor licenses. Mullich indicated that 9 percent, or 5, of the places failed their check by selling alcohol to the underage cadets. He noted that clerks/bartenders at three of those places asked to see the cadets' IDs and still sold them alcohol.

The director added, however, that this year's failure rate was better than that of the 2009 check. That year, 10 percent of the establishments failed.

Constellation Energy

Constellation Energy representative David Wagner attended the commissioners' staff meeting. The company plans to build about 30 industrial wind turbines along the Backbone Mountain ridgeline in the Eagle Rock area.

"The project is obviously under construction," Wagner said. "A substantial amount of work has been done on Eagle Rock Road, where the substation will be located."

He added that the company is clearing the individual pad sites where each of the wind turbine generators will be located.

Wagner also noted that work began last Tuesday on the project's "south string" location, which is off King Wildesen Road.

"By all accounts, everything is going rather well," he said.

Richard L. Beckman of Elizabeth City, N.C., and formerly of McHenry, was recently named the U. S. Coast Guard's Civilian of the Quarter for his outstanding performance at the Base Support Unit at Elizabeth City. He is pictured above left with CW04 Carlos Toomer of the Elizabeth City Coast Guard Base, who presented a plaque and certificate to Beckman on April 12.

The former Garrett Countian serves as the accounting technician for the morale, well-being and recreation division on the Elizabeth City base.

A letter of commendation, plaque, cash award and designated parking space were presented to Beckman, by both Toomer and by commanding Officer Capt. C.C. Bennett.

Bennett said Beckman was recognized for having highlighted deficiencies, prepared and circulated mandatory training documents, successfully met all the financial requirements set forth by the U.S. Coast Guard Headquarters, and meticulously reviewed vendor accounts for efficiencies saving the Coast Guard $4,000 annually, all in addition to performing his day-to-day accounting tasks. He also assisted the U.S. Coast Guard base at Ketchikan, Alaska, in implementing improvements to its programs.

Bennett said Beckman earned this recognition as a result of his initiative and outstanding performance.

"While his accomplishments were part of a team effort, his positive attitude and reliability make him a valued employee worthy of recognition," Bennett stated.

The honoree lives at Elizabeth City with his wife Joanna, daughter Micaela, and son Patrick. His oldest son, Petty Officer Second Class Gregory A. Beckman, serves in the U.S. Coast Guard at Sitka, Alaska. Beckman's parents are I. Lynn and Mary V. Beckman, Swanton.

OBITUARIES

R. THOMAS THAYER JR.

R. Thomas Thayer Jr., 84, Oakland, known to his many friends as "R.T.," passed away peacefully at his home on Monday, April 26, 2010, after a brief illness.

Born April 18, 1926, in Oakland, he was the son of the late Ralph and Helen (Helbig) Thayer.

R.T. graduated from Hagerstown High in 1944 and immediately enlisted in the Army Air Corps, where he served until his honorable discharge as sergeant first class in 1946. He attended West Virginia University and graduated in 1950 with a BS in forestry and was recognized with the Alpha Zeta and Scabbard and Blade honoraria.

After graduation, he accepted a position with the Maryland Department of Forests and Parks and rose to the rank of state forester for Maryland in 1962. Torn between accepting his new post as state forester in Annapolis and leaving his beloved Garrett County, he chose to leave the state and joined the Garrett National Bank as special representative. This is where he developed and honed his legendary "people skills" and in 1965, along with his cousin, Frederick Thayer III, formed Garrettland Realty Inc., and together they were instrumental in the creation of numerous real estate developments in Garrett County, including the premier condominium community of Four Hooppole South and Sky Valley.

In later years, R.T.'s foresight lead to the development of the county's premier affordable housing developments in the early 1980s with the construction of Pinewoods East, Meadowoods, and Meadows East along with his longtime partner and contractor Richard (Dick) Devlin with now over 500 affordable housing units in Garrett County.

R.T.'s past affiliations and memberships include: retired member the Oakland Volunteer Fire Dept (21 years); member and past president of the Oakland/Mtn. Lake Park Lions Club; Deep Creek Lake/Garrett County Promotion Council, serving as past president; founder and past chairman of the Autumn Glory Festival; member and past president of the Maryland Farm & Land Brokers; past regional vice president of the National Farm & Land Institute; past member of the Garrett County Development Corporation; past member and chairman of the advisory board to the secretary of the Department of Natural Resources; member of the board of directors First Federal Savings Bank of Western Md.; Appalachian Environmental Laboratory, Frostburg State University board of visitors member; Whitewater Championships Inc. member, board of directors 1989; past member Maryland Housing Policy Commission; past trustee of National Christmas Tree Growers Association.

He was recognized for his service to the community with a Certificate of Distinguished Citizenship in 1976 by Gov. Mandel; the Farm & Land Member of the Year by the Maryland Farm & Land Brokers in 1982; and in 1986 Honorary Golden Ambassador by Deep Creek Lake/Garrett County Promotion Council.

R.T. was also an avid gardener, fisherman, and hunter.

He is survived by his three children, Tommy, Jerry, and Mary Helen, all of Oakland; one stepdaughter, Sydne (Loy) Iwerks of Virginia; and six grandchildren, Jessica, Brianna, Nathan, Garrett, Lindsey, and Samantha.

Thomas A. Fitzwater Family

Tommy was a son, daddy, brother, uncle and friend. He was a simple man, a man of few words, but a man of his word. He was a kind and gentle man. So the many expressions of love bestowed upon his family in our time of loss have been overwhelming and comforting. Thanks to all who provided food, assisted in the meal, sent flowers, offered a word of comfort, sent cards, or made a donation in his memory. Everything is much appreciated.

Words cannot even begin to express the heartwarming appreciation we have for his fellow bus contractors and bus drivers, the Deer Park Community Volunteer Fire Department, the Garrett County Sheriff's Office and the Oakland City Police Department who came together to provide a loving tribute to honor Tom with his own bus parade. It was amazing!

Our sincere appreciation is given to Western Maryland Health System, Dr. Alida Podrumar, Dr. Christopher Haas and Dr. Subrato Deb for the HOPE you offered to Tommy and his family. You will never know how much it meant to Tom in his last month of life.

Thanks to Dr. Dan Miller, Dr. Perry, GCMH Emergency Room Staff, Southern Garrett Rescue Squad's Phil Rook, and Nick Crabtree for all your care and professionalism. We are grateful to Kelly Fitzwater, RN, for her understanding and caring support.

We express our gratitude to David A. Burdock Funeral Home, Rev. Davey Nelson, Pastor Cindy Ackerman, Shirley Fitzwater, and Katie Toothman for the beautiful service given to Tommy.

Our regret is to anyone we may have overlooked. Tommy will be sorely missed by us all; but we find comfort in knowing he is at rest in the Lord Jesus Christ and we will be reunited.

God bless. The Family of Tom Fitzwater

Farming On The Mountaintop

Loans Available To Area Farmers For Storm Losses

The USDA's Farm Service Agency (FSA) recently announced that eligible Maryland farmers have been approved to receive emergency physical loss loans.

According to Charles C. Cawley, executive director for the FSA, loans are available in 16 Maryland counties because of severe blizzard conditions from three storms that occurred during the period of Jan. 30 through Feb. 10.

The eligible counties are Garrett, Allegany, Anne Arundel, Caroline, Cecil, Dorchester, Frederick, Harford, Howard, Montgomery, Prince George's, Queen Anne's, Somerset, Washington, Wicomico, and Worcester.

All counties listed were designated natural disaster areas, making all qualified farm operators in the designated areas eligible for low interest emergency (EM) loans from the FSA, provided eligibility requirements are met.

Farmers in eligible counties have eight months from the date of the declaration to apply for loans to help cover part of their actual physical losses.

Cawley noted that FSA will consider each loan application on its own merits, taking into account the extent of losses, security available, and repayment ability.

Interested farmers may contact their local USDA Service Centers for further information on eligibility requirements and application procedures for these and other programs.

Additional information is available online at www.disaster.fsa.usda.gov.

EMERGENCY LOAN DESIGNATION APPROVED FOR SNOWSTORM LOSSES

Alfred J. Lewis, West Virginia Farm Service Agency (FSA) state executive director, has announced the designation of 17 counties in West Virginia for FSA Emergency (EM) Loans.

"The counties of Berkeley, Brooke, Doddridge, Hampshire, Hancock, Hardy, Jefferson, Marion, Marshall, Morgan, Ohio, Pocahontas, Preston, Ritchie, Tucker, Tyler, and Wetzel were designated for emergency loans by President Obama because of damages caused by severe winter storms and snowstorms occurring February 5-11, 2010," stated Lewis. "This designation was made to enable FSA to provide financial assistance to those farm families who suffered severe losses as a result of the severe winter storms and snowstorms."

Public Law 98-258 provides for counties that are contiguous to another county that has been designated as a disaster area, to also be eligible for EM loans, Lewis said. Barbour, Calhoun, Gilmer, Grant, Greenbrier, Harrison, Lewis, Mineral, Monongalia, Pendleton, Pleasants, Randolph, Taylor, Webster, Wirt, and Wood counties are contiguous to the designated counties and are therefore eligible for assistance.

To be eligible for an emergency loan, the farmer must have suffered at least a 30% production loss or a physical loss, be able to evidence adequate repayment ability, and be unable to obtain adequate credit from other sources. Loans to one operation are limited to $500,000 or the calculated production loss plus the physical loss, whichever is less. Loans are also limited to owners and/or operators of not larger than family-sized farming operations.

Farmers in the above West Virginia counties may apply for EM loans up through December 23, 2010. Applications should be filed in the FSA county office which serves the county in which the applicant resides.

Local Producers Reminded About Acreage Reports

Local producers are reminded to submit their annual reports of acreage to their local Farm Service Agency (FSA) county office to meet FSA program eligibility requirements.

"Producers must file their reports accurately and timely for all crops and land uses, including prevented and failed acreage, to ensure that they receive the maximum FSA program benefits possible," said Michael R. Kozier, executive director of the FSA in Garrett and Allegany counties.

Accurate acreage reports are necessary to determine and maintain eligibility for various programs, such as the Direct and Counter-cyclical Program and newer programs authorized in the 2008 Farm Bill. Programs include the Supplemental Revenue Assistance Payments Program (SURE), Average Crop Revenue Election Program (ACRE), Livestock Forage Disaster Program (LFP), Tree Assistance Program (TAP), and Emergency Assistance for Livestock, Honeybees, and Farm Raised Fish Program (ELAP).

Acreage reports are considered timely filed when completed by the applicable final crop reporting deadline, which may vary from state to state. Prevented acreage must be reported within 15 calendar days after the final planting date.

Failed acreage must be reported before the disposition of the crop. Producers should contact their county FSA office if they are uncertain about reporting deadlines.

Late-filed provisions may be available to producers who are unable to meet the reporting deadline as required. Reports filed after the established deadline must meet certain requirements to be accepted and may be charged late fees.

Producers should visit their county FSA office to complete acreage reporting.

For questions on this or any FSA program, including specific crop reporting deadlines and planting dates, producers should contact their county FSA office.

More information on FSA programs is available online at www.fsa.usda.gov.

Mind Your Own Business!

I've been thinking this week about boundaries. You know, like a fence that separates your yard from your neighbor's. He mows his grass, you mow yours. Having proper boundaries is so important to a happy life.

It seems that sometimes we struggle with sticking our nose into someone else's business and oh the trouble it brings.

Just because we know about something, doesn't make it our responsibility. Here's some wisdom from the Bible:

Proverbs 26:17 (TMSG)
You grab a mad dog by the ears when you butt into a quarrel that is none of your business.

Want less stress in your life?

The next time you're tempted to make someone else's issue yours...remember God's word and leave that dog alone!

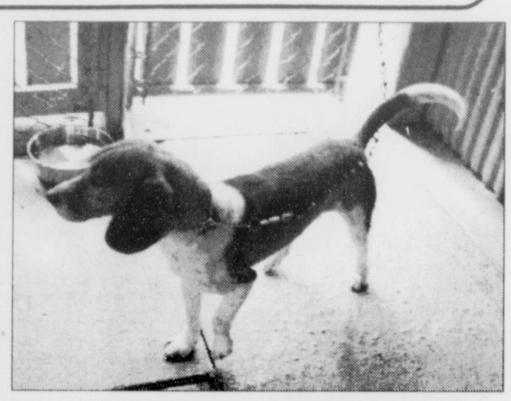
Adorable Adoptables



BUSTER AND AMOS are available for adoption this week at the Garrett County Animal Shelter. Both of the male felines were given up by their owner. Buster (above left) is a dark tabby with white patches and is 6 years old. Amos (below left) is gray and white and 10 years old. Also in need of homes are two strays: a very thin male beagle (above right) that was picked up in Bloomington and a male white cat (below right). "Last week a HART member took a few dogs to rescue facilities, which made a few kennels available at the local shelter," said a Humane Society spokesperson. "Countywide rabies vaccination clinics begin in May. Check the paper or call the Health Department for dates, locations, and times. Maryland state law requires that all cats and dogs be vaccinated against the rabies virus." For more information about these pets or others that may be available at the animal shelter, persons may call 301-334-3553. Located along Oakland Sang Road, the facility is open Monday through Friday.

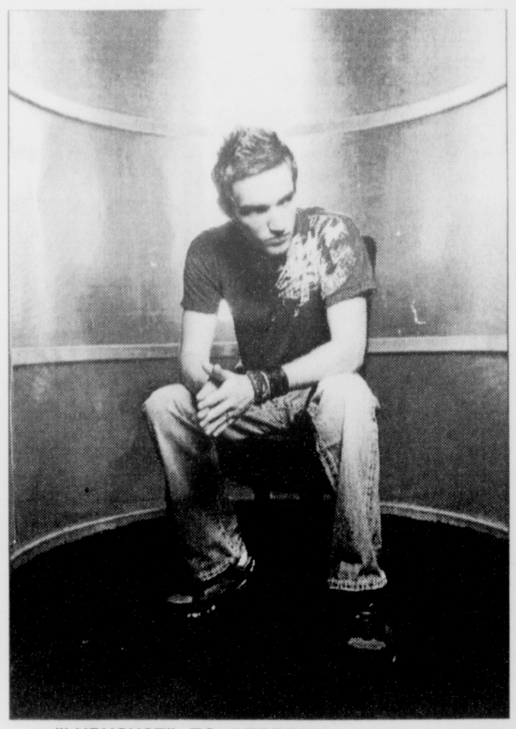
"SELDOM SCENE" SEEN IN OAKLAND – Jamie and Rayetta Riggleman recently received a visit from one of their favorite musicians, Ben Eldridge of the award winning bluegrass group Seldom Scene, who stopped by the couple's restaurant, Jamie's Creative American Cuisine, for dinner in Oakland. A banjo player, Eldridge is one of the founding members of Seldom Scene, which was formed in 1971 in Bethesda. The Rigglemans play the group's music often for their customers. Jamie recently e-mailed the members to tell them how much he enjoys their work. "I grew up listening to your music, and I learned the banjo at an early age," Jamie wrote. He then invited the members to dinner at his restaurant, located "in a small town in Garrett County, Maryland." To his surprise, Eldridge replied a few days later, informing him that he lives in Fredericksburg, Va., but has a second home at Deep Creek Lake. Not long after that e-mail, Eldridge stopped by for dinner. Pictured, left to right, are Rayetta, Eldridge, and Jamie.

GLAF PRESENTS YU WEI TO STUDENTS – More than 500 Garrett County 3rd, 4th, and 5th graders were treated by the Garrett Lakes Arts Festival to a presentation of the Yu Wei Chinese Dance Collection on Friday, April 23. In cooperation with the Garrett County schools, students were brought by bus to Garrett College to watch an interactive program of Chinese dance, culture, and history. Yu Wei, a professional dancer from China, used short films, her dances, and conversation with the students to illustrate the links between folk dancing, Chinese culture, and her family and national history. She actively involved the students in the audience, taking some students on stage, as pictured above. She helped the youngsters learn how to "dance" with their hands, a GLAF spokesperson said. GLAF works with the Garrett County Board of Education to bring arts experiences to the county's youth. The organization's educational programs are made possible in part by a donation from the Howard and Audrey Naylor Family Trust. Photo by Dan Tice.



"LYRYCYST" TO PERFORM – The rap artist Lyrycyst is scheduled to perform as part of a free concert event at the Oakland Community Center (former Armory) on Friday, May 7, beginning at 7 p.m. Other artists include Adam Cappa and The Music Room. The event is sponsored by Mtn. Top YFC and is open to the public. Donations will be requested at the door. For more information, persons may contact David Winters at 240-321-4292 or mttopyfc@gmail.com. See story for details.

TOTL Theatre Company 2010 Slate Announced

Now in its fifth season at Deep Creek Lake, the TOTL (Theatre on the Lake) Theatre Company, announces its slate of plays, musicals, and youth camp opportunities for the 2010 summer season. As in 2009, the troupe will perform in two separate venues: The Barn at Ridge View Valley and at the Garrett College theatre, according to director Lynn Broderick.

The opening production for the 2010 season will be Rodgers and Hammerstein's Oklahoma, slated for July 14-18 at The Barn at Ridge View Valley.

The musical, set at the time the Oklahoma territory was becoming a state, is the beloved tale of Curley, the cocky ranch hand who has an eye for his beautiful neighbor Laurie, who pretends to have no interest in his advances.

"Surrounded by the soaring melodies of 'Oh, What a Beautiful Morning,' 'People Will Say We're in Love,' 'Surrey with the Fringe on Top,' and 'Oklahoma,' the characters weave a timeless story of new beginnings," said Broderick.

Running concurrent with the opening production is the TOTL Theatre Summer Apprenticeship Program, scheduled for July 5-16 from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. daily at Garrett College.

In its second year, only 20 students are accepted for the apprentice training and the opportunity to perform in Oklahoma on July 14-18 with the TOTL Theatre Company. Students attend classes during the morning and will rehearse for Oklahoma in the afternoon. Students who wish to attend the camp should call TOTL Theatre Company (304-680-1002) and request that a registration brochure be sent to their home.

The second production will be the comedy Brighton Beach Memoirs by America's premier comic playwright, Neil Simon.

Prior to this play, Simon penned many of his best works, including The Odd Couple, Plaza Suite, The Last of the Red Hot Lovers, and Barefoot In The Park, and his musicals, Sweet Charity, Promises, Promises and Little Me.

Brighton Beach Memoirs is the first play of a autobiographical trilogy about the Jerome family which weathers the Depression, along with a family of Jewish relatives who have come to live with them. The story is narrated by Eugene, a 13-year-old baseball fanatic who is just discovering some interest in the female species.

The final offering of TOTL's summer season will be the musical Children Of Eden. Act I begins with Chapter 1 of Genesis and the Adam and Eve story. Act 2 continues with the story of Noah and the flood.

The musical score was written by a young Stephen Schwartz, who later became famous as a composer for his score for Wicked on Broadway.

Broderick noted that all production titles are subject to change, based on availability and licensing regulations.

The cost of season tickets is still $25, and they can be purchased by mailing a check to the TOTL Theatre Company, 348 Parson Road, Aurora, WV 26705. Season tickets will be mailed to purchasers with instructions on how to make reservations for a specific night. Season-ticket holders are given first priority for seating on all nights.

Since The Barn at Ridge View holds only 150 audience members, Broderick said it is best to get a season ticket before the box office opens in late May to ensure one's space for the summer.

All shows throughout the season will begin at 7:30 p.m.

TOTL Theatre Company is a non-profit, professional theatre production company that is supported by members of the community, and by the Garrett County Arts Council and the Maryland State Arts Council. Tax-exempt gifts can be made to TOTL Theatre Company at any time, with the goal of keeping professional theatre affordable for everyone each summer at the lake.

HOW TO RETIRE OVERSEAS

by Kathleen Peddicord

C. 2010, Hudson Street Press, $25.95; 288 pages

Review by Terri Schlichenmeyer

This morning was different.

This morning – like nearly every morning for the past several decades – you rolled over, slapped the alarm, and thought about your day ahead, hoping for a little free time, but knowing that was probably impossible, just like it has been for years.

And that's what made this morning different. This morning, you knew you were done. You can't stand it anymore. You want out, desperately.

Travel posters have caught your eye lately, and so have touristy TV commercials. But that kind of life is only for dreamers, isn't it?

Not always, says Kathleen Peddicord. In her new book, How to Retire Overseas, you'll find out how easy it is to spend the rest of your days out-of-country.

So you think a life of leisure is the life for you. You've harbored a childhood dream of living in South America, Paris, the Orient. You've always wanted to see the world. But before you go, there are a few steps you can take at home to make the dream a reality and the transition smoother.

First of all, says Peddicord, know yourself. Are you an impatient sort? Can you remain calm if the electricity fails or you can't get online? Is your health relatively good? Can you stand to be away from the kids and grandkids? What kind of climate do you enjoy? Do you speak a second language?

Next, decide what you can afford, what you can't live without, and how you'll manage your money. Many countries "roll out the red carpet" for retirees, and that can make life abroad surprisingly budget-friendly. Know your options before you go, though, and that includes taxes. As a resident of another country, you may need to pay taxes in both countries. Peddicord recommends hiring a top-notch attorney with experience in international tax issues.

Decide if you want to rent or buy a home, understand the monetary differences for both, and know that the real estate market in other countries is very different than what you're used to here. Check into the cost of utilities, and call your local cell phone provider to see what international coverage it offers. Research residency options, visas, and necessary paperwork. Sign up for international health care. Store your stuff. Pack. Go.

Before I started reading How to Retire Overseas, I was dreaming of white beaches and haciendas. One of the curious things about this book, though, is that it might talk you out of retiring abroad just as much as it might convince you.

Author Kathleen Peddicord, who lives abroad with her family, leaves only a few foreign stones unturned in this book, giving readers step-by-step pointers as well as insights to several travel-tested locales that are retiree-friendly. That's helpful, as are the challenges and pitfalls she honestly includes toward the back of this enticing book.

If you're done hitting the alarm clock and you're thinking of throwing a dart at a map instead, stop first and read this. How to Retire Overseas could lend a refreshingly different look at your future.

Musicians and spectators of all ages are invited to meet at the Lake House to share traditional folk, bluegrass, and other ""old-time" Appalachian music.

The jam sessions will be informal gatherings, where both new and experienced musicians are welcome to "chime in," or just listen.

Currently, sessions in addition to the May 7 get-together are scheduled for June 4 and June 18. Additional sessions will most likely be scheduled for July and August, a spokesperson said.

The event will be free of charge.

For more information, persons may contact Ranger Melissa McCormick at 301-895-5453, or by e-mail at mmccormick@dnr.state.md.us.

Writers' Guild To Meet On May 12

The Wednesday Writers' Guild will meet on May 12 at 7 p.m. in the Oakland Town Hall meeting room.

The group meets the second Wednesday of each month. Members critique each others' poems, short stories, and works-in-progress. New writers and members are always welcome.

Free Concert Set By YFC Group

A free concert event will be held at the Oakland Community Center (Armory) on Friday, May 7, beginning at 7 p.m. Donations will be accepted at the door.

The evening will include rap artist Lyrycist, Adam Cappa, and the Music Room.

"In a time when rap music has become predictable and stagnant, this young Midwest artist known as Lyrycyst stands as a breath of fresh air," a spokesperson said. "What began as a simple bet among classmates to see who could write the best rap song would eventually blossom into a full-time career for Steven Cooper."

Lyrycyst's first indie release was "Revolution."

The event is sponsored by Mtn. Top Youth for Christ.

"We hope that the night will bring the community together for some positive entertainment as well as raise awareness about the local chapter of YFC, which has been operating in the area for over 40 years," said David Winters, executive director.

For more information, persons may contact Winters at 240-321-4292 or mttopyfc@gmail.com.

Brenda's Body Shop Students To Present Revue

Students of Brenda's Body Shop, a dance, gymnastics, and sportaerobics company in Oakland, will present their annual dance revue, this year titled "My Favorite Things," on Friday, May 7,, at 7 p.m., and Saturday, May 8, at 4 p.m. at Meyersdale (Pa.) High School. This year marks the 30th recital for director Brenda Brosnihan.

"We are looking forward to celebrating another great show," she said. "The talents of our students and the love and support from family and friends makes our annual show the highlight of our year."

The recital will feature an array of costumes, sets, and a variety of music, the director said. The dance genres include the traditional tap, ballet, and jazz, as well as gymnastics, baton, and sportaerobics.

"This year's special features are a Bollywood dance, the Can Can, and an encore performance of the dance from Thriller," Brosnihan said. She noted that there will also be a celebration for seven seniors, who will each perform a solo dance.

The finale will introduce Brosnihan's next community project, the "Pink Glove Dance." All cast members and the audience will be wearing pink gloves in a show of support for breast cancer awareness. The Pink Glove Dance was inspired by a nurse at a hospital in Oregon, who created the dance phenomenon on YouTube.com.

The Pink Glove Campaign will begin this summer, Brosnihan said. Classes will be offered at her shop for persons to learn the Pink Glove Dance. Participants will then perform the dance at various community functions with the final mass dance planned during Autumn Glory.

The money from the Pink Glove sales will benefit Cindy's Fund and area wellness programs that promote early cancer detection and screenings.

Tickets for the recital are available at Brenda's Body Shop or maybe purchased at the door. For more information, persons may call the shop at 301-334-1275.

Spring Dance Concert Set At Frostburg State

The Department of Theatre and Dance at Frostburg State University will present its Spring Dance Concert on May 6, 7, and 8 at 7:30 p.m. in the Performing Arts Center's Drama Theatre. The performance will feature the sophisticated dance of guest artists Gina Milovan-Kohler and Jim Morrow, as well as an eclectic mix by FSU Dance Company members.

Using knowledge and exploration from classes and rehearsals, dance company members created original choreographies that will stimulate a multitude of emotions, according to a program spokesperson.

Sam Flowers and Brie Jordan will use tap dance to commemorate famous dancers throughout history. Kira Stanley studied bumble bees to create a hip-hop piece to music by the Black Eyed Peas. Another high-energy piece, by Jasmine Clark, will work closely with lighting and masks to present a technically demanding dance with unexpected movement and special effects.

In addition to six student choreographies, director Jamie McGreevy choreographed an all-female ensemble piece set to music from the Broadway production of The Lion King. This dance explores the use of personal strength to break through barriers and pressures in life, the spokesperson said.

The concert will feature a duet titled "Excerpts of Dream Factories" by New York guest artists Milovan-Kohler and Morrow. Both artists recently returned from Vienna, where they performed the full version of "Dream Factories," created by Milovan-Kohler.

Milovan-Kohler is an independent choreographer, teacher, and yoga instructor who has presented her work internationally and across the United States. She is a founding member and co-curator of the Progressive Arts Network in Brooklyn, N.Y., and the Fantasy Generator at Hollins University in Roanoke, Va. She is currently on the faculty at Dance New Amsterdam in New York and has taught as a guest at Kent State University and Duke University.

Morrow is the founder and artistic director of Instruments of Movement. He has performed for such artists as Anastasia, Kristine W., CeCe Peniston, the Baha Men, Crucial Conflict, Dee-Lite and DJs Rees Urban, Fast Eddie, Little Louie Vega, Josh Wink, and DJ Kotchy. His choreography can be seen in such Chicago-based companies as Momenta, Mordine and Co., Chicago Dance Crash, the Tyego Dance Project, and the Joel Hall Dancers.

Ticket prices for the Spring Dance Concert are $6 for students and $12 for the general public. For reservations and information, persons may telephone the Theatre and Dance box office at 301-687-7462, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., and 1:30 to 4 p.m.

While visiting Frostburg, Milovan-Kohler and Morrow will offer a series of master classes in Vinyasa yoga, hip hop, contemporary movement, and ballroom dance. For more information about these classes, persons may e-mail McGreevy at jsmcgreevy @frostburg.edu.

Dates Changed For SHS's Next Staged Play

Southern High School's production of A Midsummer Night's Dream, originally slated for this weekend, has been postponed as a result of the Environmental Protection Agency's ongoing mercury decontamination of the school. The play is rescheduled for May 20, 21, and 22 at 8 p.m. on the school stage, according to Erin White, theatre teacher.

"The cast is composed of nearly 40 advanced theatre students who have been rehearsing since February to bring Shakespeare's delightful comedy to life," White said. "The plot centers on two troubled couples who escape to the woods to sort out their conflicts, which are then only worsened by the spells of woodland fairies."

Students playing lead roles are Marshall Thayer, Hannah Burrell, Justin Weeks, Brittany Scott, Seth Lewis, Rebecca Reckart, and Brutus Scheffel.

White said this production is set in the 1930s and will feature zoot suits and gangsters. There will also be "dozens of fairies," White said, "making the Bard's work accessible and fun for the whole family."

The public is invited to attend.

Pair Of Homers Lift Southern Over Mtn. Ridge; Errors Cause Loss To Frankfort

Ryan Bennett collected a pair of home runs to lead the Southern High School varsity boys' baseball team in last Friday's victory over Mtn. Ridge. The Rams led through six innings and came out with a 6-2 victory over the Miners in Oakland. Southern ended its four-game winning streak last night when it let errors take over in the seventh and eight innings for an 8-6 loss to visiting Frankfort.

Bennett began the night with a three-run homer in the first inning to help the Rams take a 4-0 lead. The score remained 4-0 until the Miners scored four times in the top of the seventh inning. With one out in the bottom of the seventh and Nathan King on first after a walk, Bennett came through with his third hit, and second homer, of the evening and gave Southern its second straight walk-off win.

Bennett added a double to his two homers, while teammate Calvin Hilliard finished with a double and a single for the Rams' win.

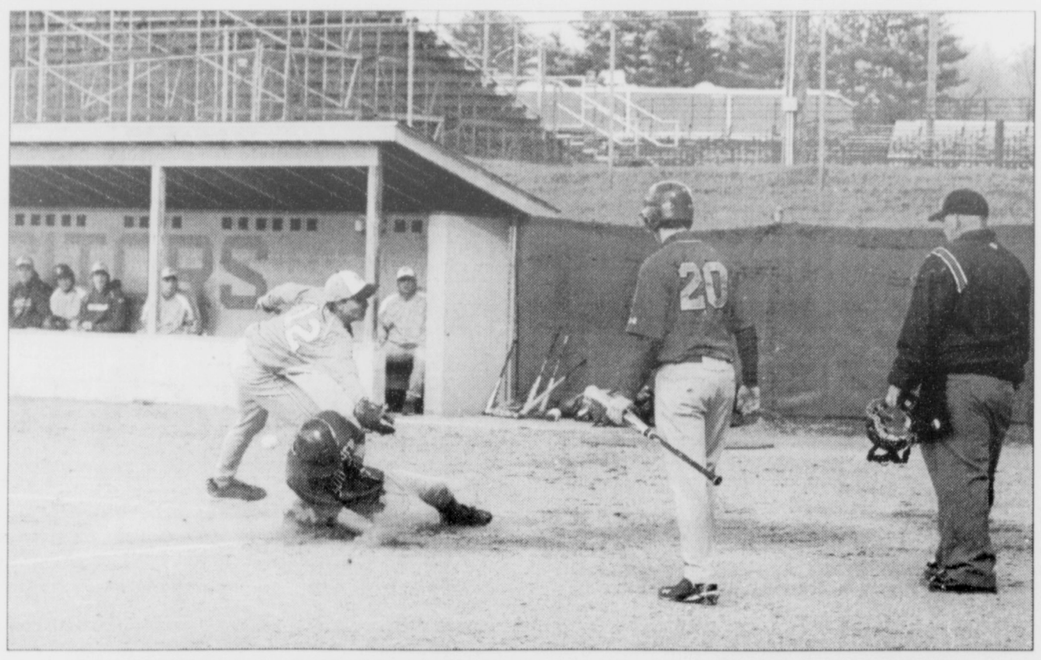
Southern got a solo home run in the sixth inning from Dylan Bennett in the junior varsity game, but it wasn't enough for a win as the Rams fell, 3-2, to the Mtn. Ridge jayvees. Danny Sislo added three singles for Southern, and pitcher Scott Bittinger allowed just three hits and struck out nine in the loss.

The Miners were led by Tyler Whitaker as he smacked a 3-run homer in the fourth inning. Joe Paterson added a double in the complete game win.

The Rams were ahead, 6-5, after six innings, but then the Falcons' Zach Neiberlien reached on an error with one out in the seventh and seventually scored the tying run on a sacrifice fly by James Jones.

In the eighth, Chris Twigg walked, Austin Cook singled, and Jeff Conley was hit by a pitch to load the bases for Frankfort. Two runs were then scored on another error on a grounder by Neiberlien. Twigg also added two singles and Ryan Bobo sent in a run to aid in the victory.



SLIDING INTO HOME is Calvin Hilliard (#34) of the Southern High School varsity boys' baseball team during the Rams' home game against Frankfort last night. Southern lost, 8-6, to the Falcons, but also picked up a 6-4 win over Mtn. Ridge last Friday. Hilliard slid in after the catcher had missed the ball. Frankfort's pitcher also missed the ball, allowing Hilliard to score. Jeremy Sharpless (#20) watches the action before he goes to bat. Below is Bubba Scheffel (#39) after he connected with the ball. BOARDER PLACES FOURTH AT NAT'L EVENT – Local snowboarder Colin P. Lynch (right) recently finished fourth overall in the USA Snowboarding National Championships at Copper Mountain in Colorado. The event is the largest snowboarding competition in the world. Lynch was one of only six young men across the country invited to compete in all five snowboarding events. While most snowboarders specialize in one or two events, Lynch competes in all: he finished 23rd in the Giant Slalom, 30th in Slalom, 38th in Boardercross, 41st in Half-pipe, and 41st in Slopestyle. During the competition, he also had the opportunity to meet one of his snowboard heroes, Danny Kass, who is pictured with Lynch. Kass is a 2006 Olympic silver medalist in snowboarding Half-pipe. Lynch's mother, Elyzabeth Savage, also raced in the master's division. She finished seventh in the Giant Slalom. "It was so much fun, but the best part was having Colin cheering for me from the finish line," she said. Lynch is a member of the Deep Creek Winter Sports Team and competes in the Appalachian region of USASA. He is sponsored locally by High Mtn. Sports, and his national sponsors are Nitro Snowboards and Bern Helmets. He is a freshman honors student at Southern High School, and is the grandson of Dr. William and Dr. Ruta Savage, Swanton, and John and Donna Lynch of Chesapeake Beach.

NHS Boys' Baseball Team Picks Up Three Wins, One Loss For 9-7 Record

The Northern High School varsity boys' baseball team began its week with a victory, and followed it up with two more wins and one loss to boost its record to 9-7 overall and 6-6 in the AMAC.

The Huskies handed Allegany a 7-5 loss last Thursday in Accident, and had a complete 6-3 win over host Salisbury on Friday. Northern dropped to visiting Mtn. Ridge on Tuesday, but then edged Hampshire last night, 6-5, on home field.

The Huskies broke open in the first inning with four runs and added two more in the bottom of the second with the help of Steven Holtschneider's first inning homer in last Thursday's game against Allegany. Two outs later, Jake Bosley followed with a three-run homer to get Northern ahead.

The Campers drew zero runs in the first two innings, but in the third managed to tack on two. Three runs came from Allegany in the fourth to get within one run of Northern, but the Huskies pulled out one final run in the fifth inning for the 7-5 win. The last two innings of play saw no runners cross home plate.

Bosley added a single later on, and teammates Corbyn Browne and Alex Smith both singled twice. Cody Rodeheaver hit a sacrifice fly in the fifth to boost the score to 7-5.

The Huskies' starter Dylan Miller went the distance with three strikeouts and three walks. Allegany's Drew O'Neal struck out six and did not allow a walk. Northern matched Allegany 8-8 in hits, but the Campers had three errors to the Huskies' one.

Cory McCagh led the Campers with his two singles, while Cameron Brown finished with a two-run single. Seth Thompson and Demetreous Taylor both hit RBI singles.

The Huskies scored most of their runs later in last Friday's game against Salisbury, where they trailed 2-1 through four innings. Northern recorded the opening run in the first inning, but the Elks came back with one run each in the second and third for the lead. Cody Humberson went the distance for the Huskies when he belted a home run in the fifth to put the score at 4-2. Northern tacked on two final runs in the seventh inning, while Salisbury collected one.

Three hits and three runs came from Northern's Rodeheaver. The Huskies' starter Holtschneider finished with two singles and scored two runs.

The Elks were led by Alex Beiler with his two doubles, while Matt McKenzie recorded two singles.

The Husky jayvees, who are now 9-1, stormed to a 10-7 defeat of the Elks' junior varsity. Josh Bittinger and Josh Mason each had two hits, while Jeremy Bender finished with two singles and two RBI. Alex Menges had two singles for Salisbury.

In Tuesday's game, which included a 10-run third inning by Mtn. Ridge, and a 5-run first and 7-run fifth by Northern, the teams combined for 22 hits. The Huskies led, 5-3, after two innings until the Miners broke open in the third with 10 runs. Northern cut the lead to 13-12 in the fifth inning with seven runs, but then Mtn. Ridge added three final runs in the sixth to seal the victory.

Andy Umbel had a pair of two-run singles for the Huskies, with one in the third and one in the fifth. Teammates Teddy Linton and Andrew Sisler each had two singles and an RBI, while Holtschneider collected an RBI single for Northern, who was out-hit 12-10.

Mtn. Ridge was led by Ryan Redinger's three singles. He also knocked in four runs, while Garrett Dickel hit a two-run home run in the second inning. Ben Russell hit a solo homer to lead off the sixth, and also had a 3-run double in the 10-run third. Jordan Montgomery doubled and singled twice, Adam Stowell hit a solo home run in the third, and Cody Hovatter hit a two-out solo shot in the first to aid in the win.

The Huskies fell 5-1 in the junior varsity contest. Patrick Sines doubled for Northern and Josh Mason tripled. Cody Malone doubled for the Miner jayvees, while Tyler Whitaker hit an RBI double.

In its final game of the week, Northern picked up three runs in the first two innings, with one in the first and two in the second. Hampshire got its first run in the second inning, but then didn't post another until the seventh inning when four runners got home. The Huskies recorded two runs in the fourth inning, and then scored the winning run in the bottom of the seventh. Northern collected 10 hits to Hampshire's 8.

Holtschneider slugged a solo home run, and also singled, for the Huskies to lead off the game. Umbel hit a double and sent in two runs with a single in the fourth inning. Linton contributed a double and had an RBI single in the second.

Justin Shaw had a double and scored in the seventh off a Sisler hit for the game-winning run. Sisler also singled, and relieved starter Dylan Miller in the seventh.

The Trojans were led by Brandon Bell with his two singles. Caleb Hill had an RBI double, while Corey Moreland hit a two-run single in the final inning. Teammate Phillip Mallick had two singles in the loss.

The Huskies also won the junior varsity game, 9-1, behind a three-hitter by Cody Rodeheaver, who aided his own cause with an RBI double and two singles. Patrick Sines added a double and a single, Kyle Rosenberger ripped a two-run single, and Ryan McCann and Aaron Broadwater had doubles in the victory. The Northern jayvees are now 10-2.

Northern is scheduled to host Bishop Walsh on Saturday and Fort Hill on Tuesday, with game times at 11 p.m. and 4:30 p.m., respectively.

Huskies Blank Bishop Walsh, 10-0, But Drop, 3-0, To Fort Hill; Now 4-9

In its strongest win of the season thus far, the Northern High School varsity girls' softball team completely dominated Bishop Walsh last Thursday at home by blanking the Spartans, 10-0, with the aid of Kaitlynn Fratz's and Miranda Beasom's home runs. The victory was short lived, however, as the Huskies were blanked 3-0 by Fort Hill on Tuesday in Cumberland. The Huskies faced Salisbury last Friday in Accident, but results were not received.

The Huskies opened the game with a 4-run first inning, and led 9-0 after four innings. Beasom hit a three-run homer in the third inning and Fratz hit a solo home run in the fourth to lead Northern. One final run was scored in the bottom of the fifth for the win.

Beasom also doubled for the Huskies, and Fratz singled. Starter Taryn Brenneman worked the first four innings and struck out seven. She and Tabi Beasom, who came on in the fifth, combined to allow just two hits from Bishop Walsh, which were singles from Catie Taylor and Sophie Bambacus.

The Sentinels controlled the game on Tuesday from the first inning, and were led by pitcher Cierra Miller, who struck out 13 and walked just one. Fort Hill got one run in the first, second, and fifth innings for the win.

Fratz was the only Northern player to get a hit, a single, in the fourth inning.

Destiny James doubled and singled for the Sentinels, while Mariah James doubled and Kathryn Huber singled to make up Fort Hill's four hits.

The Huskies' junior varsity team had a better time at it with a complete 8-5 win over the Sentinel jayvees. Northern got off 13 hits, and pitcher Ashley Brenneman struck out six, walked three, and only allowed three hits. Fort Hill pitcher Gilnesse struck out four.

Kirsten Rayner led the Huskies with her double and two singles, and teammates Kayla Porter and Tori Devine both had a double and one single apiece.

The Sentinels' Huber recorded a triple in the loss.

The Huskies, now 4-9 overall and 3-7 in the AMAC, are scheduled to face off with Southern on Monday in Oakland, and will then travel to Bishop Walsh on Wednesday.

Lakers Eke Out Just One Win Over Dundalk In Four Games

The Garrett College baseball team was able to eke out only one victory in four games played this past week. The Lakers were edged 11-9 by visiting Hagerstown on Friday in a Maryland JUCO clash, split a conference doubleheader with host Dundalk Saturday, losing the first game, 16-6, and taking the second, 5-3. Then yesterday, Coach Eric Hallenbeck's squad was topped by Potomac State College, 13-7, also in McHenry.

The results left the Lakers with an overall record of 17-19 and a JUCO mark of 12-12.

The Lakers had the Hawks of Hagerstown on the ropes with a 9-8 lead in the top of the ninth with two outs and no one on base for the visitors. But the Hawks rallied for three runs for the victory, two of which were recorded via a two-run homer by Travis Sluger.

There was no shortage of hits for either team, with the Hawks recording 18 and the Lakers getting 16.

Garrett trailed 5-0 in the first inning, cut the lead to 5-4 by the end of the fourth, and took a brief, 9-8 advantage with a run in the bottom of the eighth off a sacrifice fly by Brett Martin.

Martin also had a three-run homer and a single for the Lakers, while Teammates Ryan Krumlauf and Dan Warnick each rapped three singles. Chris Kelley finished with two singles.

Sluger went 5-for-5 for the Hawks, smacking a double and three singles along with his ninth-inning round-tripper. Neal Callahan added a two-run homer, and John Barrett provided a solo shot.

In Saturday's first game against Dundalk, the Lakers jumped out to a 5-0 lead in the first two innings, only to let the Lions rally for eight runs in the bottom of the fourth to take the lead for good. They scored four more runs in both the fifth and sixth frames to get the 10-run victory.

The Lions' big fourth inning featured a two-run homer by Robert Jennings, who also had a double. Kylin Sims hit a solo homer in the fifth, and also had two other RBI.

Krumlauf went 3-for-3 in the Lakers' 10-hit performance, getting a triple and two singles, while Warnick hit a double and a single, and Jake Briley provided a two-run double.

The second game was knotted at 3-3 going into the top of the sixth, which is when the Lakers added a pair of runs. The game was then called because of darkness.

King hit two doubles and Krumlauf had two singles for Garrett, and Peter Garcia earned the win on the mound.

The Lakers spotted the Catamounts of Potomac State eight runs in the first three innings yesterday before finally getting on the

As with all RGS fundraisers, proceeds from this event will be used to restore and protect area grouse and woodcock habitat, according to Calhoun.

Established in 1961, the Ruffed Grouse Society is an international wildlife conservation organization dedicated to promoting conditions suitable for ruffed grouse, American woodcock, and related wildlife to sustain sport hunting traditions and outdoor heritage, Calhoun said.

Information on the RGS, its mission, management projects and membership can be found on the web at: www.ruffedgrousesociety.org.

7th Annual Golf Tournament Set For County YFC

Mtn. Top Youth for Christ will hold its 7th annual golf tournament at the Oakland Golf Club on Saturday, May 15. Registration begins at 12:30 p.m., and a putting contest will be held before the 2 p.m. shotgun-style start.

"This is Mtn. Top's biggest fundraiser of the year, which helps offset the cost of running the chapter," said David Winters, executive director of the group. "The most challenging part of any sporting event outdoors is the weather. Last year, Mtn. Top drew about 80 players out on a very windy day with a few sprinkles. But despite the 40 mph winds, everyone had a great time and was able to complete 18 holes."

This year, the group plans to give away several prizes, including rounds of golf at area courses for winning teams, pro shop certificates, and various gift cards and certificates donated by local businesses.

There are currently open spots for teams of four to play in the tournament. The cost is $280 per team, and will include 18 holes, cart rental, and a buffet dinner after the tournament.

Tee and hole sponsorships are also available to those wishing to promote their business, church, or upcoming event. Costs range from $75 to $250 and

Husky Tennis Teams Swept By Bishop Walsh; Win One, Lose One To Rams

The Northern High School girls' and boys' tennis teams fell in one match and then split another this past week, beginning with the girls being edged 4-3 by Bishop Walsh, while the boys' team was swept 6-1 by the Spartans. The Huskies faced Southern on Tuesday, with the boys falling 6-1 to the Rams, but the girls claimed a 6-1 victory over Southern.

Cara Stough took the first singles match for Northern by defeating Paula Nolan, 8-2. Teammate Chelsie Custer won the No. 2 match, 8-6, over Amanda Clay, and Ashley Miller recorded an 8-5 victory over Abby Benjamin in the No. 4 singles match. Bishop Walsh won both doubles matches.

In the boys' match, the single win for the Huskies came from the doubles team of Austin Doerr/Dan Beitzel as they collected an 8-3 win over Bishop Walsh's Zach Wolodkin/John Thompson.

Doerr took the only win for the Huskies on Tuesday in the boys' singles matches with an 8-5 defeat of Southern's Cory Murphy.

The Northern girls' team was led by Stough and her 8-1 win over Southern's Paige Carr. The next four singles matches and the first doubles match was also won by the Huskies. Custer defeated Caitlin Simpson, 8-1; Morgan Brosnihan defeated Patty Sherrard, 8-1; Miller defeated Chloe Anderson, 8-0; and Jordyn Milton defeated Sara King, 8-3. In the doubles match, Stough/Custer took home an 8-1 sweep of Carr/Simpson.

Northern is scheduled to host Southern on Tuesday, which will wrap up its regular season matches.

Mtn. Top YFC is also looking for more businesses to donate gift cards or merchandise. Currently, a variety of donated items include haircuts, auto detailing, and food and hardware store gift cards.

Persons should try to have information to Mtn. Top YFC for teams and sponsorships by Monday, May 10. However, if space is still available, persons may register on the day of the tournament as well.

For more information, persons may contact Winters at 240-321-4292 or mttopyfc@gmail.com.

"Mtn. Top YFC was organized over 40 years ago on July 26, 1967, by 14 citizens of Garrett County who were concerned to the point of action about the spiritual welfare of local young people," Winters said. "Since that time, the board of directors, staff, and volunteers have maintained that same heartfelt concern by providing for the ongoing activities of YFC in our area."

Currently, the group meets each Monday at the Oakland Community Center from 7 to 9 p.m., with an average of 25 to 30 young people attending. The event is open to youth in grades 6 through 12.

"We are a non-denominational group that would love to see your teen come down and have fun and meet new people," Winters said.

STUDENTS PARTICIPATE IN MIGHTY MILERS – Bloomington School students have been participating in the Mighty Milers program, which is funded by the New York Road Runners Foundation (NYRRF). The program encourages a healthy lifestyle in children by helping them to develop good fitness habits early in life, set and strive for goals, and release energy constructively during school hours. Students and teachers walk several miles per week, with each class striving to walk at least 26.2 miles (equal to a marathon) by the end of the school year. The school was recently awarded a $1,000 grant by the NYRRF, and the money will be spent on construction of a walking trail for students on the school grounds. In the front row, from left, are Nathan Tichnell, Morgan Tichnell, Ari Cheshire, Kadin Guy, and Cody Lee. Back row: Jonas Shaffer, Jace Guy, Nea Orem, and Liberty Cheshire.

Earth Day Celebrated At GC

by Melissa Parker

Garrett College celebrated Earth Day in a big way last week. The college's Green Education Awareness Committee planned a host of events for students, staff and faculty, and community members to celebrate Earth Day, "a time to help care for the planet by remembering to 'reduce, reuse, and recycle.'"

"Earth Day is celebrated on April 22 every year," said Dana Shimrock, chair of the Green Committee. "This year our educational program promoted the theme of 'reduce, reuse, recycle.' Earth Day is a reminder to practice these things to help take care of the planet. If we all do our part, we can make a difference. It is our hope that the message of Earth Day carries over to every day."

The Earth Day celebration kicked off on April 21 with Swap Day, giving students and employers an opportunity to "swap" their unwanted items for other people's unwanted items, such as clothes, books, music, recreation gear, and more. The items were free, and participants could take items even if they didn't bring in items to swap. Leftover swap items were donated to a local community agency.

For the Earth Day celebration on April 22, students, employees, and community members participated in a number of activities throughout the day, including a chalk art contest, an event sponsored by the residence halls in which participants designed Earth Day messages on sidewalks using chalk. Prizes were given to the best designs.

AmeriCorps also sponsored a campus cleanup, as participants picked up trash around the campus.

The Green Committee encouraged the entire campus to take part in a "blackout," with students and employees turning off lights that are not essential, shutting off electronic devices not being used, and walking, instead of driving, across the campus.

Earth Day displays and recycled art sculpture designs were exhibited throughout the day. In fact, the college held a recycled art sculpture contest in which different groups on campus participated.

The committee also organized an Earth Day program, in which poems and speeches were read and free trees were given away for planting. The Earth Day celebration came to a close with a tree-planting ceremony near the campus gazebo.

Garrett's Earth Day celebration was a perfect example of how a little "green" effort can go a long way in making the Earth a better place. This was thanks largely to the planning efforts of the Green Committee, which consists of GC staff, faculty, and students. However, according to Shimrock, it was the combined efforts of a large number of people that made the Earth Day celebration at Garrett possible, and the event could not have taken place without the support and contributions of all involved.

Those among the Garrett College community who Shimrock said deserved special recognition for making the day possible include Sue Fowler and Rachelle Davis, who planned the swap; Jeff Reitz, who donated the ornamental pagoda dogwood tree for the tree-planting ceremony; Judy Carbone, who created a "Green Careers" display; Ann Wellham and Scott Stallings, who designed this year's Earth Day T-shirts; the residence halls, which sponsored the chalk art contest and provided prizes; and Jack DuBose, Rebecca DiLiddo, and Jeremy Layman, who presented readings for the Earth Day program.

In addition, a number of groups on campus created displays and recycled art for the celebration. The Natural Resources and Wildlife Technology program's Wildlife Club members created a display of their natural resources projects to aid in the protection of the environment, and contributed a sculpture of a medieval scene from trash they found around the Center for Adventure and Outdoor Sports (CAOS) building. Their display won Best of Show in the recycled art sculpture contest.

The library created a "green" display with books related to "Going Green" and sponsored the recycled art sculpture contest, for which prizes were provided.

Beth Luer's human society class contributed a sculpture for the contest, a chandelier made of used water bottles that will be on permanent display at the Garrett County Solid Waste and Recycling Division Office. The class also sponsored an activity of creations made by re-using old cotton t-shirts to make jewelry, headbands, etc.

Ron Skidmore's art sculpture class was assigned to do a sculpture of recycled materials so his students could participate in the contest.

Those in the Garrett County community who helped make Earth Day possible include Lillian Steele of the Chamber of Commerce, who demonstrated recycling toner cartridges; Shannon Philbin, who had a display representing the work of the Savage River Watershed Association; Loretta Purnell of Stitch in Time, who displayed her bags made from plastic grocery and shopping bags; Linda Harris, who displayed her hand-created market bags to be used in place of plastic bags at the grocery store; Kim Madigan of the Garrett Solid Waste and Recycling Division, who had a recycling display and provided prizes for the recycled art sculpture contest; Barbara Beeler, who had a display representing the work of the Friends of Deep Creek Lake; Carolyn DuBose, a local artist, who displayed gift items made from recycled materials; and the Maryland Department of Natural Resources, Garrett County Division, which donated the white spruce trees for the tree giveaway.

For additional information about Earth Day or "green" efforts at Garrett College, persons may contact Dana Shimrock at 301-387-3003 or dana.shimrock@garrettcollege.edu.

New President

"We expect that President MacLennan will continue and expand his community activities in Garrett County," said trustee Duane Yoder, who chaired the presidential search advisory committee of college and community representatives. "The selection process has been highly inclusive, and we envision a seamless transition to new leadership."

MacLennan follows Dr. Jeanne Neff, who has served as interim president of Garrett College since May 2009. Neff has led Garrett successfully through the final stages of its reaccreditation by the Middle States Commission on Higher Education, including the development of a new, comprehensive strategic plan. She has also overseen the design and approval processes for a new Community Athletics and Recreation Center (CARC), which had its formal groundbreaking last week.

MacLennan and his wife Theresa have two daughters and two sons. The youngest son and daughter, both high school students, will be moving with them to Garrett County.

Synod of the ELCA will be held the first weekend in June in Wheeling, W.Va. Attending as voting delegates from Bittinger Lutheran Parish will be Lynn and Carol Newman and Tom and Nickey O'Brien. In addition to Pastor Randy Richardson, others attending from the Bittinger area will be Cindy Richardson and Marvin Beckman.

The sewing and prayer shawl ministry group continues to meet at Emmanuel each Tuesday morning. The group is presently making comforters for Lutheran World Relief and other local relief agencies. Anyone interested in donating supplies for these projects may contact Ruth Beckman.

STUDENTS CELEBRATE EARTH DAY – Fourth grade students at Grantsville Elementary School recently celebrated Earth Day by completing several activities with park ranger Melissa McCormick at New Germany State Park. Pictured above are Charity Moser, Ali Bragg, Kayla Guthrie, and Ty Kinzey as they work on diversity awareness by observing how many species were in a particular square.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

I can't believe my eyes... my lawn has green grass growing. It is good to see many gold and purple finches. And my one bed of daffodils is in full bloom. This fairly hard rain is a real drag. But I guess it's like the old saying, "April showers bring May flowers."

There is a small possibility that we may have some violets in the woods. Maybe it's still a little early.

Rodney Glotfelty went to Towson University to see his son Elliot pick up an award for being an outstanding chemical student, while his brother Darryl was elected student body treasurer! That's not a job I would enjoy.

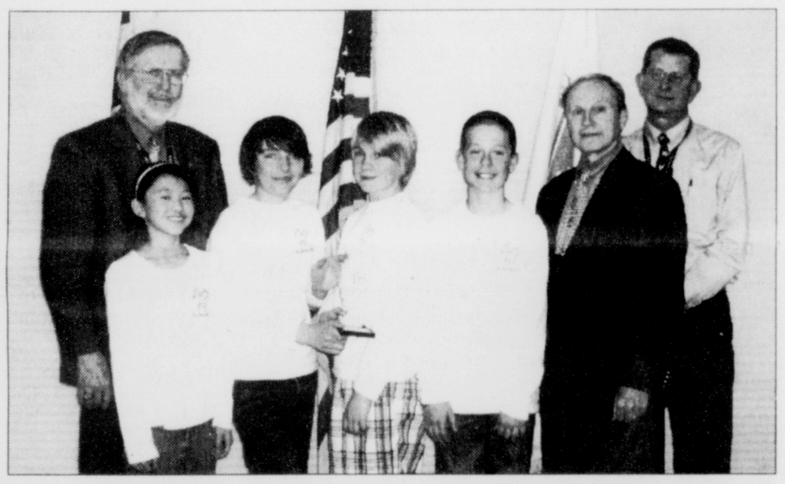
Carol Bass accompanied Lesa Whittemore on a trip to allow Lesa's daughter Maddy to look at Towson and the University of Maryland.

Cherry Glade Mennonite Church will hold a Ladies' Garden Tea Party next Thursday, May 6, at 6 p.m. All women are invited. They should bring their own tea cup. Just to be clear, it's a social event, not a political tea party.

The tea will feature appealing appetizers, scrumptious soups, and delectable desserts, as well as diabetic choices. And there will be live music. It is a fundraising event for the Cherry Glade Building Fund. Donations will be accepted. Guests should use the main entrance in the back parking lot.

Who was at the top of the list of most respected world leaders? (I can't imagine how they could do an international survey, but I guess it's possible.) Our president, Barack Obama. Second was the Dalai Lama, a major hero of Asian nations. In third place was our secretary of state, Hillary Rodham Clinton.

It appears that moral example at last beat out military power. But there was no sign on the list of the Chinese head of state or any Islam leaders. That should be good news for the American people, except those who see any Obama success as a threat to future success.



FIERY SNOWBRICKS RECOGNIZED AT BOE MEETING – The Northern Middle School FLL (FIRST LEGO League) team the Fiery Snowbricks were recognized at the April Board of Education meeting for their January earning of Champions Award at the state competition. The team's project was titled "Smart Move" and focused on how to improve the crosswalk at Trader's Landing to make it safer for pedestrians crossing. The team is judged on their performance, the research and presentation of the project, teamwork, and a technical interview, for which parents, coaches, and mentors may not be present. Garrett County instructional technology coordinator and the team coach Chuck Trautwein gave a brief PowerPoint presentation on the FLL program and spoke of the dedication and hard work that the team put into this year's project. "We couldn't do it without the parents," he also commented. "They go above and beyond to give these kids the opportunity to be successful." Pictured in the front, from left, are Alex Miller, Clark Morin, Saylor Wampler, Zach Voekel, and Dr. Wendell Teets, school superintendent. Back row: BOE president Dr. Donald Forrester and Trautwein.

MAYOR AND TOWN COUNCIL OF OAKLAND NOTICE OF A PROPOSED REAL PROPERTY TAX INCREASE

The Mayor and Town Council of the Town of Oakland, Maryland proposes to increase real property taxes.

1. For the tax year beginning July 1, 2010, the estimated real property assessable base will increase by 8.9%, from $146,177,818 to $159,222,951.
2. If the Mayor and Town Council of Oakland maintains the current tax rate of $.472 per $100 of assessment, real property tax revenues will increase by 8.9% resulting in $61,573 of new real property tax revenues.
3. In order to fully offset the effect of increasing assessments, the real property tax rate should be reduced to $.4333, the constant yield tax rate.
4. The Town of Oakland is considering not reducing its real property tax rate enough to fully offset increasing assessments. The Town of Oakland proposes to adopt a real property tax rate of $.472 per $100 of assessment. This tax rate is 8.9% higher than the constant yield tax rate and will generate $61,573 in additional property tax revenues.

A public hearing on the proposed real property tax rate increase will be held at 6:00 PM on May 18, 2010, at Oakland City Hall Council Chambers.

The hearing is open to the public, and public testimony is encouraged.

Persons with questions regarding this hearing may call Oakland City Hall at 301-334-2691 for further information.

I feel much better about the people of the world respecting America and its value than being feared and hated by many people and nations. Which one makes us safer?

Thank goodness I turned off the Pirates game in time to not miss the memorial service for the dead miners. And I was in time for the speech of Vice President Joe Biden, which dealt with the human beings, the one who loved hunting, four-wheeling, and hated that the WVU football coach left West Virginia for Michigan.

He ended it by saying, "God bless all miners who every day risk their lives to provide for their family and a needed energy source."

Next was President Obama. The first thing he did was name each of the dead miners. I think that would mean lots to the bereaved families. He spoke about how they assumed the burden of dangerous work to create better lives for their children.

He said he got hundreds of phone messages from miners' families, "Don't let this happen again." And he said, "I know there is nothing I or any speaker can say to fill the holes in your lives. All you can do is look toward God's face and pray together and lean on each other."

Intermingling with all the speakers was the haunting sound of old-time bluegrass songs. I am sure all the families of lost miners got much comfort from this very deeply respectful and moving ceremony.

Then they prayed the "Miner's Prayer," and someone sang "This Little Light of Mine" while they turned on the lights on 29 mining helmets across the stage. The helmets were placed on a cross by the miners' family members. It was a perfectly planned and well-executed wonderful tribute for workers who most times don't get much respect from most Americans, nor does their state.

They are very proud of their state university, which to many is a hope for better days in the future of many of West Virginia's young people and their families, the whole state, and even the nation.

"Keep a light on for us," at least until we can change to green energy. The president didn't rush out of the auditorium. Instead, he reached out his hand to many people. There were no hateful shouts at him. They believed his promise to do everything in his power to not allow another similar tragedy.

Add that to the never-ending growing list of must-do-soon tasks, like Wall Street reform, consumer pro-tection, immigration reform, energy reform, reducing the threat of nuclear weapons worldwide, reviving our economy, including helping to create millions of new jobs, and creating more opportunity for the African-American community. And continuing the fight for "liberty and justice for all" Americans, improving education, and helping the multi-millions of struggling people across the globe.

Who do you think proclaimed that they will break the Arizona law to force police to demand documents from anyone who they think might be an illegal immigrant? Or make it a crime to aid or help any illegal immigrants? It is the Catholic clergy and other clergy. They see the law as giving them a choice of either breaking a state law or the most important law of the Christian religion, to give aid to any needy person.

Arizona showed its true colors as a basically racist state when it refused to recognize Martin Luther King Day as a holiday. This law came from the same place.

But a state senator from Arizona said that Arizona used to have a horribly high rate of crime. And then he said it's gone down since they got a handle on illegal immigrants. But on the other hand, they are saying that the illegal immigrants are out of control. Which is it? Out of control or under control?

It is very clear that it will target people who look like they may be from Mexico.

I can understand that Arizona is reluctant to admit that it passed an illegal law; a law that institutes racial profiling is against federal law.

And Georgia joined with Arizona demanding to see our president's documents. They still believe he was not born in Hawaii. They seem very suspicious about that state issuing a "record of live birth" rather than a birth certificate. At least I think that's what the problem is.

There have been two major disasters in the Deep South. The first was the explosion and fire that sank a big off-shore drilling rig. It is leaking thousands of barrels of oil into the Gulf of Mexico. That is very bad for the Gulf of Mexico, threatening the lives of sea creatures like shrimp. Now it is likely to come on shore along the coast of Texas, Mississippi, Louisiana, and even Florida.

Then there was the rash of monster tornados that hit the south, killing at least 12 and probably more, and destroying whole towns and thousands of homes. Those states will inevitably see that they need federal assistance from the Federal Emergency Management Agency, the Environmental Protection Agency, and the Federal Housing Administration.

Maybe Dixieland realizes how foolish it was to condemn a large national government, and probably the Army Corps of Engineers. The only reason the federal government got so large was so it could cope with the many various challenges America faced during the 20th century. It is not to take freedoms from Americans. But sometimes that is part of its essential job, like making it illegal to irresponsibly release pollutants into our air and water.

It seems almost hopeless to get energy reform, but if we don't, we will destroy planet Earth.

For those who don't pay attention to the news, there are several very positive stories about our economy: Caterpillar is showing profit, and Ford is, too. And one-third of America's companies plan to add jobs this year.

Altar flowers at Emmanuel Lutheran Church this week will be given by Bob and Margie Brenneman in memory of Ruth C. Hetrick.

Several members of St. John's of Meadow Mountain and Emmanuel Lutheran churches met Sunday afternoon at Uno's Restaurant for the annual parish retreat. There was much discussion about goals and objectives of the parish. Members discussed areas of ministry currently in place, as well as new areas within the parish that could be implemented.

ALLEGHENY CO. LEARNS FROM FTC TEAMS – The local G-FORCE FIRST Tech Challenge (FTC) robotics team recently worked with their mentors and 4-H educator Ann Sherrard to share their robotic skills with others from across the state. Educators and 4-H volunteer adult and teen leaders traveled to Garrett County to spend their Saturday to learn how to take the 4-H robotic fun and excitement back to their counties. The team is working with the Maryland State 4-H leaders and National 4-H Council to develop and pilot a 4-H Robotic Club program to train leaders across the country. Each of the six counties that attended left with six LEGO WeDo's sets and software ready to go back and start building a robotics program. The GEARS Center in Accident hosted the event, and parents provided lunch for the group. The team members also extended thanks to their mentors for their time and dedication, and to Lockheed Martin, who is providing funding for this National 4-H Robotic Club pilot program. Above left is Zach Frick, a member of the G-FORCE team serving as an advisor to group members from Allegany County. Pictured with him are Moss, Paula, Robin, and Max Summerfield, who will be assisting with the new 4-H robotics initiative in Allegany County.

BIKE SAFETY PROGRAM HELD AT BLOOMINGTON – Bloomington School recently hosted a bike safety program funded by the Garrett County Health Department and presented by Kathy Elliott. AURORA CEOS

The Aurora Community Education and Outreach Service (CEOS) recently held its monthly meeting at the home of Opal Myers. The importance of Hospice care for those in Preston County was brought to the forefront by representative Kim Riley. Hospice of Preston County is the only non-profit hospice organization in the area. This organization serves not only Preston County, but also the surrounding areas without charge. There is currently one inpatient unit in Elkins, and there will soon be another in Reedsville under the auspices of Hospice Care With a Heart.

There were eight members and one guest in attendance for the 1 p.m. meeting. Martha Bolyard led devotions using Ephesians 4: 7–12 and a story from Guidepost.

"My Walk Across West Virginia" was the subject for discussion, and Wilda Harsh asked the group to use imagination for this walk. She noted that members should be walking at least three times weekly.

The Preston County Achievement Day was successful for the Aurora club. Mary Jane Hanline, who is observing her 90th birthday today, April 29, was named as the Preston County CEOS member to be honored. The club scrapbook was a gold ribbon winner, and the club project was awarded a blue ribbon. Opal Myers was recognized for giving 500 volunteer hours to the community, and Dee Douglas was recognized for the 1,000 hours she has logged.

The club will be assisting the Aurora Area Historical Society m sponsoring a yard sale June 4 and 5 at Union Ambulance Hall, Aurora. All proceeds will go to the Relay for Life. They will also be helping with the setup of the May 6 Area CEOS meeting to be held at Clarksburg, which four members are planning on attending.

The health motivator idea for the month is "Walk Away Pain." It helps to control the pain of arthritis by walking and mild exercise.

The vice president's special for the day was presented by Ressie Conrad, who talked about Earth Day and how many household cleaners and medications can be made from common household ingredients, such as white vinegar, baking soda, boric acid, lemon juice, etc. Dee Douglas led a quiz on spring flowers.

The May 18 meeting will be held at 1 p.m. and hosted by Dee Douglas, who will also lead the lesson. Ressie Conrad is responsible for devotions.

AURORA/EGLON

A catered dinner was recently held at St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Aurora, in celebration of the Dec. 26 50th wedding anniversary for James "Bud" and Dottie Winters, Stemple Ridge. Their children, siblings, and extended family were in attendance, along with friends and neighbors. They were staying in Florida at the time of the actual anniversary date and was the celebration was postponed until now.

Wilma Mae Teets was recently honored by a family dinner and open house at Maple Spring Church of the Brethren in celebration of her 90th birthday. Her children and grandchildren planned the occasion, and prior to that day, she had received a large number of cards.

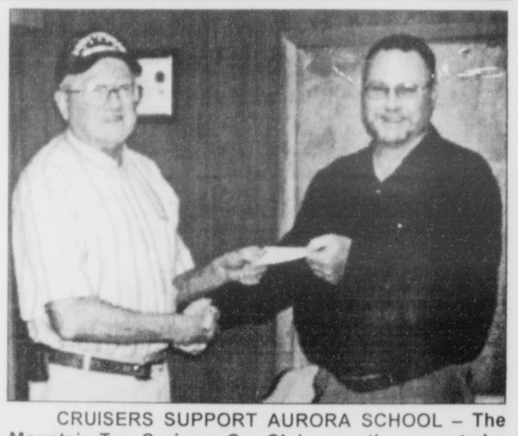
Kim Moats graduates May 6 from Westmoreland Community College with an associates applied science degree in nursing. She is the daughter of Danny and Kathy Moats, Eglon.

Aurora School Holds Family Reading Night

Aurora Elementary School and Title 1 Program personnel recently hosted Family Reading Night. The event included opening remarks by principal Brad Martin, who introduced such guests as Preston County superintendent of schools Dr. Larry Parsons, Preston County elementary curriculum and Title 1 director Dr. Teddi Cox; and Terra Alta librarian Ima Thomas.

Highlights of the evening included a used book swap, reading games with a book walk, information about reading web sites and resources, student sign-ups for summer reading programs and Terra Alta Library cards, and a presentation by Principal Martin on the Lexile Framework for Reading web site.

Light refreshments were provided.



CRUISERS SUPPORT AURORA SCHOOL – The Mountain Top Cruisers Car Club recently presented a donation of $1,000 to the Aurora Elementary School. Each year the club selects several organizations, schools, and other groups to support. The money is generated by the club's Autumn Glory Festival Car Show, held every year during the celebration in downtown Oakland. The funds will be used to purchase supplies for the music, art, and physical education classes. Pictured are Mike Dixon, right, a teacher at the school, as he accepts the check from Ed Deal, president of the car club. Deal said the club wishes the children and teachers "a bright and prosperous future."

On behalf of the school, Martin expressed his appreciation to Title 1 teacher Ashley Grose and Title 1 parent coordinator Jackie Blamble for coordinating Family Reading Night; staff members Debra Mayfield, Krista Hayes, Diana Hayes, and Mike Dixon for their assistance with hosting the event; and Parsons, Cox, Thomas, and all students and parents who attended this "fun and informational evening."

Crellin Youth Grp. Fares Well At Arts Festival

Crellin Connection, the youth group from Crellin Assembly of God, recently traveled to Lutherville to participate in the Potomac District Fine Arts Festival. The festival is a ministry sponsored nationally by the Assemblies of God to help students discover, develop, and deploy their ministry gifts, a spokesperson said.

This year's theme for the Fine Arts Festival was "This Changes Everything." Ten students from Crellin Connection Youth Group participated in the categories of Human Video Ensemble, Worship Dance, Large Drama Ensemble, and Individual Digital Photography. Five "superior" ratings were earned by several of the students.

Expressions, the group participating in the Human Video Ensemble, was made up of youth group members Daniel Adams, Cody Alexander, Nicole Alexander, Lexi Botterbusch, Brittney Hostutler, Ryan Kroll, Timothy Schmidt, Austin Sisler, Brooke Sisler, and Brandon Spink.

Higher Calling, the group participating in the Worship Dance Category, included members Nicole Alexander, McKenna Bolyard, Lexi Botterbusch, Sami Botterbusch, Brittney Hostutler, and Brooke Sisler.

Expressions and Higher Calling are co-coached by Alayna Grove and Stephanie Sisler, both members of Crellin Assembly of God. Stephanie is the parent of Austin and Brooke Sisler.

Motion, the group participating in the Large Drama Ensemble, involved Daniel Adams, Nicole Alexander, Lexi Botterbusch, Brittney Hostutler, and Brooke Sisler.

Motion is coached by Jennifer Alexander, member of Crellin Assembly and parent of Cody and Nicole Alexander.

Expressions, Higher Calling, and Motion all received Superior ratings.

Nicole Alexander and Brandon Spink were the two individuals who participated in the Individual Digital Photography category. Both received the highest rating of Superior, along with an invitation to the National Fine Arts Festival in Michigan.

The students from Crellin Connection expressed gratitude to their church family for the support that made this experience possible. They also wished to thank all those who supported their recent fundraisers for the trip.

Hearing Slated

meeting on the initial drafts on Oct. 14, 2009, and subsequently prepared new Revised Draft Ordinances that incorporated major changes into the September draft.

On March 6, the Planning Commission conducted a public hearing on the revised ordinances. Based upon citizen comments submitted at the public hearing or in writing subsequent to the public hearing, the Planning Commission made further minor adjustments to the Draft Ordinances.

With the acceptance of these final adjustments, the Planning Commission has now recommended adoption of all three Revised Draft Ordinances. The following represents a summary of the most significant policy changes to these ordinances as recommended by the Planning Commission:

Deep Creek Watershed Zoning Ordinance

1. New zoning districts are proposed: Agricultural Resource (AR), Rural Resource (RR), and Lake Residential–2 (LR-2) are new districts intended to preserve rural character and conserve natural resources by limiting residential development to a relatively low average density.

New standards for subdivisions in the AR and RR districts are proposed using either a cluster or non-cluster option with incentives to promote cluster subdivision. The Rural Development (RD) district is proposed to be eliminated.

2. A Scenic Protection Overlay District is proposed for those areas identified as "crestlines" on the proposed zoning map. This provision is intended to preserve the scenic views of the ridge tops and crest lines surrounding Deep Creek Lake. Requirements for retaining and planting trees on the sides and rear of structures when viewed from the lake and shoreline are proposed.

3. Architectural standards for non-residential structures in the Town Center (TC), Town Residential (TR), and General Commercial (GC) zoning districts for metal buildings are proposed.

4. Provisions, including setbacks, for domestic, agricultural, and industrial wind energy devices are proposed.

5. New setbacks for drilling for natural gas are proposed.

6. New provisions for nonconforming structures and grandfathered non-conforming lots are proposed.

Garrett County Subdivision Ordinance

1. The AR and RR land classifications are proposed to be expanded, and new standards for subdivisions in these areas are proposed using either a cluster or noncluster option with incentives to promote cluster subdivision.

2. A provision that would allow the Planning Commission to require a traffic impact study for major subdivisions is proposed.

3. A provision to retain trees and other vegetative cover for new subdivisions abutting scenic byways is proposed.

4. Provisions to delineate the boundaries of any wetlands or Source Water Protection Areas on subdivision plans are proposed.

Garrett County Sensitive Areas Ordinance

1. Provisions to protect Source Water Protection Areas are proposed.

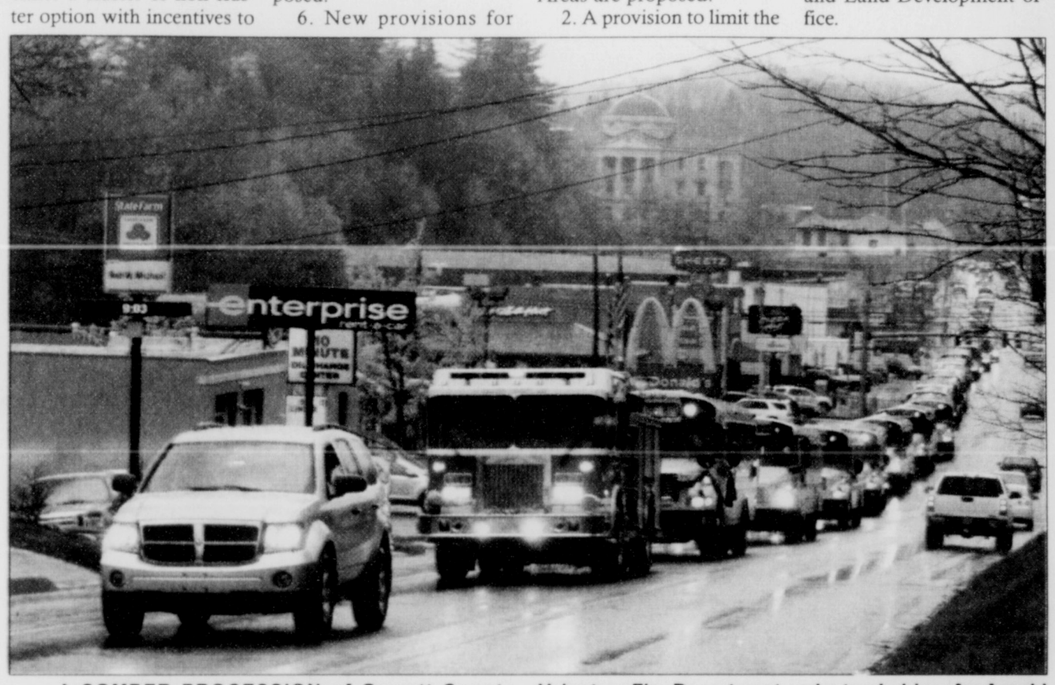
2. A provision to limit the exemption from the steep slope requirements to lots of record that are less than four acres is proposed.

3. A provision to prevent construction of buildings on man-made slopes exceeding 30% grade is proposed.

4. A provision to use the Maryland Sensitive Species Project Review Areas map as the indicator for referring applicants to Department of Natural Resources is proposed.

The Revised Draft Ordinances are formatted such that readers will be able to easily compare the proposed changes with the text of the existing ordinances, noted a Planning Commission spokesperson.

All three Revised Draft Ordinances and related maps are available for public review on the county's web site at garrett-county.org by clicking on "Draft Revisions to Ordinances" under "News." The revised drafts are also available at the Department of Planning and Land Development office.



A SOMBER PROCESSION of Garrett County school buses rolled through Oakland on Saturday as a memorial tribute to bus driver Tommy Fitzwater, 46, Oakland, who died April 20. Fiztwater, the father of one daughter, was also a former volunteer with the Deer Park Volunteer Fire Department and a truck driver for Arnold Brothers and Perry's Solid Waste. He is also survived by his wife, mother, nine siblings, and many nieces and nephews. His body was laid to rest in North Glade Cemetery.

GC Health Dept. Rabies Clinics At Various Locations

The Garrett County Health Department's Environmental Health Service division has scheduled rabies clinics at six locations throughout the county in the next two weeks. Since wildlife rabies continues to be in Garrett County, the Health Department strongly urges all pet owners to bring their pets to one of the clinics.

"Last year Garrett County experienced six confirmed rabies cases: five in raccoons and one in a skunk," said an Environmental Health spokesperson. "So far this year, Garrett County has had one positive case in a raccoon. Protect your pets and your family from the threat of this disease by bringing your dogs, cats, and ferrets to the clinic in your area."

The cost is $5 per animal. The locations, dates, and times are as follows:

• Grantsville Elementary School, Monday, May 4, 5 to 6 p.m.

• Gorman fire hall, Tuesday, May 5, 5 to 6 p.m.

• Accident Elementary School, Wednesday, May 6, 5 to 6 p.m.

• Friendsville Elementary School, Thursday, May 7, 5 to 6 p.m.

• Bloomington fire hall, Friday, May 8, 5 to 6 p.m.

• Garrett County Health Department, Oakland, Saturday, May 9, 10 a.m. to noon.

The cost of the vaccination is $5 per animal at the clinics. Dogs must be on a leash and under the control of a responsible individual. Cats and ferrets must be brought to the clinic in a cage or a tightly secured box with air holes. If a cage or carrier is not available, the cat must be carried in a pillowcase or suitable cloth sack.

"Close contact of animals at the clinics increases the risk of bites and scratches," said a Health Department spokesperson. "Please be prepared to restrain and control your animals in order to avoid a potential incident."

The Health Department urges owners to keep their pets' rabies vaccinations up-to-date. Although Maryland law requires dogs, cats, and ferrets over 4 months of age to be vaccinated against rabies, they may be adequately vaccinated at 3 months. Dogs and cats need to be revaccinated every three years. Puppies and kittens vaccinated between the ages of 3 and 12 months and dogs and cats receiving their first vaccinations must be revaccinated 12 months later. Ferrets need to be revaccinated every year.

Now that the weather has warmed up, many species of animals are more active, increasing the likelihood of crossing paths with people, especially children.

"Parents should teach children not to approach any animal they see while playing outdoors, including cats and dogs they don't know," said Rodney Glotfelty, Garrett County health officer. "Wild animals with rabies may act tame and friendly. They may not run away, even if a child tries to touch them. They may look cute and cuddly, but wild animals are just that – wild – and generally should not be approached by people. Especially dangerous are ones that may allow you to approach them, because they could have rabies."

Raccoons are the most frequently identified carrier of rabies in Maryland. Since they normally are active only at night, any raccoon seen wandering around in the daytime is highly suspicious for rabies.

In Maryland, the deadly viral disease is also found in skunks, foxes, bats, cats, and groundhogs.

"Cats with rabies serve as a reminder that the disease is not associated only with wild animals," said the spokesperson. "Rabid cats are a special concern."

Cats are the fourth most common species testing positive for rabies in Maryland, and they are the number one domestic animal species most likely to be unvaccinated and have frequent contact with humans.

In fact, rabies in cats affects wild and domestic cats, including kittens. Kittens are vulnerable to a number of health problems, and rabies is one of them.

"A good rule to follow is to make sure a veterinarian examines any stray kitten you adopt as soon as possible," said the spokes-person.

Feral and stray cats tend to be common in the agricultural community in Garrett County.

"Farm owners need to be vigilant of feral or unfamiliar cats residing in and around buildings," said the spokesperson. "At-tempts should be made to control these feral cat populations by having them removed or vaccinated against rabies."

Bats with rabies pose a risk to humans since they can roost in attics, behind shutters and in other sheltered areas of homes and buildings, increasing the chance of contact with humans. Rabid bats can also bite and infect cats, dogs, and other mammals.

"Even though not all bats carry rabies, if you find a bat in your house, do not immediately release it," the spokesperson said. "Contact your local health department to find out what you should do. To reduce the risk of contact with bats 'bat proof' your home."

Homeowners can use bird netting, fly screening, sheet metal, or caulking compounds to close or cover openings along roofs and vents that allow bats to enter.

"Before bat proofing, make sure there are no bats, especially young ones, already inside the attic," said the spokesperson.

Wounds from animal bites require careful at-tention.

"If you are bitten by a suspicious animal, wild or tame, wash the wound thoroughly with soap and water and get medical attention immediately," said the spokesperson. "If possible, capture the animal so it can be observed or sent to a laboratory for rabies testing. Then contact your doctor and county health department right away."

If a pet fights with a wild animal, special precautions are also necessary. Persons should wear gloves to handle their pets and isolate them from other animals and people. They should also contact the Health Department for more information on what to do. The pet owners may be instructed to bring their pets to their local veterinarian for a rabies booster shot if they are not currently vaccinated.

County dog and cat licenses will be available at each rabies clinic. License cost is $3 per year for a spayed/neutered animal, and $15 for a non-spayed/neutered pet. If a three-year rabies vaccination is received, pet owners may purchase a three-year county dog or cat license.

For more information, persons may call Environmental Services at 301-334-7760.

BIRD COUNT SCHEDULED – The annual county-wide May Bird Count, sponsored by the Maryland Ornithological Society (MOS), will be held in Garrett County on Saturday, May 8, during the entire 24-hour period (midnight Friday to midnight Saturday). Birds may be counted during any portion of the count period and in any part of Garrett County. Results of the count will appear in Maryland Birdlife, a publication of MOS. Novice and experienced birders alike are welcome to participate, according to coordinator Fran Pope. Count participants may count birds either at their bird feeders or in a favorite spot in the county. In order to avoid duplication of effort and assure the best coverage of the county, interested persons are asked to telephone Pope (301-334-4908) prior to Wednesday, May 5. Each participant will be furnished with a count form. Pictured above is a blue-gray gnatcatcher, one of the earliest nesting insectivorous songbirds in eastern North America. According to Pope, they have already arrived in Garrett County this spring and are busy courting and establishing territories. The nest of the gnatcatcher looks like a large hummingbird nest as it sits on a branch, secured by spider webs or caterpillar silk, the outside camouflaged with lichens. The gnatcatcher appears to be in constant motion, as it moves through foliage searching for insects and spiders with quick movements of the head and flicking motions of the wings and cocked tail, which may flush their prey.

TOP DOWN, NOISE LEVELS UP

Driving in a vehicle with a convertible top is one of the most pleasant of experiences. However, cruising around at high speeds with the top down does have the potential to adversely affect both the driver's and passengers' hearing ability. According to a recent study, noise levels in convertibles driven at high speeds exceed 85 decibels, which is the accepted threshold for hearing damage to occur. In fact, researchers measured average levels between 87 and 89 decibels when driving a variety of models of top-down cars at speeds of 50 mph, 60 mph, and 70 mph. The good news is that by rolling up the windows, convertible passengers could lower the decibel level somewhat, to 84 decibels.

Our noisy world offers no guarantees that we'll have perfect hearing throughout our lives. We must accept the responsibility of protecting our hearing, in our recreational pursuits and our home and work environments, and do all we can to correct impairments. Here at AUDIBEL, helping you achieve your optimum hearing potential is our only business. Call us to arrange a hearing test.

P.S. Convertible owners might also find the windscreens available from vehicle manufacturers to be a good investment that helps preserve their hearing.

Bruce Alan Warsaw was stopped on Garrett Highway near George Washington Highway for failure to drive right of center. Investigation revealed him to be operating the vehicle under the influence of alcohol. He is charged with driving under the influence, driving while impaired, and failure to drive right of center. He was taken to the Garrett County Jail, where he was released on personal recognizance.

MAY SUN – As May begins, the sun appears in front of the stars of Aries moving a degree per day eastward relative to the stars. On May 13, the sun enters the star group Taurus, where it stays through June 21. Both of the above star groups are lost in the sun's glare in May. The star group Gemini is behind (east of) the sun, so it sets after the sun, appearing low in the western dusk. The star group Pisces (to the west of the sun) rises before the sun and is visible low in the southeastern dawn. In early May, sunrises in Garrett County are at about 6:15 a.m., while sunsets are at about 8:15 p.m. (14 hours of daylight). Around the end of May, Garrett County's sunrises are at about 5:55 a.m., and sunsets occur at about 8:35 p.m. (14.5 hours of daylight). So during May, the stars are last seen by around 5:15 a.m. (early dawn) and then reappear by about 9:15 p.m. (late dusk).

MAY MOON – There was a full moon on April 28, so there will be a little late evening moonlight the first few nights of May. Then the moon rises after midnight and is most easily seen at dawn. On the morning of May 6, the moon appears half full in the southern dawn sky. A crescent moon will appear near the bright planet Jupiter on Sunday, May 9, low in the 5:30 a.m. southeastern dawn. Late on May 13, the moon swings from the morning to the evening side of the sun (new moon). On May 15, the moon reappears low in the 9 p.m. western dusk below and to the right of the brilliant planet Venus. On the next evening, the crescent moon appears above and to the left of brilliant Venus.

On May 19 and 20, the moon will appear above the planet Mars, to the right of Mars on 19 and to the left on the 20th. Also on May 20, the evening moon appears half full, offering the best views of its craters and mountain ranges with a telescope. Along the moon's left or straighter edge, the crater's rims and mountain peaks will first catch the sun's light. On May 22, the 2/3rds-full moon appears underneath the planet Saturn. The moon is full on the evening of May 27, appearing near the star Antares, which marks the head of the Scorpion. For the rest of May, the moon rises nearly an hour later each night, causing it to rise in the late evening hours by the last few evenings of May. Then fainter objects can be seen both by eye and with backyard telescopes in the early evening hours.

MAY PLANETS – The five nearest planets are easily seen by eye, four of them shining steadily in contrast to the twinkling stars. Of the five, Mercury is usually the most difficult to see, at a low angle to the sun and seen very close to the horizon at dawn or dusk. Mercury can be seen very low in the eastern dawn in late May. The planet Jupiter becomes easier to see during May as its rising time changes from 4:20 a.m. in early May to 2:40 a.m. in late May. The earlier a planet's rising, the higher the planet will appear in the 5 a.m. dawn sky. Jupiter then is the brightest point in the sky, appearing in the southeast. The planet Mars is in the southwestern evening sky, slowly drifting from Cancer toward Regulus, Leo's heart star. In the south is the planet Saturn, forming a triangle with the bright golden star Arcturus and the white-blue star Spica, both to the left of Saturn. The brilliant planet Venus dominates the western evening in May; Venus' setting time changes from 10:20 p.m. in early May to 11:15 a.m. in late May.

MAY STARS – The Big Dipper is upside down high in the north. The two leftmost scoop stars point down to the North Star, a modest star about halfway up in the north. If you extend the Big Dipper's handle outward, you come to the bright golden star Arcturus and then the white-blue star Spica. In the early evening western sky is an arch of bright stars; from left to right are: Procyon (Little Dog), Pollux and Castor (Gemini), and Capella (Charioteer). The brilliant planet Venus appears within this arch. In the northeast is the sparkling white-blue star Vega, the first summer evening star to appear.

MAY PROGRAMS – The Frostburg State Planetarium program for May is "Are There Other Universes?" The free public programs will be on the Sundays of May 2, 9, and 16 at 4 and 7 p.m. in Tawes 302. (Persons are advised to arrive a little bit early, as latecomers may not be admitted.) Bookmarks and supplemental materials are available for visitors. After a brief intermission, planetarium visitors are invited to tour the nearby Science Discovery Center, where a large collection of preserved animals from five continents are on display. Persons may telephone 301-687-7799 and leave name and address, and a free planetarium bookmark (includes small campus map showing planetarium and easy parking areas) will be sent to callers. Persons may also visit the Frostburg State web site, where there is an area devoted to the planetarium (http://www.frostburg.edu/planetarium).

Dr. Doyle writes this column for those who like to identify the brightest stars, planets, and sights in their backyards.

Area 4-H Clubs Celebrate Nat'l Volunteer Week

The Garrett County 4-H Program recently celebrated National Volunteer Week by honoring 4-H club members and volunteer leaders. This year, 34 youth members received the President's Volunteer Service Award, a national honor offered in recognition of volunteer service.

"These 34 young people collectively recorded an impressive 5,194 hours of community service in 2009," said Ann Sherrard, extension educator.

The 4-H members provided community service by teaching younger members, improving the environment, raising money for charitable causes, working on community projects, and volunteering as camp counselors.

According to a spokesperson, National Volunteer Week celebrates the spirit of service in America and honors those who demonstrate character through acts of kindness, generosity, and citizenship. 4-H membership provides opportunities for young people to work as individuals or with others in their club to accomplish important community service projects.

In addition to the youth volunteers, the 4-H program recognizes the service of adult volunteer leaders. Volunteer leaders support the 4-H work of members in community clubs all across the county. They provide leadership at educational events, organize recreational activities, and assist members with their community service projects. Volunteers also assist at the Garrett County Fair, at 4-H camp, and throughout the year serving as judges, mentors, and advisors.

HONORED DURING NATIONAL VOLUNTEER WEEK – Several members of the Garrett County 4-H Program recently received the President's Volunteer Service Award in recognition of their volunteer service. Pictured above, front row, from left, are Kara Savage, Andrea Steyer, Jessica Steyer, and Katelyn Gnegy. In the back row are Gary Pritts, Beck Sherrard, Lake Sherrard, and J.B. Gnegy. Pictured below, front row, are Toby Grove, Justin Maust, Jordan Groves, Dalton Jeffries, Levi Jones, and Zachary Pritts. In the second row are Levi Lantz, Brittany Diehl, Kenya Rinker, Logan Jeffries, Jason Shingler, and Colton Groves. In the back are Charlie Harvey, Aaron Lantz, Mikail Perrine, Kevin Haenftling, Kevin Maust, and Derrick Maust. See story for details.

"National Volunteer Week recognizes those adult leaders who spend many hours each year to support the development of life skills in the young with which they work," Sherrard said.

ONRC Honors Volunteers With Dinner, Ceremony

Oakland Nursing and Rehab Center concluded National Volunteer Week with a dinner and celebration ceremony in honor of those who serve the facility and residents throughout the year.

Each volunteer in attendance was recognized before the group and received a special gift and certificate for their continued dedication. Rev. William McCallister, though unable to attend, was recognized for his decade-long loyalty to the facility's residents. Pastor Ross Glotfelty was announced as the new head chaplain to replace the retiring McCallister.

"We have an incredible volunteer base," commented Gloria Miller, ONRC activities director. "Our volunteers are committed to providing recreation, companionship, and enjoyment to each and every resident in our facility."

ONRC has more than 150 volunteers on the roster in a given year. "Some come in once or twice for a holiday or special event, but others have a regular schedule that they adhere to," explained Miller.

RENT THAT BUILDS EQUITY

Applying for a home loan today sure isn't what it used to be. Buyers who would have qualified just a year or two ago are now facing rejection, but all hope is not yet lost. If you find a home you love offered by motivated sellers, your real estate representative may be able to negotiate a lease-to-own option.

Usually, a portion of the monthly rent paid goes into escrow, where it accumulates for the eventual downpayment. It's a fairly painless way to save up money so you can get the home you want now, even if you can't put enough down to qualify for financing. Within an agreed amount of time, usually three to five years, you will have then saved enough to secure a loan and complete your purchase.

Simply paying rent is like throwing your money away, but a rent-to-own option actually helps you build equity while you're making your monthly payments (like a mortgage!). Many sellers find this arrangement attractive too, because it generates regular income for them in a still recovering housing market.

Whenever there are challenges in the market place, look to your real estate professional for creative ways to achieve your dream.

If you are thinking of buying or selling a home but feel "out of touch" with real estate, give me a call today.

An uncertain fate for 'Men of a Certain Age'

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Q: I have watched "Men of a Certain Age" since its first airing. What has happened to it? Will it return? –Veronica Williams, Juno Beach, Fla.

A: TNT ordered only 10 episodes for the first round of the Ray Romano-Andre Braugher-Scott Bakula series ... but don't worry; it'll be back. In fact, halfway through the run of the show's maiden season, TNT ordered a second year. There's no official word yet on when the new episodes will begin, but we suspect it will happen toward the end of this year.

Q: After missing what apparently was the last episode of "Nip/Tuck," I was surprised not to see a repeat. Will FX ever show the last episode again? –Kevin Beder, Seattle

A: Hard to say, since it's difficult to peg a network's plans for a series – even a cable network – once the show is completely over. However, you aren't totally out of luck; Warner Home Video is slated to release "Nip/Tuck: The Sixth and Final Season" on DVD on June 8. The set will include the last 19 episodes, of which the very final one was the Dylan Walsh-Julian McMahon show's 100th story.

Q: Is the voice in the Mercedes-Benz commercials that of Jon Hamm of "Mad Men"? –Tim Freeman, Wheeling, W.Va.

A: He recently became the car company's new "voice" following a long run by Richard Thomas – television's former John-Boy Walton – in that job.

Q: Has Michael T. Weiss given up acting? I loved him in "The Pretender," and I was sure he'd continue his television career. –Bella Hall, Old Orchard Beach, Maine

A: We couldn't go as far as to say he's left the profession, but it's true that his credits haven't been bountiful since his NBC series ended. In fact, much of his most recent work has been in cartoon voice-overs for such programs as "Batman: The Brave and the Bold" and "Higglytown Heroes." At this writing, we don't know of any acting jobs Weiss has on the horizon.

Q: I thought "Deadwood" was going to be wrapped up with a two-parter. Is it still going to happen? –Mike Peringer, Seattle

A: It gets increasingly doubtful with every day/week/month/year that passes. Though series creator David Milch had made that pronouncement three years ago, co-star Ian McShane has said on several occasions since that he believes viewers have seen the last of the HBO revisionist Western. Supposedly, the sets no longer exist, so rebuilding those would only add to the cost of getting a script, striking new deals with the actors, etc.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners will conduct a public hearing concerning proposed revisions to three principal land development ordinances currently implemented by the County. The proposed revisions would affect the following ordinances:

1) Deep Creek Watershed Zoning Ordinance;
2) Garrett County Subdivision Ordinance;
3) Garrett County Sensitive Areas Ordinance

The Date and Time of the Hearing is:
Saturday, May 8, 2010, at 9:00 a.m.

The Location of the Hearing is:
Garrett College Auditorium

All interested citizens are cordially invited to attend

The Department of Planning and Land Development released initial preliminary drafts of these three ordinances for public review on September 29, 2009. The Planning Commission sponsored a public information meeting on the initial drafts on October 14, 2009, and subsequently prepared new Revised Draft Ordinances that incorporated major changes into the September draft. On March 6, 2010, the Garrett County Planning Commission conducted a public hearing on the revised ordinances. Based upon citizen comments submitted at the public hearing or in writing subsequent to the public hearing the Planning Commission made further minor adjustments to the Draft Ordinances.

With the acceptance of these final adjustments, the Planning Commission has now recommended adoption of all three Revised Draft Ordinances. The following represents a summary of the most significant policy changes to these Ordinances as recommended by the Planning Commission:

Deep Creek Watershed Zoning Ordinance:

1) New Zoning Districts are proposed: Agricultural Resource (AR), Rural Resource (RR) and Lake Residential 2 (LR-2) are new districts intended to preserve rural character and conserve natural resources by limiting residential development to a relatively low average density. New standards for subdivisions in the AR and RR districts are proposed using either a cluster or non-cluster option with incentives to promote cluster subdivision. The Rural Development (RD) district is proposed to be eliminated.
2) A Scenic Protection Overlay District is proposed for those areas identified as Crestlines on the proposed zoning map. This provision is intended to preserve the scenic views of the ridge tops and crest lines surrounding Deep Creek Lake. Requirements for retaining and planting trees on the sides and rear of structures when viewed from the lake and shoreline are proposed.
3) Architectural Standards for non-residential structures in the TC, TR and GC zoning districts for metal buildings are proposed.
4) Provisions, including setbacks, for domestic, agricultural and industrial wind energy devices are proposed.
5) New setbacks for drilling for natural gas are proposed.
6) New provisions for non-conforming structures and grandfathered non-conforming lots are proposed.

Garrett County Subdivision Ordinance:

1) The Agricultural Resource (AR) and Rural Resource (RR) land classifications are proposed to be expanded and new standards for subdivisions in these areas are proposed using either a cluster or non-cluster option with incentives to promote cluster subdivision.
2) A provision that would allow the Planning Commission to require a Traffic Impact Study for major subdivisions is proposed.
3) A provision to retain trees and other vegetative cover for new subdivisions abutting Scenic Byways is proposed.
4) Provisions to delineate the boundaries of any wetlands or Source Water Protection Areas on subdivision plans are proposed.

Garrett County Sensitive Areas Ordinance:

1) Provisions to protect Source Water Protection Areas are proposed.
2) A provision to limit the exemption from the steep slope requirements to lots of record that are less than four acres is proposed.
3) A provision to prevent construction of buildings on man-made slopes exceeding 30% grade is proposed.
4) A provision to use the Maryland Sensitive Species Project Review Areas map as the indicator for referring applicants to DNR is proposed.

The Revised Draft Ordinances are formatted such that readers will be able to easily compare the proposed changes with the text of the existing Ordinances. All three Revised Draft Ordinances and related maps are available for public review on the County's website at http://www.garrettcounty.org by clicking on Draft Revisions to Ordinances under News. The revised drafts are also available at the Department of Planning and Land Development office.

$42 Million "Up For Grabs" In Md. Unclaimed Funds

Comptroller Peter Franchot Monday announced that his office will issue a 144-page advertising supplement over the next three weeks to find 60,000 recently identified owners of more than $42 million in unclaimed funds.

The supplement will appear in 30 newspapers throughout the state through Wednesday, May 12. Locally, the supplement will be in the May 6 issue of The Republican.

"Our number one job at the Comptroller's Office is to serve the people," said Franchot. "Part of that service is to connect people with unclaimed funds so they get what they are owed."

Financial institutions, utilities, insurance companies, and other corporations are required to report to the comptroller any bank accounts, security deposits, wages, insurances benefits, and contents of safe deposit boxes that have been unclaimed after three years. Funds remain the property of the owners or their legitimate heirs and can be claimed anytime. There is no statue of limitations.

Franchot urges anyone who finds his or her name in the ad to contact his office at 410-767-1700 in central Maryland, or toll-free at 1-800-782-7383, to find out how to make a claim for funds.

The comptroller also noted that anyone can check the agency's complete unclaimed property records for free, online, at either marylandtaxes.com or missingmoney.com. The agency has records on approximately 800,000 accounts worth more than $900 million.

In addition, numerous property items held by the agency that remain unclaimed are now eligible to be posted for auction on eBay. Since this program began in July 2006, nearly 7,383,300 items have been sold, totaling more than $820,000, according to Franchot. These items can be viewed and bid on by clicking the eBay icon at marylandtaxes.com.

Along with newspaper advertising, the Comptroller's Office also searches for owners of unclaimed funds by matching files with Internal Revenue Service and state Motor Vehicle Administration records, and setting up computers at the Maryland State Fair and other events to allow people to check the agency's files of unclaimed funds.

In fiscal year 2009, which ended on June 30, 2009, the Comptroller's Office honored nearly 43,000 claims totaling more than $42 million, Franchot noted.

A TRIPLE DONATION was recently made by best friends from Route 40 Elementary School when they cut off 10 inches of hair for Locks of Love. Fifth graders Olivia Bennett, Blair Willey, and Abby Burdock made the hair donation in loving memory of Blair's father Morris Willey and Olivia's mother Dianna Bennett. Blair's stepsister Tara Willey cut the hair and put it into baggies at the family's home. Locks of Love is a public non-profit organization that provides hairpieces to financially disadvantaged children in the United States and Canada under age 21 suffering from long-term medical hair loss from any diagnosis.

Celebration Set May 8 To Honor Environ. Groups

A community celebration will be held on Saturday, May 8, to recognize the efforts of the Youghiogheny River Watershed Association, Maryland Bureau of Mines, and the W.Va. Department of Environmental Protection on the Laurel Run Lime Doser Project. The event will be held at Crellin Elementary School from 1 to 4 p.m.

Activities will include a performance by the Crellin Elementary School chorus, a historical re-enactment, tours of Laurel Run Doser and the Crellin Environmental Education Laboratory, biological steam studies, and trout stocking in Snowy Creek. There will also be a dedication ceremony for the late Gary Yoder, who was instrumental in coordinating the environmental projects in the area.

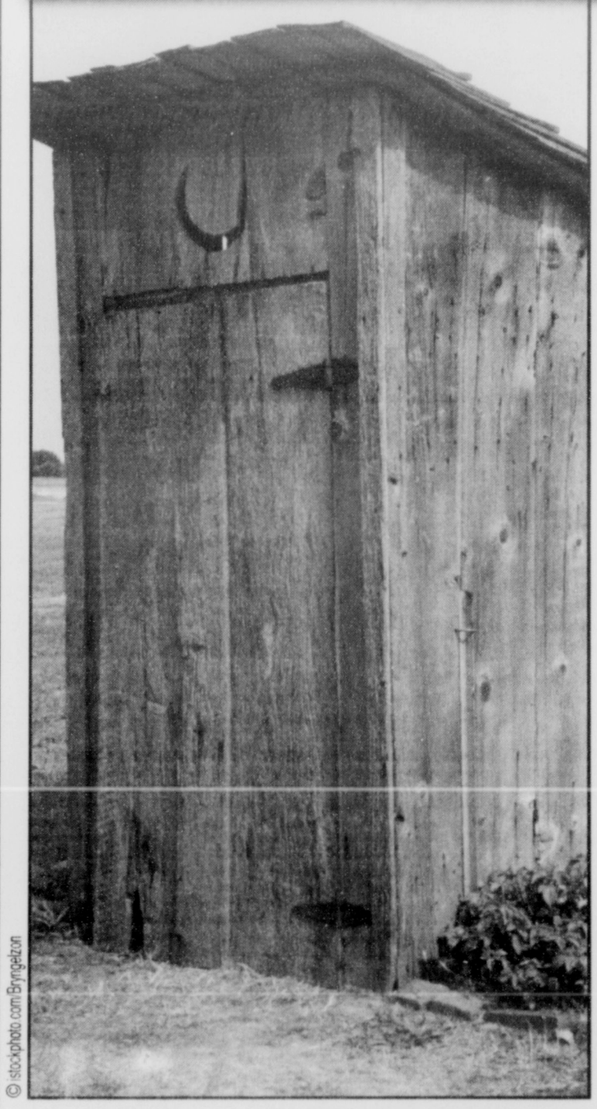
IN TIMES OF NEED



© istockphoto.com/Bryngelzon

Once a necessity, the little outhouse stands now as a reminder of times past when "visitors" came and went, all times of day and night, in all kinds of weather. There are few locations today where an outhouse serves a real purpose; they've been replaced by modern conveniences.

There are some necessities that can never be replaced or improved upon, except by consistent practice and attention. They are not tangible, but of the heart and the spirit. One of these is prayer...as necessary in our lives today as it was a thousand years ago. When we go to God in prayer, we take time from our hurried modern lives to listen for His ever-present guidance. Our Heavenly Father can never be replaced by modern conveniences!

As we give attention to prayer and weekly worship, God is with us as our unchanging source of comfort and consolation. Put your faith in the unchangeable – put your faith in God!

Vitality

Having vitality is about having a zest or enthusiasm for life. It is being fully alive and engaged with life. A person with vitality enjoys life and does things because he or she wants to, not because they have to. If we have lost touch with what we love to do, we should think about what we loved doing as a child and try to reconnect with that. Sometimes just taking a walk through the woods or riding a bike can be revitalizing. Being outside, especially in nice weather, is almost always energizing. Many people find that doing something vigorous in the morning such taking a walk or exercising gives them increased energy throughout the entire day. To feel truly vital, we need to get adequate rest and fuel our bodies with healthy food. We should remember that the word "vitality" comes from the Latin word "vita" meaning life, so ultimately those things which are healthy and life-enhancing should give us added vitality, whereas unhealthy habits tend to sap our vitality. Finally, we should remember that we are more than just physical beings; our spiritual sides must be nourished. We should not forget to engage in spiritual exercises and to reconnect with the ultimate source of our being, namely, God.

But He answered and said, "It is written,'Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceeds from the mouth of God."

Treatment for this Rare Syndrome

Marfan syndrome (MFS) is an inherited condition characterized by abnormalities of the body's connective tissue. A defect in the gene that allows the body to produce a protein necessary for normal functioning of connective tissue leads to this syndrome. This rare condition occurs in approximately 1 out of 3000 to 5000 people. Persons with a parent affected by the condition are more likely to develop MFS. Abnormalities may develop in the eyes, central nervous system, cardiovascular system, musculoskeletal system, lungs, and skin. Complications of the cardiovascular system, such as aortic aneurysm and malformed heart valves, are the most severe symptoms. Glaucoma and cataracts are complications of the eyes that may occur. The condition may also lead to sleep apnea or emphysema. Those with MFS may have arms, legs, fingers, and toes that are longer than normal.

Although there is currently no treatment available for the actual syndrome and its cause, treatments are aimed at preventing complications. Beta-blockers, such as propranolo, may be prescribed to slow down the heart rate and therefore prevent complications of the aorta. If glaucoma develops, eye drops, such as latanoprost, can be used to decrease intraocular pressure and prevent further damage.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

• It was beloved American comedian and actor Bob Hope who made the following extremely sage observation: "People who throw kisses are hopelessly lazy."

• Next time you're in Tinseltown, remember that it is unlawful to herd more than 3,000 sheep at a time down Hollywood Boulevard.

• In the naming of American states, there a quite a few that never quite made it. It's interesting to speculate about the possibilities, though. For instance, if you currently reside in the state of Kentucky or parts of Tennessee, but for the whimsy of fate you could be a Transylvanian. Some people once wanted to take parts of Texas and Oklahoma to create the great state of Texlahoma (perhaps displaying a slight lack of imagination). When the Mormon church settled out west, Brigham Young petitioned to have the state of Deseret created, and the land he suggested make up the state included present-day Utah, almost all of Nevada and Arizona, a sizable chunk of California and bits of five other states. Long Island, in New York, even had designs on statehood at one time.

• In the 19th century, ice accounted for more shipping than any other commodity except cotton.

• William Howard Taft, the 18th president of the United States, was a large man. Quite a large man. In fact, he was so large that his 300-pound bulk got stuck in a White House bathtub, and he had to summon help to extricate himself.

• The French town of Versailles was originally built solely to house the staff of the extravagant palace.

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

• On May 7, 1902, Mount Pele on the French Caribbean island of Martinique begins the deadliest volcanic eruption of the 20th century. The city of Saint Pierre was buried and 30,000 people died when a cloud of gas with a temperature of more than 3,000 F sent an avalanche of boiling ash down the side of the mountain.

• On May 9, 1926, according to their claims, polar explorer Richard E. Byrd and co-pilot Floyd Bennett fly over the North Pole. The discovery in 1996 of the diary that Byrd had kept on his famous flight seemed to suggest that he and Bennett may have turned back 150 miles short of the pole because of an oil leak.

• On May 3, 1933, James Brown, the Godfather of Soul, is born. Brown did his first gospel singing while in prison, and he impressed the warden and the Georgia State Parole Board with his seriousness of purpose enough to win his release after only three years of an 8-to-16-year sentence.

• On May 5, 1944, Bertha Benz, the wife of auto pioneer Karl Benz, dies in Germany. In 1888, Bertha drove an experimental three-wheel model on a surprise visit to her mother 65 miles away, becoming the first person to drive an automobile over a long distance. During the journey, she unclogged the car's fuel line using one of her hairpins. She also used the garter on her stocking to fix a broken ignition.

• On May 6, 1954, in Oxford, England, medical student Roger Bannister cracks track and field's most notorious barrier: the four-minute mile. Bannister won the mile race with a time of 3 minutes, 59.4 seconds.

• On May 8, 1963, Sean Connery stars in his first Bond movie, "Dr. No." The film established many signature elements of the Bond series, including its distinctive theme song, fast-paced action, "Bond girls" and Bond's fondness for vodka martinis "shaken, not stirred."

• On May 4, 1970, in Kent, Ohio, National Guardsmen fire their weapons at a group of antiwar demonstrators on the Kent State University campus, killing four people, wounding eight and permanently paralyzing another. In 1974, a federal court dropped all charges levied against the Ohio National Guardsmen.

Q. I have a celluloid doll that is about 4 1/2 inches tall. The arms are movable, and on the back it is marked "Irwin — Made in U.S.A." How much do you think it is worth? — Flo, Montevideo, Minn.

A. The Irwin Doll Company produced dolls and toys throughout the 1950s and is not to be confused with the Irwin Doll Company of Canada. The American-produced dolls are fairly common. A quick check of the Internet revealed several dozen dolls from this company, all priced in the $10 to $25 range. As with all collectibles, there are always exceptions to the rule. Two excellent reference books are 200 Years of Dolls: Identification and Price Guide by Dawn Herlocher (Krause, $29.99) and The Blue Book: Dolls & Values by Jan Foulke (Hobby House Press, $19.95).

Man Found Guilty Of Conspired Theft; Sentenced To 90 Days

A West Virginia man was charged and found guilty of conspired theft in recent Garrett County District Court proceedings.

Adam Matthew Shaffer, 24, Eglon, W.Va., was found guilty by Judge H. Jack Price Jr. of conspired theft valued at less than $100, and was sentenced to 90 days with 86 days suspended, 18 months of unsupervised probation, and restitution costs of $60.

Garrett County sheriff's officers responded to the 7-Eleven in Oakland in January for a report of alcohol theft. The store manager stated that she had become suspicious of three male suspects who frequented the store, and decided to review the video surveillance when the suspects were in the store. She observed all three suspects stealing alcohol items.

Officers reviewed the videos, and investigation revealed that Shaffer was one of the suspects. It was reported that while the other two suspects walked the aisles of the store, Shaffer stayed at the front of the store and distracted the clerk. Shaffer was brought into the GC Sheriff's Office and interviewed. He identified the other two suspects, and admitted to stealing alcohol. No other charges were filed.

In a related case, Walter Burton Shaffer, 50, Eglon, W.Va., was found guilty of conspired theft valued at less than $100, and was sentenced to 90 days with 86 suspended, 18 months of supervised probation, and restitution costs of $60.

Investigation revealed that Shaffer was involved with Adam Shaffer in the alcohol theft from the 7-Eleven. The total cost of alcohol stolen was $130.

In an unrelated hearing, Jamie Scott Kraft, 24, Tonawanda, N.Y., was found guilty of theft valued at less than $100, and was sentenced to 62 days with 62 days' credit for time served and fines of $57.50.

GCSO responded to the local Wal-Mart for a shoplifter complaint in February. Officers met with the loss prevention officer, who stated that he had observed Kraft on the surveillance camera picking up a Vivitar Vivicam digital camera.

Kraft allegedly took it to the shoe aisle where he cut the camera out of the package and put the camera in his left lower shorts pocket. When he attempted to leave the store, the prevention officer stopped him at the door and took him to the office. The camera was located on his person, and Kraft admitted that he was going to return the item for cash. The camera was valued at $44.

In another District Court proceeding, Erik D. Foss, 28, Waverly, Ohio, and Robert T. Prietsch, 37, Columbus, Ohio, both pleaded guilty to a controlled dangerous substance (CDS) possession of paraphernalia charge, received a probation before judgment (PBJ) verdict from Judge Leonard J. Eiswert, and was sentenced to one day of unsupervised probation and $307.50 in fines.

Garrett County sheriff's officers were parked in the Wisp Resort parking lot in January, and observed an individual in a brown van attempting to clean what appeared to be a marijuana bowl. Officers approached the driver's side door and detected an odor of burnt marijuana coming from the van.

Foss was the front seat passenger and Prietsch was the rear seat passenger in the van, and both agreed to answer the officers' questions. Foss advised officers that he was in possession of a "one hitter" smoking pipe. Prietsch advised that he had marijuana in his red bag, which later revealed a mason jar containing suspected marijuana and a multi-colored bowl. They were both placed under arrest, and were not prosecuted on a charge of CDS possession of marijuana.

James Wilt, 56, Westernport, was charged in January with animal cruelty, animal cruelty failure to provide, and animal cruelty cause/authorize. His charges were placed on stet with conditions to abide by conditions outlined by the state's attorney's office.

An animal control officer of the Garrett County Humane Society arrived at the Wilt farm in January, and observed starved, diseased, injured, and deceased horses. The officer reported that there was no accessible shelter or water for the herd of horses, which were reported to be under-nourished with a few suffering from malnutrition. An equine veterinarian was called in and confirmed the information from the officer. Wilt's stet verdict will be in place for three years.

John Patrick Sheckels, 33, Grantsville, was charged with second-degree assault in January.

Maryland State Police responded to a Grantsville residence for a report of an assault. Investigation revealed that Sheckels had physically assaulted another adult, and alcohol was involved. His charge was placed on stet with conditions to have no contact with the victim of assault.

YOUTH AID WITH MULCHING TREES – The Friendsville Tree Committee in observance with Earth Day hosted a two-hour after-school community service learning activity mulching the town trees. The volunteers cleared away the sod and mulched 16 trees near the entrance of the Friendsville Community Park. There were eight Friendsville youth volunteers. The mulch was donated by the Antiquary, and delivery of the mulch was donated by Resurrection Structures. The volunteers were Gordon Sisler, Ella Sisler, Sean Mastej, Ashley, Nancy and Cecil Travis, Ray Frye, Chris Paugh, and Timmy House. Jennifer Pletta, Friendsville Tree Committee member, led the crew of volunteers.

DUI/DWI HEARING

The following driving while under the influence (DUI) and driving while impaired (DWI) case was heard in recent Garrett County District Court proceedings, with Judge Eiswert presiding.

Mary Ann Pipes, 34, Va., was found guilty of DWI in December 2009, and was sentenced to one year with 10 months suspended, three years of supervised probation, and $357.50 in fines. She was not prosecuted on a DUI charge.

MTN. LAKE PARK WATER SYSTEM
NOTICE OF VIOLATION
Surface Water Treatment Technique

The Garrett County Department of Public Utilities is providing the following notice regarding the Mtn. Lake Park Water System. The springs for the water system have been evaluated for protection against surface water influence as required by the Surface Water Treatment Rule (SWTR), as adopted in the Code of Maryland, COMAR 26.04.01, Quality of Drinking Water in Maryland. The springs were determined to be under the direct influence of surface water by the Maryland Department of the Environment. As a result, this source requires additional treatment, such as filtration, or replacement with a protected water source. Federal and state regulations require that the Mtn. Lake Park Water System install filtration.

What is the Department of Public Utilities doing?

The Mtn. Lake Park Water System disinfects the drinking water that is produced from the spring. The drinking water is tested monthly for coliform bacteria and results have met state and federal standards.

The Department of Public Utilities is in the process of replacing the water supply with a protected water source.

What should I do?

People with severely compromised immune systems, infants, and some elderly may be at increased risk. These individuals should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. General guidelines on ways to lessen the risk of infection by microbes are available from EPA's Safe Drinking Water Act Hotline (800-426-4791). If you have specific health concerns, consult your physician.

What does this mean?

This is not an emergency. This notification is provided to advise Mtn. Lake Park Water customers of the treatment requirements for their water system. Any questions or concerns should be directed to Allen Festerman at 301-387-9141. Please share this information with others who may find it useful.

WOUND CARE CENTER
Offering New Hope and Healing

Charles "Chuck" Albright of Frostburg, MD, describes himself as being "in a pickle" after an injury on the job left him with a wound that required treatment for the past 10 years. As the wound continued to worsen, he was told that his only option was to amputate!

Chuck and his family were devastated but refused to give up. The family's search for a different solution led them to the newly opened Wound Care Center at Garrett County Memorial Hospital. The hour long drive from Frostburg to Oakland seemed well worth the travel if it mean saving his leg!

The Albright Family found caring, compassion, and healing at the Wound Care Center. Chuck is no longer considering amputation but has hope with new skin growth and a new slogan of "anything is possible."

Organizational Culture Course Slated May 5

Garrett College will offer a course titled "Key to Performance: Organizational Culture" on Tuesday, May 5, from 6 to 9:15 p.m. at the McHenry campus.

"Participants will also discuss a case study and gain tools for identifying the next steps to take within their own organizations," the spokesperson said.

Paige Hull Teegarden will instruct the course. She is the lead author of Hidden Truths: Discovering Your Nonprofit's Culture and How It Impacts Performance. Her second book (yet unnamed) on organizational culture in the nonprofit sector is being published by Jossey- Bass in December.

State Moves Forward In Plan To Strengthen Teacher, Principal Evals

The Maryland State Board of Education agreed this week to publish a new regulation that will add student achievement as a substantial part of the evaluation process for both teachers and principals.

Under the proposed regulation, the student growth component of the evaluation will be 50 percent of the evaluation for both teachers and principals. The regulations, which follow the action of the Maryland General Assembly, also would set in place the use of multiple measures when evaluating educators. The evaluation would use more than one measure to determine student growth. No single criterion would account for more than 35 percent of the total performance evaluation criteria.

A stakeholder group will be brought together to determine the evaluation structure, state and local responsibilities, and the specific elements of the evaluation. Following the work of the stakeholder group and the public input on the proposed regulation, another regulation will be proposed to further define the evaluation process.

The General Assembly this month passed the Education Reform Act of 2010, which called for changes in the system used to evaluate educators. The proposed regulation also moves Maryland's evaluation system in line with those spotlighted by the Obama Administration in its Race to the Top program.

"Our primary duty as a school system is to improve student learning," said Maryland Superintendent of Schools Nancy S. Grasmick. "Adding growth in student achievement to our evaluation system is a sensible approach to strengthen learning. It places children and their learning exactly where they should be: at the center of what we do in Maryland public schools."

There will be no change in the current evaluation program for two years. The proposed regulations would not go into effect until the 2012-2013 school year, allowing the state time for research and development of the details of the new evaluation system. The system would be piloted in selected schools and systems before going statewide.

In addition to placing student performance as a substantial component of teacher evaluation, the proposed regulations say that the new evaluation program would include planning and preparation, classroom environment, instruction, and professional responsibility. The new principal evaluation would also include the instructional leadership outcomes set forth in the Maryland Instructional Leadership Framework.

Maryland's system of public education has been ranked #1 in the nation for two straight years by Education Week, the nation's leading education publication, and the state has been honored many times by national organizations over the past decade, noted Grawmick. But she said that there remains critical work to be done in improving chronically underperforming schools and in reducing gaps in achievement that have long been a problem for Maryland and other diverse states.

MSDE two weeks ago unveiled its draft plan to attack those critical areas. Maryland's Race to the Top proposal, which has been embraced by most local school systems, will be submitted to the U.S. Department of Education on June 1. If approved, the state stands to receive up to $250 million dollars in federal funds.

Once published, the public will have the opportunity to submit commentary on the proposed new regulation. The state board will review the commentary before taking final action on the regulation.

Maryland's draft Race to the Top application can by found on the MSDE's RTTT web page, http://www.marylandpublicschools.org/MSDE/programs/race_to_the_top.

REPS ATTEND NATIONAL SYMPOSIUM ON CHILD ABUSE – Representatives of various Garrett County agencies recently attended the 26th National Symposium on Child Abuse in Huntsville, Ala., hosted by the National Children's Advocacy Center. The symposium offered more than 100 sessions of training for prosecutors, law enforcement officers, mental health professionals, child protective service workers, victim advocates, and medical personnel. In the front row, from left are Ron Laney, associate administrator, and Lou Ann Holland (a Garrett County native), program manager, both of Child Protection Division, Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention, U.S. Department of Justice; Garrett County state's attorney Lisa Thayer Welch; April Adams and Dawna Day, Garrett County Department of Social Services (DSS) Child Protective Service workers; and Healther Cooper, Garrett County Health Department forensic nurse examiner. Back row: Chris Newlin, executive director, National Child Advocacy Center, Huntsville; Richard Kutchman, DSS; F/Sgt. Steve Vincent, Maryland State Police; state's attorney's investigator William Winters; Michael Downton, DSS; and Tfc. Jerry Schlossnagle, MSP. Funding for the trip was possible through a Children's Justice Act Committee (CJAC) grant from the Maryland Governor's Office for Crime Control and Prevention, for which DSS had applied in 2008, for the purpose of enhancing the training and education of its partners in the multi-disciplinary effort to address child abuse in Garrett County. FUND DONATED TO SHS AFTER-PROM – The Junior Woman's Civic Club recently donated funds to this year's Southern High School After-Prom. "It's all fun and games" is the theme for the drug- and alcohol-free overnight event for teens following the junior-senior prom. The event is held in the gym and cafetorium areas of the high school. All Southern High School students are invited to attend, and tickets are $10. "We will have dozens of activities and lots of good food," said coordinator Kayla Cathell. "The end-of-the-night entertainment will be a 'Minute to Win it' competition." After-Prom organizers meet each Wednesday at 5:30 p.m. in Room 1171 at the high school. Volunteers are welcome to attend the Wednesday night meetings. Monetary and food donations from the community are appreciated. Cathell may be contacted at the school at 301-334-9447. Ask The Everyday Scientist

INCREASED EARTHQUAKE ACTIVITY

by Dr. Tom Sheahen

Q. Why are we having multiple earthquakes, such as the one in Qinghai of China after Haiti and elsewhere?

A. It's important to keep in mind that because of better worldwide communications, today we find out about many more earthquakes than in the old days. There may well have been past times of still greater seismic activity, but people only heard about the really Big ones.

The greater number of earthquakes is really pretty much a matter of random chance. The earthquakes in western China in May 2008 and April 2010 are because the Indian subcontinent is slowly moving northward, pushing Tibet toward Siberia, and the grinding and scraping of the tectonic plates (where Tibet connects to the eastern portion of China) is what is causing the earthquakes. Stresses build up for years, decades, centuries; and nobody knows exactly when it will "let go."

There is an assortment of other tectonic plates with fault lines here and there, including some small plates in the Caribbean. One of those moved a little in January 2010, but unfortunately, the city of Port-Au-Prince on the island of Haiti was sitting directly above it; and so there was enormous damage to human-built structures and tremendous loss of life. If that plate-motion had happened 400 miles away out at sea, the people of Haiti would have shrugged and gone back to their normal day. The Dominican Republic, which shares the same island with Haiti, suffered no harm.

The Chilean earthquake was along the "ring of fire" that encircles the Pacific Ocean, and that's where most of the world's earthquakes occur. Also on the "ring of fire," an earthquake on April 17 in Papua, New Guinea, was nearly as severe as Haiti's, but in a remote area with sparse population, so it got little attention internationally.

A much weaker earthquake on the Utah-Wyoming border was surprising because it wasn't in a zone of recent geologic activity (although whatever made the Yellowstone caldera millions of years ago may have been the all-time greatest geologic event).

One place where a lot of tectonic-plate motion takes place and hardly anybody notices is along the mid-Atlantic rift, which is widening by a few centimeters each year. That rift runs through Iceland, and when the plates move, it's painless, because the plates are moving apart, not grinding together. The residents hardly feel a thing. However, there is hot molten rock (magma) underneath the plates, and opening a crack allows magma to bubble up toward the surface; sometimes that breaks out as a violent explosion, a major volcanic eruption.

Nowadays when something happens anywhere on Earth, the catch-phrase that immediately comes to mind is "climate change." We don't attribute movement of tectonic plates to climate change; more likely, cause and effect proceeds the other direction, since volcanic activity can cause temporary changes in the climate (as we're seeing with the current ash cloud from Iceland). However, there is one theory that if major glaciers lying atop volcanic mountains gradually melt, there will be less weight confining the magma below and hence more opportunity for tectonic plates to move.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Mayor and Town Council of Friendsville hereby gives notice, pursuant to Article 23A, Section 2(24) of the Annotated Code of Maryland, of its intention to sell by private sale certain unimproved real estate not located within the Town of Friendsville, and known as part of "Ironwood Resurveyed Twice".

NOTICE IS ALSO GIVEN, that Ordinance No. 20101 has been introduced before the Town Council, authorizing the Town to sell the said real estate and other property interests, consisting of one half acre, more or less, along with certain water and other easements not within the Town, more commonly known and designated as part of "Ironwood Resurveyed Twice", to the Estate of Theresa Selby Murphy, under the terms and conditions set forth below, and that the Mayor and Town Council of Friendsville shall hold a public hearing on said Ordinance on the 3rd day of May, 2010, at 6:30 P.M., at the Friendsville Town Hall located at 313 Chestnut Street, Friendsville, Maryland 21550.

A fair summary of the Ordinance is as follows:

An Ordinance authorizing the Mayor and Town Council of Friendsville to convey, by Quit Claim Deed, to the Estate of Theresa Selby Murphy certain lands and easements not within the Town of Friendsville, known as part of "Ironwood Resurveyed Twice", consisting of one half of an acre of ground, more or less, along with certain water rights, easements and other property rights, not within the Town, in consideration of the payment to the Mayor and Town Council of Friendsville by the Estate of Theresa Selby Murphy a purchase price of Five Hundred Dollars ($500.00), to be paid in cash at the time of settlement. The intended Grantee shall also pay all costs of said transfer, including, but not limited to, attorney's fees to the Town attorney for preparation of the Ordinance, the required Public Notice and all other such costs of document preparation, as well as the cost of the required publication of this Public Notice, any transfer taxes, recordation fees, title searches and all other such costs. The subject property was conveyed to the Town, in its proprietary capacity, by the City Water Company of Garrett County, Inc., by deed dated November 1, 1973, and recorded in Book 344, Page 167, among the Land Records of Garrett County, Maryland, consisting of approximately one half acre for the purpose of providing water to the Town, and said property is not held in public trust; that the Town desires to dispose of said property by private sale and to use the proceeds for other Town purposes. The Town water system of which the property and property rights to be conveyed were a part has long been abandoned by the Town and said property and rights are of no use to the Town. The one half acre cannot be located on the ground due to an incomplete deed description and there is no clear access to the said property. The property rights hereby conveyed were part of and represented an encumbrance on the land owned by Theresa Selby Murphy, now deceased, and constitute a cloud on the title of the said property which passed to her estate.

On or about April 5, 2010, the Mayor and Town Council adopted Resolution No. 2010-1, declaring that said property was held by the Town of Friendsville as business property, and not in public trust, and that the property is no longer needed for any public purpose in that the actual land does not have access and cannot be located and the easements and other property interests to be conveyed were only of use to the Town for the operation of the abandoned water system.

That this Notice is intended to meet the requirements of Article 23A, Section 2(24), of the Annotated Code of Maryland, and to give notice of the public hearing on Ordinance No. 2010-1.

The full text of Ordinance No. 2010-1 is available at the Friendsville Town Hall, 313 Chestnut Street, Friendsville, Monday through Friday, from 10 A.M. until 2:30 P.M.

On Friday, April 2, 2010, a fire occurred at the Legion home on Memorial Drive, and caused a considerable amount of damage. There is adequate insurance coverage, and in order to accomplish the optimum amount of recovery, the Legion Post is working closely with the insurance company and its representatives.

At the post meeting on Monday, April 19, 2010, Commander James Stewart appointed a five-member committee to facilitate recovery and to coordinate the efforts of the Post and the insurance company.

Definite steps have already been taken with regard to planning a replacement facility which will be with architects' renderings of the proposed changes. It is anticipated the renovations will include a new one-story building which will join and complement the existing part of the structure which was not damaged by the fire.

These replacement activities will evolve over a period of time and there will be regular news releases similar to this in The Republican newspaper. Our Post letter will also be sent on schedule and will contain more detailed information than the newspaper releases. "Energy Savers" Recognized At Local Schools

The Energy Assistance Office at Garrett County Community Action partnered with local schools recently to celebrate Energy Week. The week is a statewide observance to raise energy conservation awareness.

Six local schools participated in the office's Watt Wasters project by allowing students and teachers to monitor and write "tickets" to individuals who were found wasting energy in their schools.

"Some of the schools took it upon themselves to add a little more to our project, which was greatly appreciated and showed how involved they really were," said an Energy Assistance spokesperson. "There were several folders decorated by students with energy savings tips on them. Crellin even went as far as placing folders in the office and cafeteria and made spot checks."

Prizes and acknowledgments were awarded as follows: Crellin Elementary School (pictured above), first place, $300 Wal-Mart gift card; Kitzmiller Elementary School (pictured below), second place, $200 gift card; Friendsville Elementary School, third place, $100 gift card; Swan Meadow, fourth place, $50 gift card; Route 40 Elementary School, Donna Deal's class, fifth place, $25 gift card; and Dennett Road Elementary School, sixth place, certificate recognizing the students' and staff's willingness to participate in Energy Week.

In addition to the prizes, one class from each school was given the opportunity to receive mini wind-up flash lights and a pizza party. The following businesses donated the pizzas: Tomanetti's, Oakland; Swanton Store, Swanton; Good 2 Go, Friendsville; Winner's Circle, Mtn. Lake Park; and Straight 8 Billiards, Pizzas & Subs, Grantsville.

NHS CLASS VOLUNTEERS AT NURSING HOME – Northern High School's Student Service Alliance class recently traveled to the Goodwill Mennonite Home to help with spring cleaning while also visiting the residents. They were accompanied by instructor Barbara D. Law and substitute teacher Mike Fike and worked under the supervision of Goodwill employees Jim Doyle and Patti Knobsnyder. John Cosner, Jeffrey Johnson, and John Kinsey are pictured above working on the lawn. Below is the entire group. In the front, from left, are Cosner, Sarah Lichty, Megan Brant, Ashley Eggleston, Katrina Bowman, Alex Ruff, Randi Meyers, Amber Miller, and Ashley Hackett. Back row: Law, Johnson, Kinsey, Morgan Yoder, Whitney Miller, Ashley Hackett, Jessie Spiker, Aundres Deigert, Kristan Broadwater, Rikki Loar, and Fike.

Seated from left are Tatiana McCaskey, Kelly Baker, Lyz Grant, Jennifer Virts, Susan Athey-Oxford, and Erin Peacock. Sara Ashby is not pictured. I-68 CLOSED AFTER TANKER OVERTURNS – Maryland State Police responded to an accident on I-68 Monday involving an overturned fuel truck and one passenger vehicle. Driver Rebecca Michael, 55, Jackson, W.Va., was unaware that the tanker, driven by Jorge Rosario, 36, Trainer, Pa., was attempting to pass her vehicle. She changed lanes into the path of the truck, then swerved back out of the lane causing her to lose control. Her vehicle was struck by the tanker, causing it to overturn. No injuries were reported, and units were on the scene for approximately 4.5 hours while the truck was set back up on its wheels. Diesel fuel from the tanker was the only fuel leak. The incident closed a portion of I-68 West, and a small area along Rt. 40. Grantsville, Salisbury, and Eastern Garrett volunteer fire departments, HAZMAT 48 from Allegany County, Northern Rescue Squad, State Highway Administration, and the Department of the Environment HAZMAT team also responded to the 2 p.m. scene. Michael was charged with unsafe lane change. Photo by Lisa Broadwater.

Hearing Planned About Grantsville Coal Mine Permit

A public hearing concerning a tentative determination for a permit to discharge water from a proposed underground coal mine near Grantsville will be held on Wednesday, May 19, at 6:30 p.m. at the Grantsville Elementary School cafeteria.

The hearing was scheduled by the Maryland Department of the Environment (MDE).

Maryland Energy Resources LLC, Indiana, Pa., submitted the application for a permit to discharge an average of 500,000 gallons per day of mine drainage and variable volumes of storm water from the proposed mine. The site is located along Durst Road, southwest of Grantsville to the north branch of the Casselman River.

According to the MDE, the permit requires immediate suspension of the discharge in the event of mine drainage temperature or pH exceedance, wastewater operator certification, biomonitoring, restrictions on the use of treatment chemicals, best management practices, a storm water pollution prevention plan, and additional requirements for acid mine drainage. The permit also requires a study of stream flow velocity to support an authorization for a higher flow limit for mine drainage.

MDE noted that it has been determined that at least two state listed endangered species habitats are situated downstream from the discharges that are authorized under this permit.

"While the permit conditions are appropriately conservative and stringent, issuance of this permit will not relieve the permittee from the responsibility to ensure that the continued existence of these endangered species is not put at risk or jeopardized by the activities authorized under this permit," a spokesperson said.

Persons who wish to present information regarding the tentative determination may speak at the public

U.S. Rt. 219 North Project Is Now Garrett Co.'s Top Highway Priority

The U.S. Rt. 219 North project is now listed as number one on Garrett County's list of highway priorities, at least on paper. For several years, it was in second place, with the Oakland bypass in the number one spot. The southern project is now number two.

The switch in positions, however, does not mean the bypass is less important, county officials stressed during a nearly one-hour impromptu meeting at the county commissioners' office Tuesday afternoon.

"I'm not saying that the bypass isn't important; I'm not saying I don't support it; I'm not suggesting it get killed or be slipped through to the bottom," said Director Jim Hinebaugh, Garrett County Department of Economic Development. "The reality is we're being asked to move this section of road (219 North) as our top priority, on paper, for the time being, to show that it is important to us."

In addition to him and Commissioners Fred Holliday and Ernie Gregg, those in attendance included Sen. George Edwards; Del. Wendell Beitzel; Oakland mayor Peggy Jamison and councilman Jay Moyer; Director John Nelson, Garrett County Department of Planning and Zoning; and local resident David Moe. Hinebaugh and Moe are members of the Greater Cumberland Committee (TGCC).

Hinebaugh requested the meeting and the change in priorities. He noted the TGCC has made the U.S. Rt. 219 North/South Corridor its top priority in terms

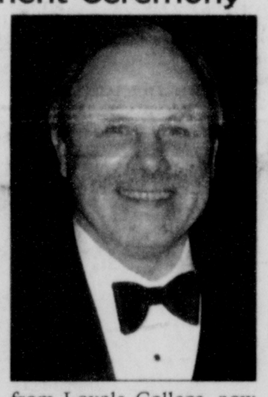
Judge Eiswert To Speak At 2010 GC Commencement Ceremony



Garrett College will hold its 2010 commencement ceremony on Saturday, May 15, at 10:30 a.m. in the college gymnasium. Leonard J. Eiswert, associate judge for the Garrett County District Court of Maryland, will be this year's commencement speaker.

A resident of Pleasant Valley, Eiswert has played a key role in Garrett County since 1977, when he became the county's assistant state's attorney, a position he held until 1980. Partnering with Ralph M. Burnett in 1977, Eiswert started the Law Firm of Burnett & Eiswert in Oakland and spent many years handling cases for people in the area. The firm, now known as Janes & Kepple, PA, still operates today.

Eiswert was born and reared in Baltimore. He graduated from Calvert Hall College High School in Baltimore in 1961, received his bachelor of science degree from Loyola College, now Loyola University, in 1965, and graduated magna cum laude from the University of Baltimore School of Law in 1972.

While at Loyola, Eiswert began a military career. He was commissioned as second lieutenant in the United States Army ROTC in 1965. He entered active duty in August of that year

7TH ANNIV. OF MEMORIAL WALL – Mother's Day will mark the 7th anniversary of the memorial wall located on the property of Our Town Theatre's Backstage building in Oakland. The wall was dedicated to all the citizens of Garrett County who "died too young." The board of directors at Our Town Theatre opens up the list for additional names at this time every year. Persons who would like to add a young person's name to the wall may do so by sending information to Jane Avery, artistic director. Each brick can contain three lines of print: the child's first name forms the first line and his/her last name the second line, and the years of the person's birth and death are the third line. Persons are asked to print this information neatly, or type it, and send it before May 31 to Jane B. Avery, c/o Our Town Theatre, 121 Center Street, Oakland, MD 21550. Each brick costs $25. Persons are not asked to donate the money, but are welcome to do so if they wish. Avery said there is enough money in the memorial fund to carve two or three bricks. Those who would like to donate to the wall project may send a check made out to Our Town Theatre Special Projects to the address noted above. For more information, persons may call Avery at 301-334-5640, ext. #3.

MEDICAL CENTER OFFICIALLY OPENS – A ribbon-cutting ceremony was held last Friday morning for the Mountain Laurel Medical Center, located along Memorial Drive, Oakland, behind the Garrett County Health Department. The 13,000-square foot facility provides primary, preventive, and pediatric care to residents of Garrett County and the surrounding area. Nearly $3 million in federal, state, Community Development Block Grant, and Appalachian Regional Commission (ARC) funding was used for the project. The center was constructed on land owned by the Garrett County commissioners, who are providing a long-term lease of 99 years for the value of $1 per year. Prior to the official opening, the center operated out of two separate locations along Memorial Drive. Since October 2006, the center has served about 5,500 patients, according to Beth Little-Terry, Mtn. Laurel Medical Center chief executive officer. Garrett BPW To Host State Conf.; Several Speakers To Be Featured

The Garrett County Business and Professional Women (BPW) will host the 2010 Maryland State Business and Professional Women's annual conference, which is set for May 14 and 15. It will take place at Wisp Resort, according to Arlene Murray, president of the local organization.

The event will feature four guest speakers: Jill Schaumloeffel, Jane Avery, Beverley Williams, and Louis J. Hamel Jr., all of whom are pictured.

BPW members from across the state of Maryland are to attend the event.

"The annual conference is held every year for members to come together to refine skills, set organizational direction, and reaffirm the group's commitment to positively impact the lives of all women and families in Maryland," Murray said.

Members will discuss and vote on resolutions that are initiated by BPW members from across the state, and set policies and directives that guide and move the organization forward.

The public is invited to attend the scheduled workshops and hear special presentations.

The schedule of speakers is as follows:

The luncheon speaker on Friday, May 14, luncheon will be Barbara Beuhl, executive director of Allegany County Tourism.

A technology workshop will be held on that same day, from 2 to 3 p.m. It is titled "Get Connected," and will feature speaker Jill Schaumloeffel, adjunct professor at Garrett College.

Schaumloeffel has over 25 years of experience in private business, as well as in state and federal government agencies as a computer network engineer. As an adjunct professor at Garrett College, she teaches information technology courses in computer repair, networking, security, and programming for the business and information technology department. She also teaches courses in computer usage and Microsoft Office products for the Continuing Education division.

Schaumloeffel is a graduate of Michigan State University with a bachelor of science in electrical engineering and is currently working toward a master's degree in science in information technology from Kaplan University.

Jane Avery, founder and artistic director of Our Town Theatre in Oakland, will be the luncheon speaker on Saturday, May 15, from noon until 1:30 p.m.

Avery bought the theatre building in 1997. She and the board of the organization have been producing a wide variety of dramatic arts since that time. Annual full seasons of plays, musicals, readings, guest artists, classes, and special events have been presented at the theatre. Hundreds of local residents have participated in all aspects of the theatrical process, from appearing onstage and building sets to appreciating the shows as audiences.

Residents of all ages have taken part in a range of roles and positions at the theatre. Both young actors in children's plays and professional musicians and actors have "taken the stage" at OTT.

A non-profit organization, the theatre has been supported by the community, Avery said, both financially and in volunteer participation, and from a solid collaboration with the Maryland State Arts Council, the Garrett County Arts Council, the Board of Education, Garrett College, and local government and businesses.

"Healthcare — What It's All About" is the title of the workshop to be presented by Louis J. Hamel Jr., a 15year veteran of the insurance industry, on Saturday, May 15, from 2 to 3 p.m.

He serves as the health insurance specialist and manages the group health department of Donohue-Hart & Associates. He currently oversees over $14 million in health insurance business.

Beverley Williams, consultant and professional speaker, will lead a workshop that day from 3 to 4 p.m. titled "Let's Get Growing — Retooling Your Organization." Williams will provide information, ideas, and steps to be taken in "jumpstarting" growth at a business.

For more information on the conference or to register for workshops or presentations, persons may contact conference co-chairs Suzanne Nicolas (301-501-0046) or Arlene Murray (301-616-2411).

Scrap Tire Event Will Not Be Held; Alternative Drop-Off Sites Available

The local Citizen Scrap Tire Drop-Off Event will not be held during Fiscal Year 2011, recycling coordinator Kim Madigan, Garrett County Solid Waste and Recycling Division, announced yesterday.

The event is usually sponsored by the Maryland Environmental Service and funded through the Maryland Department of the Environment's Scrap Tire Fund.

Madigan did note, however, that her division will continue to search for alternative funding to host a scrap tire event.

"The public will be notified if such an event can be scheduled in the future," she said. "At this time, we would like to notify the businesses and residents of Garrett County, on several ways to dispose of or recycle unwanted scrap tires."

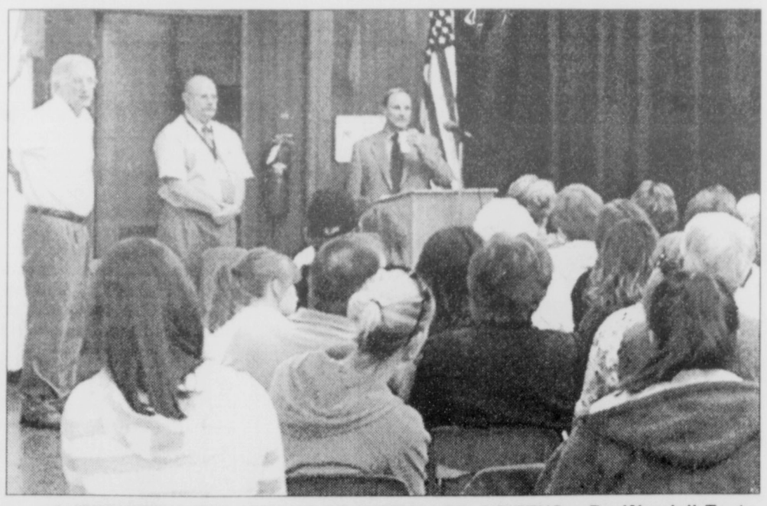
She noted that it is important to dispose of tires at a licensed location such as the Garrett County Landfill, Perry's Solid Waste & Disposal, or at a local tire retailer.

"These tires are safely collected and stored until being hauled to a disposal or recycling facility," Madigan said. "Each of these locations will accept tires of all sizes with or without a wheel for a disposal fee."

The coordinator added that residents can help reduce scrap tire problems by maintaining tire pressure at proper inflation levels to conserve fuel and extend the life of tires, buying retreaded tires when possible, and reporting any illegal dumping of tires to MDE or local authorities.

"Illegal dumping of scrap tires is a problem that occurs throughout Garrett County," Madigan said. "These scrap tires can become stockpiles that are unsightly, pose a fire hazard, and provide breeding grounds for mosquitoes and vectors. Illegal scrap tire stockpiles can also be costly to taxpayers and private property owners to clean up."

For additional information on the proper disposal of tires in Garrett County, persons may call Madigan at 301-387-0322.



SUPERINTENDENT SPEAKS TO KITZMILLER CITIZENS – Dr. Wendell Teets, Garrett County superintendent of schools, addressed over 90 parents and other citizens at a public meeting held in Kitzmiller last Thursday. The meeting was held to inform the community of the board of education's budget shortfalls and pending decisions that will be required to address the shortage. Dr. Teets presented details of the financial situation and answered questions from the audience. He explained that state aid cuts resulting from an increase in the county wealth index and a declining student enrollment, in conjunction with the expiration of state legislation referred to as the "Hold Harmless Act," were sighted as contributing to the budget shortfall. The citizens of the community were reassured that there have as yet been no board decisions regarding consolidations or school closings, and that all decisions will be made "in the best interest of all students in the county school system." Board measures to resolve the budget issues can be expected during the first half of the 2010/11 school year. Pictured above from left, standing, are Kitzmiller mayor Jim Browning, Kitzmiller Elementary School principal Richard Stevens, and Dr. Teets.

BOE Meeting To Be Held AT SMS Tuesday, May 11

The Garrett County Board of Education will hold its regular monthly meeting next Tuesday, May 11, beginning at 3:45 p.m. in the Southern Middle School cafeteria.

Following public comment at 4:15, the board will meet with the Southern and Northern high school student councils. The board will then meet in closed executive session until 5:45 p.m.

Public agenda items include action of Board Policy 432.0, Garrett County Students Who May Attend Designated Allegany County Schools, and Race to the Top. Information items will include Administrative Procedure 432.1, Garrett County Students Who May Attend Designated Allegany County Schools, HSA graduation requirement update, FY 2011 Budget, and Stanford (SAT) 10 Testing, Grade 2. The 4th annual Charlie Strauss Earth Day Essay Contest winners will be recognized.

Time is also set aside at 7 p.m. for public comment and participation on any topic. The public is invited to attend.

Suspicious Fire Involving Vehicle Being Investigated

Personnel from the Maryland State Fire Marshal's Office are investigating a fire involving a vehicle that occurred last Thursday evening near Deep Creek Lake.

According to a report from investigator Jamie Rodeheaver, the Deep Creek Volunteer Fire Company was summoned to the 20200 block of Garrett Highway (U.S. Rt. 219) at 8 p.m. after a passerby saw a 1979 Ford F-250 pickup in flames. The vehicle was owned by Crystal Waters Marina.

It took about five minutes for firefighters to bring the blaze under control. Damages were estimated to be $2,000.

According to Rodeheaver's report, the fire originated in the passenger compartment of the vehicle, but the cause remains under investigation. Assisting with the case are the Maryland State Police. Rodeheaver asks that anyone with information about the incident telephone the McHenry office of the MSFM at 301-387-0482.

MSP Seeking Leads Into Burglary/Theft

The Maryland State Police at the McHenry Barrack are asking for leads into a burglary/theft that happened sometime between April 30 and May 5 at Folk's Paint and Glass, located at 11157 National Pike in Grantsville.

It was reported that unknown suspect(s) broke into an enclosed box trailer and stole several electric power tools.

Anyone with information or further details is asked to call Tfc. D. Arnold at 301-387-1101. Callers may remain anonymous.

Oakland Man Flown To Ruby After MV Accident

An Oakland man was flown to Ruby Memorial Hospital on Wednesday around 1:45 p.m., stemming from a motor vehicle accident. It was reported that he failed to negotiate a curve, traveled off the roadway, and struck a tree.

Eighteen-year-old Kody Lewis was driving a '97 Ford Mustang northbound on Rt. 495 near Dry Run Rd. when the mishap occurred. Maryland State Police, Bittinger Volunteer Fire Department, Northern Rescue Squad, and Health Net Helicopter responded to the scene. No charges were filed by MSP.

Further details of Lewis's injuries were not received.

It's a No-Brainer...

Among the decisions that will be made by the Garrett County Board of Education elected board members next Tuesday will be whether or not to "close the border" in the northeastern area of the county to Garrett County youth who attend public schools in Allegany County. While it is recognized that this decision will cause upheaval and inconvenience for some families, it is hoped that the board will vote to follow the recommendation of school superintendent Dr. Wendell Teets, which is to close the border and thus gradually move those children into the Garrett County school system.

The sheer numbers strongly justify the position of Dr. Teets, particularly with the current trend of extensive agency budget slashing that will likely continue for years to come. Tough decisions must be made and priorities set by all agencies. It is the job of Dr. Teets to always do what is in the best interest of the majority of Garrett County school students, and there can be no clearer example of this than the border issue.

A total of 48 Garrett County students, or slightly over 1% of the county student population of approximately 4,400, are currently attending school in Allegany County. Their attendance there is primarily a matter of convenience/distance to them and their parents, many of whom also work in Allegany County. Yet, in several other areas of the county where crossing the border is not permitted (e.g., Bloomington, Kitzmiller), convenience is also a problem with which families simply must deal. Garrett County is a huge county and has only two high schools, so many students and parents in outlying areas must travel a significant distance to get to and from their schools, particularly if the parents work outside the county.

The more striking number is the amount of money that will ultimately be saved by closing the northeastern border – approximately $300,000 per year. Continuing the math, that means our county is paying an additional $6,250 per student (of the 48) by allowing them to attend school in Allegany County. Meanwhile, the board has already begun eliminating staff/faculty positions in our schools, has no additional funds for new textbooks and technology equipment, and is facing various other cuts. An additional $300,000 would go a long way in addressing many of these needs and shortfalls.

The plan will be phased in, which means that local students who are currently in grades 6 through 12 in Allegany County will be permitted to stay there until they graduate. That is more than fair, and frankly, it should apply only to students in grades 9 through 12.

Again, this is nothing more than a matter of convenience – very expensive convenience – to a small number of families. School quality is not a valid argument, as Garrett County schools consistently rank higher than those in Allegany County.

This decision is an absolute no-brainer, yet it will be interesting to see how much of a role politics plays in the vote.

To the Editor:

As a direct result of your timely editorial regarding the Dove Center efforts to meet a deadline of May 17, we immediately received three new donations. No doubt we will have received more by the time this is published. This is important, because every donation received from local sources before May 17 will increase the amount we can ask for in a major grant we are seeking to build a new Dove shelter and offices.

My first experience with the Dove Center (2006) was as a shelter volunteer covering the 24-hour help line. That's when I learned how urgently this non-profit agency needs more space to accommodate the immediate needs of abused and sexually violated women. On one occasion, Dove had to house 15 victims in a shelter with six beds, one pullout sofa, and only one bathroom. While this was an unusual emergency situation, the demand for the Dove's services often exceeds our capacity. That's why we launched this capital campaign to build a new shelter and offices.

The generosity of our community-spirited donors demonstrates that, as a community, we do recognize the reality of domestic violence. We care enough to want to break the cycle of abuse for a better future for the victims and their children. By extension, we want to improve the lives of everyone in our community.

Thank you for the timely editorial.

Sherry Bradshaw
Accident

To the Editor:

Thank you for your graceful and supportive editorial on behalf of our effort to build a new Dove Center facility.

The compassion, support, and generosity regarding this effort are deeply appreciated. As we strive to provide the resources for healthy individual and family structure, we have been shown how important this issue is to the community as a whole.

The next 10 days are crucial in Dove's capital campaign. Every donation we receive by May 17 can be counted in our application for a major grant. Each dollar we raise locally will stay in Garrett County, as well as increase the size of the grant we can apply for.

Donations can be in the form of cash, pledges, or in-kind contributions of items that can be used in the construction of the project. We can also accept a gift of stock through Robert Sharps of PrimeVest Investment Center.

When completed, our new facility will house the Dove's expanded domestic violence and homeless shelter for women and children and its counseling and administrative offices. As your editorial noted, "The need is absolutely real and the center's efforts are priceless."

To date, more than 150 Garrett County residents have contributed to this capital campaign. Anyone who would like to contact us or contribute may reach us at: Dove Center Capital Campaign, P.O. Box 402, Oakland, MD 21550.

Sincerely,
Dorothy Andreas Tuel
Chair, Dove Board

To the Editor:

Every issue of The Republican features many pages describing activities staffed by unpaid volunteers from the community. If someone added up the annual dollar value of free work contributed by Garrett County volunteers, the total would likely dwarf the county's official budget.

Because of our belief in power of local volunteers, we especially appreciated your editorial "Grant Deadline Near..." in the April 29 issue. Your editorial gave most welcome support to the volunteers, as well as the professional staff members and donors, who are working to create a new shelter and offices for the Dove Center.

Volunteers have played a leading role in propelling the Dove Center campaign. Early on, the Dove board established a building committee, with volunteer members from the community and key professional staff from the center. This committee has completed the early phases of its task – site selection and purchase of a property, preliminary designs, and the budget for the project. Meanwhile, a capital campaign committee, again largely staffed with volunteers, has been working to achieve an ambitious goal of local fundraising.

All this effort is now approaching a key milestone – May 17. Any donation or pledge in cash or in-kind before that deadline can be counted in Dove's application for significant grant to fund the project. The more we raise locally, the larger the grant we can apply for.

All of us committed to the success of this project – volunteers, professional staff, and donors – appreciate The Republican's continuing support.

Fred and Nancy Harmon
McHenry

To the Editor:

"Grant Deadline Near," your editorial of April 29 in support of the Dove Center's capital campaign and efforts to build a new facility, was right on the mark.

It's been my privilege to serve on the board of directors of the Dove Center since November 2007. The board members and the staff are among the finest people I've ever known, and working with them has been rewarding in countless ways.

The proposed new facility will put shelter for victims, offices for staff and counselors, and storage under one roof.

More important, though, the facility will be much more than a building. It will be a haven for victims of violence, abuse, and assault and their children (often victims themselves), a place where they can recover and heal from the worst moments of their lives and embark on a brighter, safer future.

The Dove Center is seeking grants to help defray the costs of building a facility in which victims can receive the security, counseling, and peace they need and deserve.

The deadline for grant applications is May 17. Grantors tend to look favorably on institutions that have financial support from the community they serve. That support may come in the form of cash contributions, gifts of securities, and in-kind donations of materials, furnishings, appliances, and the like.

With everybody's help, the dream of a new Dove Center facility can become a reality for Garrett County.

Sincerely,
Jan Finkel

To the Editor:

On behalf of the County United Way board members, our community partners, and the many citizens who are served each and every day, I would like to extend our thanks and appreciation to the board and sponsors of the Mountain Maryland Marathon, participants, and volunteers for designating the 5-K race for the benefit of United Way. It was a great event with a record number of runners for the various races that topped nearly 600, and a tremendous weekend for the community that attracted visitors from across the nation.

The donations from this event will assist in continuing our mission of providing programs for our children to succeed in school, assisting families in becoming financially stable while lending a hand in time of crisis, and providing opportunities for a healthier life style.

Thank you for improving the lives of so many with your participation.

To the Editor:

Last week this paper published a synopsis of Constellation Energy's industrial wind turbine construction progress report. Richard Wagner reported that construction at the Eagle Rock site is going "well." Here is the rest of the story.

In their approximate two months of work, Constellation Energy has been ordered to stop work by the Maryland Department of the Environment for a total of eight days, for violation of their sediment control plan. It appears that the silt fencing was improperly installed, causing untold thousands of gallons to pour below. Constellation offered the following excuses for failure: rapid thaw of the large snowpack and the contractor's inability to properly install a super-silt fence due to "a large amount of loose [rock] and bedrock."

How is it that Constellation, their engineers, architects, surveyors, and contractors were unaware that Eagle Rock is composed of bedrock? If they cannot safely install a silt fence, how are they qualified to erect giant wind turbines?

Constellation was able to negotiate their MDE fine of $18,100 down to $12,670 and to avoid any admission of wrongdoing. During negotiations, Constellation assured MDE of future compliance, although, alas, another complaint is currently pending.

Watch out below, Deer Park, Mountain Lake, etc.!

With Bailouts and Tenure for All

by Ashley Walters

The answer to financial woes is not to spend more, but to save and invest. No reasonable person with large debts would continue to spend money he doesn't have. So why does our government continue to do so?

There is no doubt our economy is in trouble. Our nation's leaders are moving toward centralization and the current recession shows trends similar to the Great Depression. For example, the passage of countless stimulus packages by both Republicans and Democrats drive us deeper into debt and are reminiscent of President Roosevelt's New Deal policies.

One particularly alarming goal of President Obama's American Recovery and Reinvestment Act of 2009 is his plan for education. He wants to spend $100 billion to revamp schools, lower dropout rates, and be competitive in a global economy. While these are noble goals, spending more money is not the solution.

Jay Greene, author of Education Myths, points out, "If money were the solution, the problem would be solved. We've doubled per-pupil spending and schools aren't better." National graduation rates and achievement scores are flat. Spending on education has increased more than 100 percent since 1971. More money hasn't helped American kids. So how can we improve education without unnecessary spending?

The most influential asset to a good education is good teachers. We are blessed with many dedicated, motivated, and hard-working teachers, but unfortunately, as in any profession, there are some who are lazy or incompetent. Because of strict and complicated tenure policies, these few teachers who are doing a poor job are nearly impossible to fire. The costs to remove an incompetent teacher are astronomical and not worth time, money, or energy to school boards. Nancy Spence, Republican senator from Colorado, says, "Short of child abuse, tenured teachers are almost guaranteed to keep their jobs." There are two major economic problems with tenure: job security and the reduction of competition in the industry.

Job security is intended to reduce unemployment and protect workers, but can sometimes have the opposite effect. An article in The Economist said, "Firing is such a costly headache, that many prefer not to hire in the first place." Although the "customers" of public schools are a captive audience, our system needs to be competitive to succeed. Job security laws make it risky and expensive to hire workers. When labor is expensive, less is demanded, increasing unemployment.

Economist Thomas Sowell says, "Job security policies save jobs of existing workers at the cost of reducing flexibility and efficiency of the economy as a whole." In the case of tenure, it is not hiring that causes a problem, but the cost to fire teachers who aren't performing well.

Since the cost of firing incompetent teachers is so high, there are fewer spots available for new teachers. With the labyrinth of regulations to fire a tenured teacher, competition in the system is reduced and those few unproductive teachers are able to keep their jobs longer. By changing the tenure structure, the incompetent teachers can be fired and others will have a chance to provide our students with a great education. Eliminating the problem teachers will make the public school system even more efficient and effective in its goal to provide all with an excellent education.

The most effective education reform is not to spend more money; this only increases our nation's debt and is a heavy financial burden on taxpayers. Making tenure more difficult to achieve – by increasing performance reviews by administrators in classrooms, for example – would allow school boards to better regulate who holds a teaching position. Boards could fire poor-performance teachers more easily and without unnecessary costs. By paying teachers based on performance and dedication rather than seniority, we can increase motivation, help change the system, and ultimately provide brighter futures for our students.

To the Editor:

Did you know that the Garrett County commissioners have allowed big industrial wind power projects to begin in Garrett County? The devastation can be viewed at Constellation Energy's destruction sites on Eagle Rock and King Wildesen roads, and at Roth Rock above Silver Lake, courtesy of Synergics LLC.

Did you know that the 51 turbines planned for erection are more than 400 feet tall, dwarfing the Statue of Liberty and most of the buildings in Baltimore? Perched atop the razed ridge of Backbone Mountain, they will dominate the landscape for many miles.

Did you know that there are six projected industrial wind power plants slated for Garrett County? If installed as planned, these power plants will cut through the heart of the county.

Did you know that the Maryland legislature removed the review process in place for these wind power plants (under 70 megawatts and land-based), leaving all regulation to local government? Perhaps you do know that, aside from the Deep Creek Lake area and within several municipalities, there are virtually no zoning or safety setbacks in Garrett County.

Lastly, are you aware that there is no credible study which shows that industrial wind turbines have reduced the use of fossil fuels or emissions of greenhouse gases? One need only to observe the situation in Denmark or Germany to see through the false claims of the Big Wind promoters.

Save Western Maryland was recently formed by several Garrett County residents out of concern for the impacts of big industrial wind. We are particularly focused on citizen safety, clean water, wildlife, and historic and cultural issues. An attorney with experience representing communities threatened by Big Wind has been retained; but it is costly. Therefore, we are seeking financial and other support. Please contact us at www.savewesternmaryland.us if you share our concerns.

Yours truly,
Eric Robison

To the Editor:

Constellation Energy has blanketed Garrett County with a letter from its public relations department to make people here think warm and fuzzy thoughts about massive wind technology while the company proceeds to rape Backbone Mountain, exploit the people and resources nearby, and make residents think its "renewable" wind project, variously known as Clipper/Constellation, is a public service – when it's really an energy bunco scheme to generate a massive tax shelter for the company. This mailer was no doubt sent as damage control in the wake of a poignant photograph portraying Melissa Carrico's grandson standing in front of the land Constellation had clearcut next to her property at Eagle Rock.

Nothing illustrates the ravages of Appalachia better than this photo, which could have been taken in 1880, 1930, or 2010 – an Appalachia forged by exploitative distant capital and assisted by the dimwittery and moral vacuity of the county commissioners, who continue to demonstrate they know the cost of very little and the value of nothing.

Constellation's promises of jobs and revenues are unsecured, since the company understands there's no penalty for lying and for telling half-truths. The Constellation wind project itself – and its clearcutting – will extend six miles south down the ridge, where it will likely meet up with another wind bunco scheme from Synergics at Roth Rock. If this happens, Maryland's highest peak should then be renamed Metal Mountain, the centerpiece of the state's wind amusement arcade.

Wind technology in Maryland can neither be clean nor green, given the way its relentless volatility must be entangled with conventional generators, mostly fossil-fired. It's the dumbest modern-energy idea imaginable. All things being equal, the more wind, the more coal; the more wind, the higher the utility bills.

Garrett County deserves better than this latest bilge from Constellation to make people think its pigs can fly, or that wind is "alternate energy." The many documented problems that attend such wind installations – noise, flickering shadows, property devaluations, and the likely loss of vulnerable wildlife, including reduced hunting opportunities – are not mentioned by the company's PR department. How convenient.

Do consider contributing to a legal fight now being contemplated by affected residents to make this awful project go away. Suggest that Constellation take its 415-foot turbines and stick them – in the Chesapeake Bay, the state's richest wind resource. And take a few minutes to call, giving the company an earful about wind and where the moon don't shine.

To the Editor:

The Maryland State Family Child Care Association (MSFCCA) is proud to announce that Governor Martin O'Malley has once again issued a proclamation for Provider Appreciation Day, which will be celebrated this Friday, May 7, 2010.

There are currently 8,471 registered family child care providers in Maryland, caring for approximately 62,820 children from birth to age 12. Family child care providers can care for up to eight children in their home with no more than two children under 2 years old.

SAVAGE FAMILY TO PERFORM AT REVIVAL – Grace Bible Church, 28099 Garrett Highway, Accident, will hold revival services Sunday, May 9, through Wednesday, May 12, at 7:30 p.m. each day. Brother Johnny "The Baptist" Campbell will be featured during the event. Also scheduled is the Savage Family, pictured. The group will perform this Sunday. For more information or to request transportation, persons may call Pastor Larry Glotfelty at 301-746-8635.

Maryland has one of the nation's strictest standards for child care, and it shows in the quality of care that children receive. The Maryland State Department of Education released data in March that showed that 74% of children coming out of family child care are assessed as fully ready for kindergarten. This is because of family child care providers' commitment to professional development.

Family child care providers in Maryland provide a very nurturing and educational program within their homes. They work an average of 60 hours per week, traditional and non-traditional hours, for very little pay. They recognize the importance of their work with children and strive to ensure that every child in their care grows up to become a caring, happy, and successful member of our society.

Please join MSFCCA in recognizing its commitment to children and their families.

If you have any questions, please contact me, Donna Fowler, at 443-742-8403 or online at harvestingminds@comcast.net.

To the Editor:

I wanted to recognize the incredible teamwork that our Southern High School staff, students, and Garrett County school bus drivers displayed during adversity last week following the mercury spill at the school.

As a parent and citizen, it is to be admired. No one realizes the details that are involved until they are part of the experience. Yet, without hesitation, they were ready and willing to work through circumstances beyond their control.

I am most grateful and proud to see that this is the community of people who serve our children as they gain an education. May no one go unnoticed.

I do want to recognize an often "unsung hero," Kayla Cathell. Like many secretaries, she is the glue that holds the school together. Thank you, Kayla.

It is with warm appreciation that I say thank you on behalf of all parents to every bus driver, teacher, custodian, food technician, administrative staff members, and all others involved. We are very fortunate to have you in our children's lives.

Sincerely yours,
Traci Royce

To the Editor:

My wife and I had the privilege to attend the Maryland Chamber of Commerce 2010 annual membership meeting and Business Hall of Fame awards dinner in Linthicum on April 28. Our primary reason for attending was that my cousin, business partner, and good friend Karen Myers was one of three individuals to be named to the Business Hall of Fame.

We are all very proud of Karen for receiving this award, and her acceptance speech was one that that any Garrett County resident would have been proud of. I think her opening words were, "Not bad for a country girl."

The reason for my letter to you though is to let the citizens of Garrett County know what a great job our own chamber of commerce is doing. Keeping in mind that this is a statewide chamber of commerce with members from all over the state of Maryland, I was really impressed by Garrett County's dominance of the event.

First of all, when we arrived at the dinner there were four displays in the event area, three of which were Garrett County related. When we sat down for dinner, Karen had the biggest cheering section on the floor, with four large tables of people from Garrett County, including several Garrett chamber board members and local government personnel, all there to support Karen, but also to help get the word out about this beautiful area we all call home.

In addition to all this, when the dinner was over and we proceeded to leave, each person in attendance was given a gift bag. To my surprise, in this bag there were several more pieces of Garrett County related items than of any other. As I looked through the bag and saw hundreds of people who haven't even heard of Garrett County also receive the gift bags, I could only shake my head and say, "What a great group of people we have working at the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce."

Sincerely,
Larry Sisler

To the Editor:

Garrett Trails will hold its annual fundraiser, "A Taste of Garrett County," at the Wisp Resort on May 17. This year Garrett Trails has a second more adventurous activity scheduled for 5:30, just prior to the doors opening for dinner. That activity is the "Race Up the Face," perhaps the world's most difficult 400-meter foot race.

Upon hearing of this event, many persons have scratched their heads and exclaimed, "Why?" To answer the question, the committee planning the event put together a "Top 10" list of why someone would want to race up the Face. Here they are in reverse order: 10) The view is great from the top; 9) You won't break any bones racing up the Face; 8) Some people jump in Deep Creek Lake in February for thrills; 7) Support Garrett Trails; 6) You will have bragging rights of having competed in the "World's Toughest 400-Meter Race"; 5) If you get sponsors, you can earn prizes; 4) Northern Rescue Squad is located at the bottom; 3) Burn calories before going to "A Taste of Garrett County"; 2) You don't like standing in lift lines; and (drum roll, please); the #1 reason you will want to race up the Face is: You don't have to bend over to smell the grass.

The race has a $5 registration fee. No pre-registration is required, but participants are encouraged to sign up sponsors. Prizes will be given at the $25, $50, and $100 levels. The participant with the most sponsors will also receive a $75 gift certificate to Savage River Lodge. The fastest male and female, as well as the youngest and oldest competitors, will each be awarded a Garrett Trails coffee mug, free admission to "A Taste of Garrett County," and bragging rights for the rest of their lives.

Persons interested in signing up for the event may pick up applications at the AdventureSports Center International (ASCI), Savage River Lodge, the Adventure Sports Institute at Garrett College, Think Outside, or High Mountain Sports. The application may also be downloaded at www.garretttrails.org.

I hope to see a lot of you at starting line on Monday, May 17.

This legacy of outdoor fun extended to his many grandchildren, great-grandchildren, and great-great-grandchildren. Some of his last words were, "We always had such good times at the lake."

Terry will be interred next to his sweetheart Ann on Saturday, June 12, at 11 a.m., in Monongahela Cemetery, Monongahela, Pa.

In lieu of flowers, he requested that donations be made to the Leukemia Society in memory of Ann.

THOROUGHLY MODERN MILLIE will be presented by the students of Northern Garrett High School on Thursday through Saturday, May 6 through 8, beginning at 7 p.m. each evening in the school cafetorium. Tickets will be $5 for students and $8 for adults. The musical is set in 1922, when women had won the right to vote through the recent successful women's suffrage movement. With that right, "they voted to raise their skirts, bob their hair, wear makeup, and take on a more progressive attitude – to break with old traditions – in other words, to become thoroughly modern," a spokesperson said. Pictured above, from left, are students Sydney Holtschneider, Trace Livengood, Madi Sines, Zack Merrill, Jaymes Kelly, Becca Engle, Jenna Duckworth, and Derek Broadwater. For ticket information, persons may call 301-746-8668 between 8 a.m. and 3:30 p.m. See story for details.

MOUNTAIN ANTHEMS TO SING – The Mountain Anthems, a Christian a cappella group, will present a concert at St. Mark's Lutheran Church on Sunday, May 9, at 6:30 p.m. The public is welcome to attend. There will be a freewill offering collected to offset the choir's costs. The group, which will sing a number of familiar hymns and other musical works, is performing at several local sites this weekend. St. Mark's is located in Oakland at the corner of Second and Center streets.

The Arts

LAURA STUTZMAN

The Garrett Lakes Arts Festival (GLAF) has announced that it will continue its tradition of offering summer classes for students interested in pursuing singing or art.

The Voice Clinic will be offered at St. Matthew's Episcopal Church in Oakland, and the Art Workshop will be taught at Garrett College in McHenry. The Voice Clinic, taught by Elizabeth Wotring-Nelson, will run daily Monday, June 21, through Friday, June 25, from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Students who will be entering 7th grade through graduating seniors are eligible to take the course.

Wotring-Nelson is an area private voice instructor with a bachelor of arts degree in church music. She also holds a master's degree in musical theatre performance from the Boston Conservatory. She is active in Theatre on the Lake (TOTL).

The Young Artists' Workshop, taught by Laura Stutzman, will run daily Monday, July 5, through Friday, July 9, from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Students in middle school and high school are welcome to register for this workshop. The registration fee includes the cost of supplies.

Stutzman is well-known for her illustrations in children's books and work for varied clients. She is a graduate of the Art Institute of Pittsburgh, with a degree in visual communications.

The cost is $100 for each week-long session. Scholarships are available. Applications are due by Friday, May 28, and there will be no refunds after June 21.

These classes are limited, and a minimum enrollment is required. To register or receive more information, persons may call the GLAF office at 301-387-3082, or register online at www.artsandentertainment.org .

GLAF's educational programs in the arts are made possible in part by a donation from the Howard and Audrey Naylor Family Trust.

Season sponsors of Garrett Lakes Arts Festival are First United Trust & Investments, Howard and Audrey Naylor Family Trust, Jim O'Connell and Connie Leary, Sincell Publishing Company, and Wisp Resort, with additional funding from the Garrett County Arts Council, the Maryland State Arts Council, and Pennsylvania Performing Arts on Tour, a program developed and funded by the Heinz Endowments.

GC Arts Council To Host First Member Show

Local artists will have the opportunity to submit their work for consideration for an exhibit in the Backroom of the Gallery Shop in downtown Oakland. The Garrett County Arts Council will be accepting entries for its first-ever member juried show.

A variety of work will be highlighted in the exhibit that will be on display from June 5 through July 10. Any GCAC member is eligible to submit an original two-dimensional, non-photographic work. Entries will be accepted from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Tuesday, June 1, only.

This exhibit will give area residents the chance to showcase their work, according to Karen Reckner, executive director of the arts council. There is no requirement to be a current exhibiting artist. Any member in good standing is invited to participate.

There are size restrictions, work must have been completed in the past two years, and it should be available for sale. The entry fee is $10.

Jurors for the show will be Bob Corrigan and Jean Barnes Downs. Corrigan is a watercolorist from Everett, Pa. He recently branched out into abstract mixed media paintings, Reckner noted, and has held numerous one-person and group shows in the tri-state area.

Barnes Downs is an experienced watercolorist, currently working in printmaking. She has juried many exhibits, and has taught numerous workshops in various media. She has a bachelor of fine arts degree in art, and resides in Cumberland.

During the month of June, visitors to the Gallery Shop will be able to vote for a "People's Choice" work. The winning piece, along with a first, second, third, honorable mention, and a Best of Show work will be announced during a reception and annual membership meeting at the end of June. Prize monies have been donated by various local businesses and individuals, Reckner said.

For more information and entry guidelines, persons may contact GCAC at 301-334-6580.

Spring Musical Slated At NHS

The students of Northern High School will present the musical Thoroughly Modern Millie from Thursday, May 6 through Saturday, May 8, at 7 p.m. each evening in the school cafetorium. Tickets will be $5 for students and $8 for adults.

Directed by English and theatre teacher Nathan Marshall and 11th-grade student Jennifer Shaffer, the cast also includes Zack Lee, Talan Garner, Devin Francillon, Taylor Nicklin, Lake Sherrard, Alexandria Glotfelty, Becca Glotfelty, Sarah Glotfelty, Jordan Seaman, Blair Upole, Zach Merrill, Derek Broadwater, Kerri Darby, and Laura Schroyer.

Thoroughly Modern Millie is a great vehicle for this year's high school performers," Marshall said. "We have a very talented group, particularly our freshmen. They have made their characters enjoyable and have had a lot of fun with this upbeat score."

Working with Marshall in this production are Duane Salisbury, music director; Dylan Humberson, stage manager; and Bethany Sines, tap dance instructor.

More than 50 students are serving in various capacities, including painting and building sets, publicizing the play, selling tickets, and costuming.

"Losing so many school days in February certainly set us back," said co-director Shaffer. "But everyone has been putting in extra time required to make this a top-notch production. The Northern Garrett spring musical is becoming a time-honored tradition of excellence, and everyone involved knows how to set the bar high."

A 1967 movie by the same name was directed by George Roy Hill and featured Julie Andrews with co-stars Mary Tyler Moore and Carol Channing. In 2002, story was developed for the Broadway stage.

The musical is set in 1922, when the women's suffrage movement helped women to break with old traditions and become "thoroughly modern."

by Eve Ensler

"When we think of war," Ensler writes in the introduction to her published play, "we think of it as something that happens to men." The focus is on bombs and the immediate destruction that they wreak. Little media attention or conscious thought on the part of people living in other countries is focused on the aftermath of war. "But after the bombing," Ensler continues, "that's when the real war begins."

Farming On The Mountaintop

Dairy Grazing Meeting Slated

A dairy grazing meeting will be held on Tuesday, May 11, at Swan Meadow School beginning at 7 p.m., and will address ways farmers in other parts of the country are utilizing pasture as part of their feed source to keep costs in line. The school is located along Route 219 south of Oakland. Several speakers are scheduled to make presentations at the meeting.

"While milk prices are not at an all-time low, dairy profitability is at or below the breakeven price for many producers," said Willie Lantz, extension educator, agriculture and natural resources for the Garrett County office of the University of Maryland Extension. "High farm input prices are causing slim profit margins. While dairies in many areas of the county have gone completely to confinement operations, many operations in our area still utilize pasture for their herds. Dairies that most fully utilize their pasture resources can cut cost while producing quality milk and having fewer health problems."

Myron Martin, a dairy producer from Boonsboro, will share his experience with rotational grazing. Martin also works with a group of grazers and University of Maryland Extension agents in central Maryland who share ideas.

"Myron operates a traditional-type dairy farm, growing winter crops and feeding a TMR, but utilizes pasture to a max," Lantz said.

Joe Horner, beef and dairy economist extension associate with the University of Missouri and representing Dairy Farmers of America's dairy grazing services, will present "Emergence of new dairy grazing systems in the U.S." and "How DFA's new dairy grazing services unit can help." He plans to work with DFA to help farmers expand their grazing opportunities.

Phil Wicks is manager of the North American sales for Livestock Improvement Company, a New Zealand farmer-owned semen company. He will discuss the New Zealand style of grass-based dairy production and dairy genetics.

NHS Varsity Baseball Team Now 11-7 After Two Victories; JV Team Is 13-2

The Northern High School varsity baseball team kept Bishop Walsh at bay last Saturday in a 6-4 win with aid from starter Steven Holtschneider's sixth inning relief pitching. The Huskies collected another win to boost their record to 11-7 overall and 9-6 in the Appalachian Mountain Athletic Conference when they broke open with a 10-run third inning in Tuesday's game against visiting Fort Hill, winning 14-9.

The Northern jayvee team also boosted its record, 13-2, with three victories in a row against Allegany, 9-2, Turkeyfoot, 28-0, and Southern, 6-4, this past week.

In the first varsity contest, the score was tied 1-1 after the Spartans posted the first run of the game in the first inning. The Huskies matched it, and then gained two more runs each in the second and third innings to lead 5-1 after three innings. Bishop Walsh added one in the fourth, but Northern matched it with one to keep a wide margin. The Spartans got within two runs in the fifth inning, but pitching on both sides kept anyone else from scoring the rest of the game.

Holtschneider allowed no hits and struck out three over the sixth and seventh innings to earn the save for Northern. Cody Rodeheaver had two singles, and drove in a run in the first inning, while Justin Shaw finished with two singles and an RBI. Alex Smith and Cody Humberson each aided with an RBI single.

Bishop Walsh was led by Connor O'Rourke, who posted an RBI double in the first inning and added another double and a single. Nick Cathell had a 2-run base hit in the fifth, and Ryan Ross collected an RBI double in the fourth. Aaron O'Rourke finished with a double in the loss.

Northern led 2-1 after the first inning, but then broke open with 10 runs in the third to get comfortable in Tuesday's game against Fort Hill. The Sentinels picked it up in the fourth inning with four runs, and then added one in the fifth and three more in the seventh. Northern's final runs came in the fifth and sixth, one run each.

Rodeheaver hit a 3-run homer in the third and also hit a pair of RBI singles to lead the Huskies. Teddy Linton had two singles, while Corbyn Browne hit two singles and knocked in two runs in the first. Cody Humberson doubled and Alex Smith finished with an RBI single in the win.

Fort Hill's Propst hit a homer in the fifth and also had a single, and Briner added two singles and two RBI for the Sentinels.

In junior varsity action this past week, the Huskies began with a 9-2 domination of Allegany last Thursday, when Jeremy Bender led with his double and single. Josh Bittinger and Aaron Broadwater each finished with an RBI single for the win. Patrick Sines pitched five innings and had two strikeouts in the win, and Jerad Fike tossed two innings in relief.

The Allegany jayvees were led by Murphy's three singles and RBI, and teammate Kimmell aided with two singles and an RBI as well, while Garcia finished with two singles.

In Friday's crushing 28-0 defeat of Turkeyfoot, Bender and Derek Rodehaver combined on a three-hitter with 10 strikeouts for Northern. Bender had seven strikeouts in three innings, and Rodeheaver had three.

Kyle Rosenberger contributed three singles and four RBI, Dan Sisler added an RBI double and a single, and Beck Sherrard hit a two-run double to go with an RBI single. Fike aided with an RBI double, and teammate Josh Mason finished with two singles and an RBI. Sines recorded a double and a single in the win.

Against the Rams last night in Oakland, Cody Rodeheaver hit a two-run home run, a single and a triple to lead the Huskies. He also went the distance on the mound to get the win, striking out seven, scattering seven hits and not walking a batter. Jeremy Bender doubled and singled for the Huskies, while Sines knocked in two runs. Fike finished it up with a single and two RBI.

Cody Sliger hit a solo home run for Southern, and Derrick Noble had two singles and an RBI.

The varsity Huskies are scheduled to host Frankfort tonight and Preston on Saturday for their final regular season game, and the junior varsity team will face Southern again on Saturday.

Rams Bring Home Three Wins, One Loss; Now 12-5, 10-4 AMAC

The varsity baseball team of Southern High School hosted three games on home turf and traveled to one this past week, bringing home three wins and one loss. The No. 2 Rams were beaten 14-8 by Preston last Thursday when the Knights rallied in the last two innings to accumulate nine runs.

Southern rectified the loss with a complete 12-6 domination of Keyser on Saturday and a 7-3 victory over Bishop Walsh on Tuesday at home, but were knocked down by Frankfort last night, 6-0, in the Appalachian Mountain Athletic Conference Championship.

The Rams didn't waste any time getting the lead in last Thursday's game against the Knights as they recorded three runs in the bottom of the first inning, and made it 5-2 in the third after Preston nabbed one run each in the second and third.

Southern added two more runs in the fourth and were answered with a run from Preston in the fifth inning for a 7-4 score. The Knights broke open in the sixth inning with five funs, while the Rams brought one more runner home in the bottom of the inning to get within two runs. Preston then posted four more runs in the seventh inning for the win.

The Rams were out-hit 12-6 by the Knights, and each team dealt with four errors.

Southern got three hits, all singles, from Bubba Scheffel, and teammate Ryan Bennett finished with a double. Jeremy Sharpless added an RBI single in the loss.

Ryan Robba sent one over the fence and added an RBI single to lead Preston. Jason Cyrus added a double and two singles, and Alex Clarkson, Ryan Cool, and Matt Clark each added a double and a single for the win.

The Rams were down 6-3 after two innings in Saturday's game against Keyser, and got within one run at the end of the third. Southern held the Tornadoes to six for the rest of the game, and recorded a six-run fifth

Lakers Hammered In Two Games By Top-Ranked Frederick Cougars

The Lakers of Garrett College met their match on their own baseball diamond last Friday when they were walloped in both ends of a doubleheader by Frederick CC, the top-ranked team in both the Maryland JUCO and the Region XX, Division II.

Both contests were halted after five innings because of the mercy rule, as the Lakers were out-scored 18-8 in the first game and 18-4 in the second.

GC pitchers were pummeled with a total of 37 hits in the two contests, giving up three home runs in the opener and four more in the second game.

Getting round-trippers for the Cougars in the first game were Alex Buccilli with a two-run blast in the first inning, Brett Moreland with a two-run homer in the fourth inning, and Jacob Mays with a solo shot, also in the fourth.

The Lakers' seven-hit effort was led by Dan Warnick, who rapped a pair of doubles and a single, and Ryan Krumlauf with two singles.

The Lakers held a brief 2-1 lead in the second game until the Cougars scored four runs in the third and ripped the game wide open with 11 runs in the top of the fourth, which is when the Cougars recorded three of their four home runs.

After Frederick's Joe Murphy hit a two-run homer in the third, Moreland got his second home run of the day with a three-run shot in the fourth, Mays followed suit with a three-run blast, and Tyler Shover tacked on a solo homer.

The Lakers were limited to just five hits by winning pitcher Mike Hnatuct. Krumlauf hit a two-run homer in the fifth, and also had a single, while Brett Martin rapped a two-run shot in the Lakers' half of the first inning.

The losses dropped the Lakers to 17-21 overall. They are slated to play in the Maryland JUCO tournament, which begins this Saturday, May 8, but no other details were received.

SHS Girls' Softball Team Falls In Two Contests; Stays Focused On Playoffs

Even though the girls' softball team of Southern High School suffered two losses in two days, with the first to Fort Hill last Thursday and the second to Allegany on Friday, the Rams are staying focused on playoffs.

The Rams were swept by the Sentinels, 6-0, and downed, 4-2, by the Campers, and were to play Northern on Monday, but the game was postponed until this Friday.

The game was scoreless through two innings of last Thursday's game until Fort Hill broke open in the third inning with three runs. Three innings later, the Sentinels posted their final three, totaling six hits to the Rams two.

Southern starter Alycia Horner struck out four, and teammates Adria Graham and Lyndsey Glotfelty both recorded a single to lead the Rams.

Cierra Miller was credited with Fort Hill's win as she struck out 15 and walked just three. Mariah James led the Sentinels' offense with her two singles.

In Friday's loss to Allegany, Southern got within one run in the bottom of the third inning for a 3-2 score. The Campers sent in one run in the first and two in the third for the lead until the Rams posted two of their own. The score remained the same throughout three innings until Allegany nabbed a run in the top of the seventh. Southern was unable to bring a runner home, ultimately securing the win for the Campers.

Brooke Spiker went 2 for 2, both singles with a run scored to lead the Rams. Horner gave up seven hits in the loss.

For Allegany, Estee Hixon finished with two hits, Beth Szymanski had three hits, and Bailey Ellsworth a pair of hits in the win. Audrey Eisentrout struck out seven, and Hayley Stankan five in the relief. They combined to allow just three hits from the Rams.

Southern is now 4-14 and 3-11 in the AMAC, and is scheduled to host Bishop Walsh tonight, and will then face county rival Northern on Friday at 4:30 p.m. in Oakland for its final regular season game.

The Rams were to play Bishop Walsh last night at home, but results were not received.

Against the Miners on Thursday, Aryne Riley and Jake Bramande had back-to-back victories in the singles matches. Riley posted an 8-0 sweep of Benji Brackett, and Bramande an 8-3 win over Brandon Rodgers. Brutus Scheffel battled it out on the courts, but fell to Nathan Brackett, 9-7.

Riley and Bramande kept pace with Nathan Haberlein and Jacob Bittner in the doubles matches, but were defeated 9-8. Nixon Malcolm and A.J. Storck had a better time of it with their 8-2 doubles win over Aaron Whiteman and Tyler Weimer.

In the girls' match, Chloe Anderson took the first and only singles match for the Rams with an 8-0 domination of Kelly Workman.

Hannah Newcomb and Alexis Harvey teamed up to defeat Sarah Robinson and Madison Rhoads, 8-1, in the doubles match for the second Southern victory.

The girls' team went on to host Fort Hill on Friday, but were unable to get any wins.

Against the Huskies on Tuesday, Cory Murphy took the No. 2 singles match with an 8-1 defeat of Dan Beitzel. Bramande blanked Ian Aiken in the third match, 8-0, and Scheffel followed with an 8-2 domination of Jeff Trautwein. Cody Murphy finished up with an 8-4 win over Kyle Herring.

Northern's Austin Doerr edged Aryne Riley, 8-6, for a singles match win.

Murphy and Bramande continued their winning streak with an 8-2 doubles victory over Doerr and Trautwein. The doubles team of Storck and Malcolm picked up the final win with an 8-1 defeat of Herring and Derrick Yoder.

In the girls' match, Erin King took the only win for the Rams in the No. 3 singles match as she edged Morgan Brosnihan, 8-6.

For the Huskies, Cara Stough and Chelsie Custer took the first two singles matches, 8-1 and 8-2, respectively, from Abby Wildesen and Paige Carr. Ashley Miller blanked Patty Sherrard, 8-0, while Jordyn Milton defeated Chloe Anderson, 8-1.

The doubles matches were both won by Northern. Stough and Custer took the first one, 8-2, over Southern's Wildesen and Carr, and Cassie Doerr and Lauren Adams battled to a 9-8 victory over Hannah Newcomb and Alexis Harvey.

The Rams and Huskies will face off in the Mtn. Lake Park Tennis Club's annual Garrett County High School Championship on Tuesday at 4 p.m.

Remembering my Mom on Mother's Day,
Almeda "Bun" Beckman
Your time on earth seemed all too brief
because I wanted you in my life forever.
And although I really miss you,
in my heart I know you are at peace.
Still, countless times throughout the day
I find myself remembering you.
Although I can't see or hear you,
I know that you are with me.
I'm so thankful for the times we shared
And the priceless memories too.
For those memories are a comfort now
When I Lovingly Remember You.
Forever In My Heart.
Love,
Sue

Happy 1st Birthday in Heaven

Wilford (Bill) Chadderton

5/9/41 to 5/22/09

Dear Bill,
I sit here and ponder how very much
I'd like to talk with you today.
There are so many things
That we didn't get to say.
I know how much you care for me
And how much I care for you.
And each time that I think of you
I know you'll miss me too.
An angel came and took you by the hand, and said
Your place was ready in Heaven, far above...
And you had to leave behind all those you dearly loved.
You had so much to live for, and you had so much to do...
It still seems impossible that God was taking you.
And though your life on Earth is past, in Heaven it starts anew,
You'll live for all eternity, just as God has promised you.
And though you have walked through Heaven's gate
We are never far apart
For every time I think of you,
You're right here, deep within my heart.

Love and Sadly Missed Always,
Charlotte, Allan, John & Bella

"When I'm talking about the North/South Corridor, I'm talking about 219 North of Interstate-68, Interstate-68, and east of Cumberland, 220 South," the director said.

He indicated that it was a perfect project for the TGCC to take on, as it represents the three counties directly affected by the project: Garrett, Allegany, and Mineral (W.Va.). Garrett County's portion of the corridor project involves 2.54 miles of Rt. 219 North, from I-68 in Grantsville to the Pennsylvania line.

"To the Greater Cumberland Committee's credit, they've made a lot of progress in elevating the awareness of this project on the federal level and even getting some pretty good support," Hinebaugh said about the group's lobbying efforts.

During a TGCC North/South Corridor Workgroup meeting, however, it was noted that those efforts would be more effective if the project were the top priority for all three counties, as well as Somerset County, Pa.

Hinebaugh said Allegany County has already made the Rt. 220 leg its top priority in the state's Consolidated Transportation Program (CTP).

"I think our top priority in the CTP is the Oakland bypass," the director said.

The TGCC, therefore, asked Hinebaugh and Moe to talk to the commissioners about changing that ranking.

"The rationale being that it's kind of hard to lobby Congress for funds to build the North/South Corridor if it isn't our top priority, particularly at the state level," Hinebaugh said.

Another rationale for the priority change is Gov. Martin O'Malley's and other state officials' lack of support for the 2.4 mile Oakland bypass.

In addition, state funding for the final phases of the Oakland project has been deferred until the economy improves. In contrast, federal money for the 219 initiative may be available.

"We're getting closer and closer to getting funding for the North/South Corridor," Hinebaugh said.

Based on those and other realities, therefore, the director said he did not think Garrett County would be "giving up anything" by designating Rt. 219 North as its top priority. He noted that the county could also come back another year and make the bypass number one again.

Gregg and others noted that if federal funding is allocated to the corridor, Maryland would only be required to give a 20 percent match for the 219 project, compared to 100 percent of the remaining cost of the bypass.

"Both projects need to be done," Edwards said.

But, he added, roads will not be built anywhere in Maryland for a long time without some sort of tax increase/revenue enhancements. But if the federal government comes through for the corridor, that project could occur in the not-too-distance future.

Edwards agreed with Hinebaugh that the county could always ask the state to list the bypass first in the CTP. The senator noted that CTPs are five-year plans, but the state changes them every year.

"In reality, does it really matter what position these are in?" Del. Beitzel asked about the two local projects. He also questioned what the down side would be in listing the bypass as number two.

Hinebaugh indicated the only negative aspect would be the public's perception that the bypass is not as important as it once was to the county.

Oakland officials, however, were concerned that if the bypass dropped on the county's priority list, it might be eliminated altogether.

Moyer said the bypass has been his number one priority since 1987. During his 24 years on the council, Moyer said he has seen projects not even on priority lists get funded and the bypass get "shoved back down." Moyer said it is important that the Oakland project remain at the top of the list.

"It's not just a personal issue," he said. "It fits into a long-term plan that we developed long ago. It's just a piece of the puzzle to grow the southern end of the county and develop and create jobs that the people expect."

Moyer indicated the change might give O'Malley and other officials an excuse to ditch the bypass altogether.

"My fear is we're going to fall right back into the basement and have to claw our way back out," Moyer said.

Hinebaugh said he understood the importance of the bypass to the town's growth and infrastructure.

"The political reality right now is the bypass isn't going anywhere," the director said. "It took a lot of work of a lot of people to get to where it is, and I'm not saying that couldn't happen again."

After much more discussion, Gregg and Holliday approved the director's request to make the 219 North project the county's top priority. Commissioner Denny Glotfelty was not able to attend the meeting.

"I'm okay with supporting the upgrading of 219 North without degrading the position of the Oakland bypass," Gregg said. "This is something that's rational and doable now. I'm suggesting that the county put its support behind the 219 North project."

Hinebaugh noted that all TGCC is looking for is a piece of correspondence from commissioners that says 219 North is Garrett County's top transportation priority.

Holliday said the Oakland bypass is a project he has supported for several years, even before he was elected commissioner. He said he would continually support the bypass.

"If it comes to the point where the state has the money to do that [project] with, I'll be there 100 percent," Holliday said. "We're not going to dump that."

Hinebaugh said his office would be there to support the project as well.

The commissioners' next public meeting is scheduled for Tuesday, May 25, at 11 a.m. at the courthouse.

Remembering our mother on Mother's Day
Hazel L. Rounds
April 4, 1931 – June 27, 2005
If Roses grow in Heaven,
Lord please pick a bunch for me,
Place them in my Mother's arms and tell her they're from me.
Tell her I love her and miss her,
and when she turns to smile, place a kiss upon her cheek and hold her for awhile.
Because remembering her is easy,
I do it every day,
but there's an ache within my heart
that will never go away.
With much love, The Baker's Dozen

Understanding the Critical Tax & Insurance Changes
We now have comprehensive healthcare reform in the United States. Rather than debate the merits of the legislative choices that were made, why not find out "What does this mean for me?"
Understand how you can benefit from the key provisions such as increased tax credits and reduced payroll tax and health insurance costs. It is critical that employers understand the requirements and be in a position to take advantage of the incentives contained in the provisions.

DEEP CREEK LAKE TWINS CELEBRATE 90TH – Twins Joseph Peck and Josephine Peck Uphole celebrated their 90th birthday on March 9 surrounded by numerous friends and relatives. The siblings were born in 1920 at a home "under" what is now Deep Creek Lake. The water filling process for the lake began in March 1925 and was expected to take six to eight months. But because of heavy rains and snow during March and April, the lake was filled and available to the public on May 26, 1925. Shortly after the twins were born, their family moved to a house located on higher ground that would later overlook the new lake. "They had a prime view of the lake as they grew up and enjoyed many of the sports that others enjoy today, such as ice skating, fishing, and boat riding," said a family spokesperson. Now painted pink, the Peck home still stands today along Rt. 219. Both Joseph and Josephine have children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

Saturday, May 1, as far as I can remember, was the hottest day in May that I have experienced. It was a perfect day to open Brenneman's Store for the season. The phone number is 301-245-4619, and it is open from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. every day. Once again, it is serving ice cream, including sundaes, milk shakes, and banana splits, plus pizza, wedgies, and a wide variety of sandwiches.

Also, the first monthly Bittinger Fire Department chicken barbecue will be held this Saturday. They will have it on the second Saturday of each month until fall comes. They open at 3 p.m. and serve until they run out. Sometimes that happens fairly early, like 6:30. They have the best barbecued chicken around.

Somehow, this Sunday kind of slipped away. I realized it was already 6 p.m., and I knew there was a Pirates game that started at 4. So I did not quite miss all of it. I did not miss anything good, because when I turned it on, the Pirates were behind 9 to 1. Then it was 9 to 3 in the bottom of the ninth. Sure enough, that 9 to 3 score held up. Of course, it is still pretty early in the season.

Bill Kolbe had to rush down to North Carolina to see an older sister in her late 70s. All her children rode down to see her, too. Luckily, Bill didn't have to make the long trip alone, because his daughter Jennifer was able to take some days off from her job. I guess his sister is still hanging in there, because they came home a couple of days ago.

While Cyndi was home alone, she reseeded her lawn. She first did it last October when it should have been done. But the weight of our unusually heavy snow crushed all of those new shoots of grass. The lawn slopes steeply down to their new house, and if we get a severe thunderstorm tonight like they are predicting, all her hard work will probably end up crammed against the house. Let's hope we only get a gentle, moderate rainfall.

I got a pleasant surprise. Claire arrived for a brief visit. She and her cousin Rob Glotfelty attended a memorial service Sunday for a classmate, Mike Miller of Grantsville, who died downstate. I don't know what kind of job he had down in the very hottest part of Maryland, but if it involved hard work outside, that can be dangerously hot. It is possible that he was a distant cousin of Robby and Claire, because my mother's mother was a Miller, and grew up in the Casselman River Valley. Of course, we have lots of Millers around here. But I know it is way too young when a person dies at 23 years old.

Thank goodness, next weekend I am expecting Caitlin and Mere to come home for summer break. I can't wait! Several months of having them here. But they are very busy with summer jobs, socialization, and a week with their father at the beach down on the Carolina shore.

In my opinion, this time of year is the most beautiful time of all – May through June. We now have apple trees in full bloom, and also lilacs. It is just perfect. Although the ups and downs in temperature are just a little extreme.

My grass grew enough to inspire Rodney to do its first mowing this season.

The annual meeting of lot owners in the Bittinger Cemetery will be held Memorial Day Monday, May 31, at 11 a.m.

Although British Petroleum is responsible for the financial cost of the oil spill clean-up, they will attempt to get many kinds of aid, including perhaps even from the military.

But I'm afraid it is like Humpty Dumpty, when "All the king's horses and all the king's men couldn't put him together again."

The cost of it cannot be measured by dollars. It could destroy a huge important industry: seafood.

Anyone who saw Forrest Gump will remember his best friend in Vietnam, who intended to go home and launch a shrimp harvesting business. And he offered a partnership to Gump. Alas, he did not have a chance to fulfill his dream, but Forrest lived it for him. If my memory is correct, among the final shots of that fine film was one of Forrest at the helm of his friend's shrimp boat.

That kind of lifestyle may have seen its last days. That oil slick is expected to hit the coastline late Friday.

The big oil firms always claim that offshore drilling is perfectly safe for our environment. Even if it is 50 miles offshore, a big spill will reach the shore. The big drill rig in the Gulf of Mexico is leaking thousands of gallons of oil every day. To prevent a spill as big as West Virginia from reaching very valuable coastal wetlands, they are now considering lighting the spill on fire. But that would only be a different kind of environmental disaster. Imagine the size of the massive black smoke clouds, containing many tons of carbon dioxide. It could wipe out everything that we have already tried to do to reduce greenhouse gas.

I don't know whether I could convert my oil burning furnace to use natural gas, or how much that would cost. I know I can't afford any kind of new "green" car.

I have become more and more convinced that it is not just Washington, D.C., that is broken. I don't see how we can get anything done in our governing system. Even with a majority in Congress, under the present rules the Democrats can't move further.

The defender of the very harsh law in Arizona allegedly said it was to solve a huge problem of too many illegal immigrants in America. They said that Arizona had no choice since the president does nothing to check the flow of illegals. I heard one person say that America has 500,000 illegals.

So are we supposed to believe that that many crossed the border in the last two years? Was it only recently that our border with Mexico is not secure? That's ridiculous. Unfortunately, the problems flow in both directions.

The Big Apple – New York City – always gets a lot of attention because it could be the center of western civilization, from the United Nations to the role as the center of worldwide financial activity. And in terms of its cultural scene, there is everything from Broadway to a major world art center, and a media center, from NBC to ABC to Fox Network.

It is one of the greatest shopping centers, and has many major landmarks, like the Statue of Liberty, the Empire State Building, Central Park, and some great universities like Columbia University and, of course, that strange place Times Square.

Although most of the time it is a very crowded place, it is pretty much a sleazy center with lots of sex-oriented theaters and other tawdry business. But it is very close to Broadway and the center of the hotel and restaurant district. Under it is the major hub of the subway system. I never spent much time in it. But now it is the center of worldwide attention since it is a site of terrorist action.

Many Americans are outraged at Arizona's new law. Many cities, states, and individuals are determined not to buy anything from Arizona.

Last weekend, we saw what was a true grassroots movement. Across the whole country, hundreds of thousands of the people just showed up at the many May Day demonstrations in most major cities in America to just say no to stupid state-based laws like the one in Arizona. They included people of all colors, race, and ethnic backgrounds.

It is not very often that I agree with California's governor Arnold Schwarzenegger, but he is not eligible to run for president because everyone knows he was foreign-born. But he announced that he will not allow any more drilling off the coast of California.

Sarah Palin said that off-coast drilling is an essential part of our national energy policy. Sadly, our president agrees with her.

The eggs of a pair of Canada geese on Beachy's pond have hatched.

Rodney Glotfelty went to Penn State to see his son installed as the student body treasurer, as well as his classmates who were also elected to office.

Torrey Poholsky and Catherine Ruday of Greensboro, N.C., visited with Lenny and Sally Poholsky over the weekend. Torrey ran in the Pittsburgh Marathon on Sunday, running the half marathon in one hour and 34 minutes – in the rain. They attended the Pittsburgh Penguins vs. Montreal playoff hockey game, with the Pens losing 3-1. They returned to Greensboro Monday, after visiting with other family members.

Emmanuel's Women of ELCA will hold their annual Mother-Daughter Banquet on Friday, May 14, at 6 p.m. All women are invited to attend. The steak dinner will cost $10 for adults, $4 for children ages 5 to 10, and nothing for children under age 5. Reservations should be made and payment given to Jenny Hady or Margie Brenneman by this Sunday, May 9.

Fundraiser Set Saturday For Colmer Infant

A benefit dance and auction will be held this Saturday, May 8, beginning at 7 p.m. at the Grantsville American Legion.

Proceeds will benefit Paige Colmer, daughter of Joe and Christine Colmer, Midland, and granddaughter of Joe and Anna Colmer, Grantsville.

Paige was born on March 1 with major medical issues. She is currently at Children's Hospital in Pittsburgh, Pa., awaiting intestine and liver transplants.

Country Express will provide the music for the dance. Food will be available at the event.

Bethel UM Church Revival Slated; Rev. Hickman To Present

Bethel United Methodist Church in Mtn. Lake Park will be holding a Holy Ghost Revival on May 10, 11, and 12. The service will begin at 7 p.m. each evening with special guest speaker Rev. Phillip Hickman of Renick, W.Va., presenting, and all are invited to attend.

Rev. Hickman has been in ministry for over 20 years and will present a sermon on all three nights of the revival.

Special music will be presented by the Bethel Choir and Ed and Lyn Remley on Monday evening; the Remley Family on Tuesday evening; and the Stoner Family on Wednesday evening.

and was assigned to the 459th Signal Battalion at Ft. Huachuca, Ariz. He served in the Republic of South Vietnam when his battalion was deployed there until 1967, when his active duty was completed.

Eiswert was assigned to reserve duty with the 1176 Transportation Headquarters in Curtis Bay, Baltimore, in 1968. After eight years of service, Eiswert terminated his military service in 1973, ranked at captain in the U.S. Army Reserves.

After a lengthy career as an attorney in Garrett County, Eiswert was appointed associate judge in October of 2008, an appointment that carries a 10-year term.

Eiswert is an active member of the community, especially in the local arts. He currently lives near Oakland with his wife Kathy, to whom he's been married for over 40 years. They have five children and 11 grandchildren.

USED TIRES, ANYONE? – Members of the Youghiogheny Chapter of Trout Unlimited conducted their annual cleanup project last week by collecting debris along the banks and roadways of Savage River. The largest collection was made on the upper section of Big Run where approximately 100 tires and other refuse was hauled up a steep bank next to the roadway. The photo displays the material removed from the illegal dump site along Big Run. This project was supported by the Garrett County Roads Department, which annually hauls the collected refuse for proper disposal. Pictured from left are: Eric Dawson, Johnny Lipscomb, Roger Fazenbaker, David Dunwody, Danny Teets, David Fazenbaker, Eric Guthrie, Cooper McCauley, and Jeff McCauley. Also participating, but not present for the photo, was Sull McCartney.

Cases Heard

In other recent court proceedings, Cory Joe McKenzie, 22, Grantsville, admitted to violating his probation. Judge Daniel Moylan (ret.) reimposed McKenzie's previously suspended sentence of five months and 53 days. The judge then suspended all but 60 days of that sentence, which will be served in home confinement. McKen-zie was placed back on probation for an additional six months.

He was originally convicted in 2008 of second degree rape for his relationship with an underage person in 2006. The case was investigated by Maryland State Police.

In an unrelated recent Circuit Court case, Justin Alan Sines, 19, Oakland, pleaded guilty to DUI and second degree assault.

Sines received probation before judgment for the DUI charge and was fined $200, plus court costs. For the assault charge, Judge Jim Sherbin sentenced him to six months in the Garrett County Jail. Sherbin then suspended the sentence and placed Sines on supervised probation for six months.

Based on his pleas, related charges against Sines were not prosecuted by the state's attorney. Those other charges include DUI per se, driving while impaired by alcohol, false imprisonment, and resisting/interfering with arrest.

All of the charges stem from an incident involving a 16-year-old female during the early morning hours of July 4, 2009. Garrett County sheriff's deputies responded to a report of a male subject assaulting a female in vehicle that was traveling on Rt. 219.

According to court records, deputies located Sines in the Spring Glade Road area, where they observed him restraining the victim and refusing to let her go. Sines eventually released her, but he resisted arrest and was pepper sprayed by the deputies.

Sines was taken to the sheriff's office, where he took a breath test and was interviewed. Investigators learned that Sines had earlier pulled the victim out of her friend's car and taken her against her will.

Various Natural Resource Bills Signed Into Law By Governor

Governor Martin O'Malley this week signed into law several pieces of new legislation regarding Maryland's natural resources. Youth from the Maryland Civic Justice Corps, a summer jobs program that teaches at risk youth career skills and community service through restoration projects, joined Governor O'Malley for the singing of a trio of related bills (SB 311, HB 943 and HB 647).

"As we work to protect and restore our natural resources, we must also work to help today's young people grow to be responsible adult stewards," said O'Malley, referencing SB 311, HB 943 and HB 647. "Through the legislation we are signing today, we do both. We protect our forests, our fisheries and our waterways, while expanding job opportunities for at-risk youth to learn conservation skill and connect with our natural world."

Senate Bill 311, introduced by Senate President Mike Miller, establishes a Chesapeake Conservation Corps board within the Chesapeake Bay Trust to provide young adults with service opportunities and promote, preserve, protect, and conserve the environment. The program builds upon Maryland's existing, nationally recognized, youth environmental service programs – the Civic Justice Corps and the Maryland Conservation Corps -- by providing a funding source to expand these and similar programs that place young adults at non-profits, schools, or with local governments to complete environmental and energy education and conservation projects.

Two measures signed into law aim to protect forests and wooded natural areas from development. Senate Bill 69 will allow Maryland to leverage federal funds to provide greater incentives for landowners to establish forests or improve the health and existing productivity of existing forests through the Woodlands Incentive Program. House Bill 1352, sponsored by Delegate Dana Stein, discourages development of forestlands located outside of priority funding areas.

"When it comes to clean air and water, trees and forests are our most strategically important resources," said DNR Secretary John R. Griffin. "They do a lot of the hard work for us, and protecting them is a priority."

The governor also signed a series of bills designed to improve enforcement of existing natural resource and public safety laws.

House Bill 98 closes loopholes in the law so that poachers and others who violate state or federal commercial fisheries law may not avoid license suspension penalty by working on another tidal fish license.

House Bill 356, sponsored by Delegate Rudy Cane, is designed to help protect landowners and the environment from negative impacts of illegal timber harvest activities. The legislation updates the 60-year-old law requiring licensure of forest products businesses by authorizing DNR to suspend or revoke a forest products operator's license if the operator fails to comply with existing laws and regulations pertaining to timber harvesting, environmental protections, or appropriate business practices.

House Bill 527, sponsored by Delegate Virginia Clagett, is designed to help ensure the removal of abandoned or derelict vessels occurs in a timelier manner.

Senate Bill 475, sponsored by Senator Norman Stone, will reportedly improve boating safety in Maryland. The legislation updates the laws regulating vessel operation to mirror the existing statutes allowing law enforcement officers to compel impairment testing for vehicle accidents when the driver is operating under the influence of alcohol and/or drugs.

"Sadly, eight individuals lost their lives on Maryland waters last year in boating related accidents where alcohol was a contributing factor," said Natural Resources Police Col. George Johnson. "For the safety of our children and boaters, our Natural Resources Police officers need the ability to use every available modern tool to discourage reckless and dangerous activity on Maryland's waters and investigate tragic accidents."

The governor also signed several fisheries-related bills that are intended to improve fisheries management and eliminate the need for saltwater anglers to register with the federal government.

"The new license bill is a critical step forward in effective fisheries management by bringing Maryland into compliance with NOAA's effort to better gauge and account for the recreational fishing community's impact and contributions," said Maryland Saltwater Sportfishermen's Association executive director Dave Smith. "The bill also preserves a previous license fee increase, supported by recreational fishing groups, which has allowed DNR to expand efforts to protect, conserve, and enhance fishing opportunities in Maryland."

Senate Bill 29, sponsored by Senator John Astle, was drafted upon a recommendation from the Task Force on Fisheries Management to authorize DNR to develop fishery management plans for species in need. The legislation is designed to help prevent overfishing in Maryland and encourage more sustainable fisheries management strategies. Other state agencies and commissions managing fisheries in the mid-Atlantic region – including Virginia, Delaware, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, and North Carolina – already hold this authority.

House Bill 1345 adjusts Maryland's saltwater fishing licenses to comply with the new National Saltwater Angler Registry.

Several legislative measures that would increase waterfowl and deer hunting opportunities in Dorchester, Somerset, Wicomico, Talbot, and St. Mary's counties were also signed by O'Malley (HB 1472, HB 686, and SB 978).

In addition, he signed Senate Bill 847 into law so that resident and visiting disabled veterans may hunt in Maryland without purchasing a hunting license.

"WE 'SUMMER' IN GARRETT COUNTY," says the rose-breasted grosbeak, as he dines on a seed or two at a local feeder. The colorful birds leave the mountaintop for the winter, going as far away as Mexico, Central America, or northern South America. Their usual habit is to return to areas such as Garrett County in May, and stay throughout the summer. Photo by Scott Robinson.

Dinner Slated At Accident Church

A community dinner will be held on Saturday, May 15, from 5 to 7 p.m. at the Bear Creek Church of the Brethren, Accident.

Ham, scalloped potatoes, green beans, coleslaw, bread, beverage, and dessert will be served. There is no charge, but donations will be accepted.

The church is located just past Accident Elementary School at 1088 Brethren Church Road.

A PAIR OF SANDHILL CRANES on their migration journey were observed by Caroline Blizzard in a field along Mayhew Inn Road at about 8:15 a.m. on April 19. This particular species is rarely seen in Garrett County, which is quite a distance east of the normal migration route. The large, long-necked, long-legged birds with red foreheads and white cheeks breed in open marshes or bogs, and in wet grasslands and meadows much farther north. They feed in marshes and grain fields, eating mostly grains and seeds, some insects, other invertebrates, and small vertebrates.

Purchasers will be issued a certificate of sale, which may be recorded among the Land Records of Garrett County. The holder of any certificate of sale, may at any time after the expiration of six months from the date of sale, file a bill of complaint to foreclose all rights of redemption of the property to which such certificate relates. Unless a proceeding to foreclose the right of redemption is filed within two years of the date of the certificate of sale, the certificate shall be void, and all rights to the holder of the certificate shall cease and all money received by the Tax Collector on account of said sale shall be deemed forfeited. Upon foreclosure and payment of the balance of the purchase price and all taxes, interest, penalties and costs, which have accrued, in the meantime, the Tax Collector will execute a deed which will vest in the purchaser an absolute and indefeasible title in fee simple in the property, free and clear of all alienations and descents.

The right of redemption continues until foreclosed as above, upon payment of the whole amount of money received by the Tax Collector from the sale of the property, together with interest at 10 percent (10%) per annum from the date of sale to the date of redemption together with all taxes, interest and penalties accrued which have been paid by the holders of the certificate of sale and the total disbursements of the holder of the certificate of sale made in accordance with law. All costs as to examination of title, preparation of deed, court costs and other expenses accruing after the sale must be assumed by the purchaser.

ALL BIDDERS MUST REGISTER AT THE TAX OFFICE PRIOR TO THE SALE. ALL SALES ARE FINAL!

Edwards, Beitzel Guests Of GOP Women's Club

The Northern Garrett Republican Women recently met at the Hill Top Restuarant near Grantsville, with Senator George Edwards and Delegate Wen-dell Beitzel as guest speakers.

The speakers gave detailed reports on the past legislative session's challenges, including accomplishments and defeats. They shared their concerns in getting the young potential voters registered for the fall election. They also encouraged members to speak out about their views and issues that affect the county and the state.

During group interaction that followed, appreciation was expressed to Edwards and Beitzel for their "proficient representation and hard work."

The business meeting followed. President Lois Rowe reported that she, Maryland Federation Republican Women's president Ruth Umbel, and Carolyn Ganoe represented the local club at the spring board meeting.

The Northern Garrett Republican Women will host the annual picnic in July. Tracy Royce was a guest, and was given a few moments to speak about her candidacy for Register of Wills. The fruit basket was won by Sheila O'Neill.

The next monthly meeting will be held Thursday, May 27, at the Hill Top Restaurant.

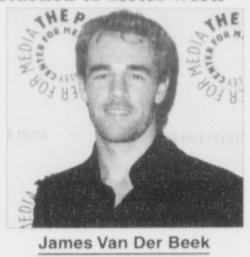
Mercy! 'Dawson' has returned to series work

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Q: What is the name of the new cardiac surgeon on NBC's "Mercy"? He reminds me of James Van Der Beek of "Dawson's Creek." –Betty Wallen, Stuart, Fla.

A: There's a very good reason for that. He is James Van Der Beek of "Dawson's Creek." Before his latest series role, he had a recurring part on The CW's "One Tree Hill."



James Van Der Beek

Q: Some years ago, there was a miniseries called "North and South." It came out on VHS tape in two parts, which I missed. Is there a possibility that it will be on television again or that it will come out on DVD? –Eleanor G. Scott, Kings Park, N.Y.

A: As with anything in life, there's always a possibility, though we don't know of any specific plans for the Civil War dramas, which starred Patrick Swayze and Lesley-Anne Down, to be shown on television again soon. The news is better on the DVD front, though, since "North and South: The Complete Collection" – which also encompassed a "Book Three" – was released on disc in 2004. Copies can be found by shopping the Internet.

Q: I am a big fan of Doris Day. In the movie "Calamity Jane," she had a great stunt double. Was that a man or a woman? And what was that person's name? –Phyllis Powers, Weymouth, Mass.

A: Unbilled in the 1953 film's credits, it was Donna Hall. She would go on to do stunts in such other Western-themed films as "The Big Country," "How the West Was Won," "Cat Ballou" and "The Apple Dumpling Gang." She died in 2002.

Q: Kate Snow left the weekend edition of "Good Morning America" abruptly. Where has she gone? –Kay Gallagher, Morgantown, Pa.

A: She has moved to NBC, where she will serve principally as a correspondent for the prime-time newsmagazine "Dateline NBC." Prior to joining ABC, Snow was an anchor-reporter for CNN.

Q: Can you tell me if the show "Weeds" is coming back? –Wendy Smith, Milwaukee

A: It is. The Mary-Louise Parker series is slated to start its sixth Showtime season Aug. 16, and it will be paired on Mondays with the much-anticipated new show "The Big C," starring Laura Linney as a woman who is diagnosed with cancer.

Q: When will "Family Matters" be out on DVD? –Vicki Muoio, Niagara Falls, N.Y.

A: After being asked this for ages without being able to provide a definite answer, we finally have one. Warner Home Video has announced that "Family Matters: The Complete First Season" will be available June 8. One might have hoped for audio commentary by Jaleel White, alias the one and only Steve Urkel, but the set apparently contains just the first 22 episodes of the sitcom.

Thanks, Mom

One day, a young boy will become a man with adventure and ambition on his mind; right now, letting him go is unthinkable. As a mom, you are making a difference each day. You are teaching your young child to be courageous, yet cautious...to smile and have dreams for the future. You encourage him with faith and support...you strengthen him with your presence.

Have you taught your child about his Heavenly Father? One day you and your young one will be apart, but if he knows God, he will never be alone. Make a difference in a spiritual way...worship as a family. It will give your child the courage he will need to make a difference in the world. One day he will say, "Thanks, Mom!"

Treatment for this Lung Infection

Bronchiolitis, a type of respiratory tract infection, is a common condition in children less than 2 years of age. The condition is commonly caused by a virus, but may also be caused by bacteria. Respiratory synctial virus (RSV) is the most common cause of bronchiolitis in young children. Infection from this virus leads to inflammation of the small airways (called bronchioles). Symptoms of bronchiolitis include runny nose, fever, cough, and wheezing. Symptoms generally last about one to one and a half weeks. Most episodes are mild and resolve on their own.

Inhaled drugs called bronchodilators are often prescribed in some children with bronchiolitis. Albuterol and salmeterol are bronchodilators. Glucocorticoids (prednisone, prednisolone) may be prescribed, but are not routinely done so for this purpose. Palivizumab is an RSV-specific humanized monoclonal antibody that may be used for prevention of RSV in infants at high risk for complications from RSV infection. Palivizumab is administered by an injection during the months when RSV is most common typically during the winter months. Annual immunization with influenza vaccine is also recommended for children 6 months to 18 years, and household contacts of children up to 59 months old.

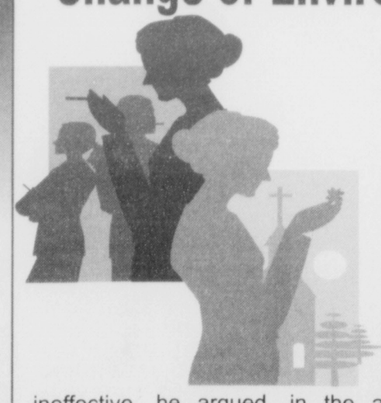
Moral Exhortation or Change of Environment



The American philosopher John Dewey claimed that habits always involve an interaction between the moral agent and the environment. Moral exhortation is likely to be ineffective, he argued, in the absence of an environment which makes the desired actions possible, or even desirable. Telling poor people to get a good education and find a job is useless in the absence of effective and affordable schools. When a decision is made to make some moral improvement, the most effective way to set about bringing about that improvement is often to change the environment. If you're going to quit smoking, it helps to get rid of the cigarettes, ashtrays, and other smoking paraphernalia. Likewise, if we are going to attempt any kind of moral improvement, we should consider the environment within which that improvement is supposed to take place. An alcoholic who works in a bar is likely to have a tough time staying on the wagon, and perhaps there is something to be said for the benefit of a change of scenery and a change of companions, especially if your companions are part of the problematic environment.

As a dog returns to his own vomit, so a fool repeats his folly.

By Samantha Weaver

• It was Pulitzer Prize-winning American author John Steinbeck, best known for "The Grapes of Wrath" and "Of Mice and Men," who made the following sage observation: "The writer must believe that what he is doing is the most important thing in the world. And he must hold to this illusion even when he knows it is not true."

• If you're planning a summer trip to Maine, you won't want to miss the stunning tourist attraction to be found on Peaks Island. There you'll find an entire museum devoted to housing a rather extensive collection of umbrella covers.

• In the United States, January is the least popular month for weddings.

• If you've never heard of the quagga, don't blame yourself. The creature, once found on the plains of Africa, has been extinct since 1883. An odd-looking creature, this subspecies of zebra was once thought to be half-zebra, half horse. Though the front part of its body had the zebra's stripes, those stripes faded out midbody and the rest of the equine looked remarkably like a common horse.

• It's been claimed that 19th-century English naturalist Charles Darwin devoted eight years to studying the lowly barnacle.

• We all know that the day after Thanksgiving is commonly known as Black Friday, thanks to all the crowds seeking out deals on Christmas gifts, but have you ever wondered how it got that name? It seems that the moniker originated back in 1965 when the Philadelphia police department came up with the name after having to deal with the traffic jams and shopping crowds.

The new Garrett College Career and Technology Training Center (CTTC) and the Garrett Engineering and Robotics Society (GEARS) will co-host a Business After Hours event on May 26 from 6 to 8 p.m. at their 116 Industrial Park Drive location in Accident. The event will be a social evening of networking with fellow businesses, employees, guests and the Garrett County Chamber of Commerce staff.

Bring your friends, employees and neighbors to network, socialize and support this terrific event."

The CTTC is a division of Garrett College and will be operated by Continuing Education and Workforce Development. The center will provide workforce training in high growth and skill demand areas in Garrett County and the surrounding region. Most of the programs offered at the CTTC will provide students, upon successful completion, with industry recognized certification.

LWVGC Holds Annual Meeting; Votes To Disband

The League of Women Voters of Garrett County held its 40th annual meeting recently, hearing state legislators and local officials and then conducting its annual business meeting.

Del. Wendell Beitzel and Sen. George Edwards addressed the group after a noon lunch, updating those present on the status of bills introduced and passed or failed in the recent General Assembly session.

Garrett County commissioners Fred Holliday and Ernie Gregg then spoke on local issues. Commissioner Denny Glotfelty was unable to attend because of illness.

A handful of local league members stayed for the annual business meeting and, after considering the state of the Garrett County league, voted to disband the local unit.

"We've just been struggling for the last few years to keep going, but lack of local support and a waning membership have led to the vote to discontinue the Garrett County unit," said a league spokesperson. "The members of the current board of directors no longer wanted to serve, and no other members are willing to volunteer, so those of us who attended the annual meeting voted to end the county league. Members will still be able to belong to the state and national League of Women Voters."

Anyone who has questions concerning the action taken by the local league members may contact any board member, especially the most resent president, Barbara Briggs, at 301-334-9597; or visit the web sites lwvmd.org or lwvus.org for information about the league in general.

Local Athlete Wins Bauer Award; Will Finance Unique Expedition

Local adventure sports athlete Jesse Shimrock has been named the recipient of the 2010 Eddie Bauer's Be First Sponsorship Award for his Summit 2 Sea expedition proposal.

Shimrock will attempt next week to be the first person in history to summit the highest mountain in North America – Mount McKinley in Alaska's Denali National Park – then paddle to the sea.

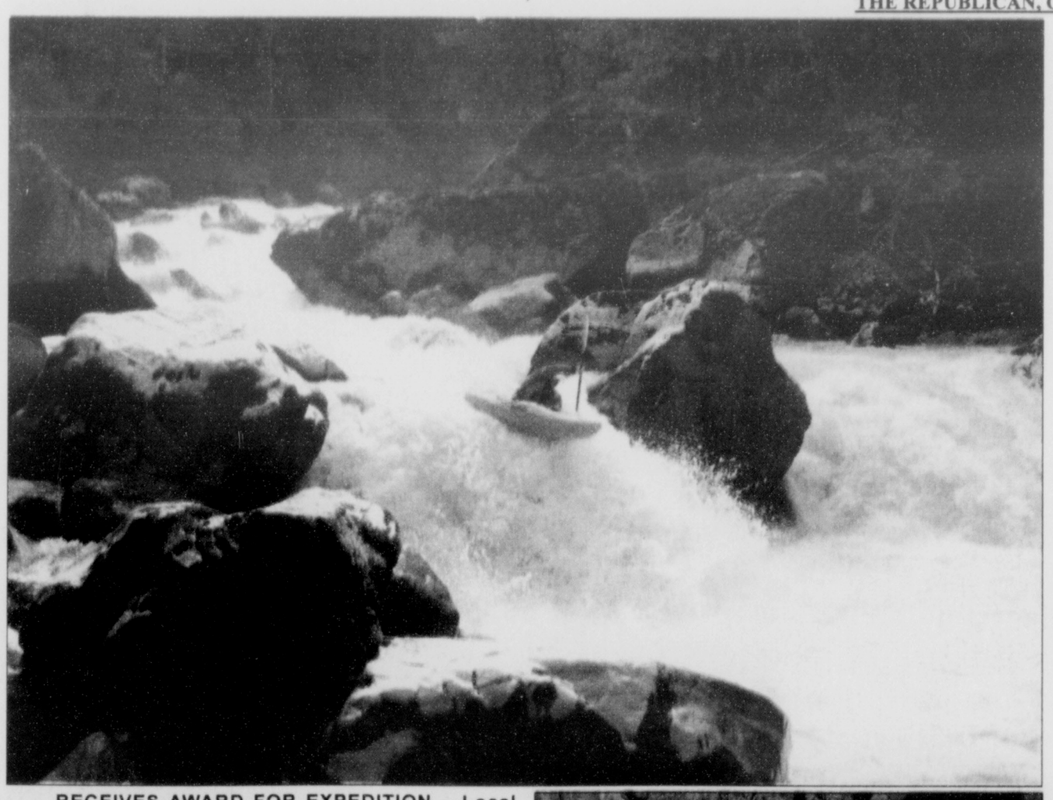
"After summiting McKinley, I will descend to the glacial headwaters at the exit of the Kalhiltna Glacier, switch from mountaineering gear to kayaking gear, then travel the river throughout the Alaska wilderness to its confluence with the Tenhana River," Shimrock explained. "The Tenhana gains significant flow as it makes its way to the Susitna River, ending at Cook Inlet, where I will make a final push to the end of the Summit 2 Sea expedition in Anchorage."

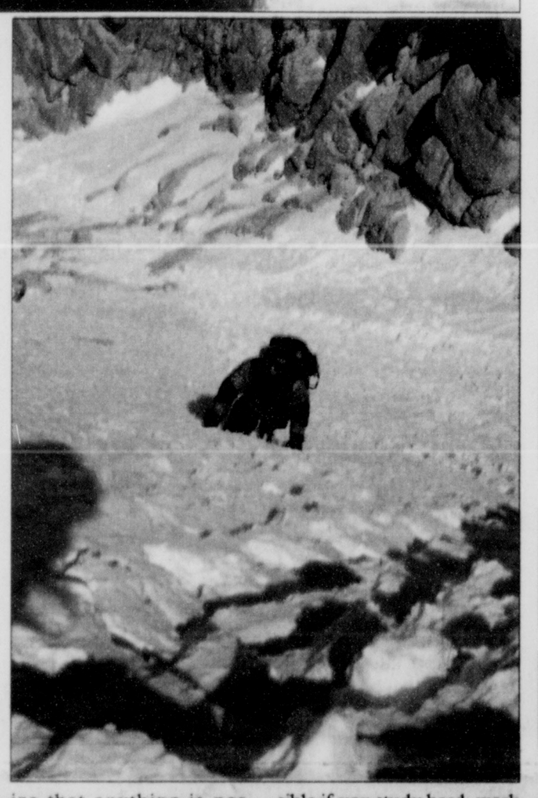
The Bauer award will underwrite all expenses associated with the expedition.

As an adventurer and environmentalist, Shimrock said he hopes to use his "passion for exploration in the outdoors" to develop relationships and awareness for organizations dedicated to conservation of earth's natural resources."

An expedition of this magnitude will feature a number of physical challenges. On the mountain Shimrock may face avalanches, crevasses, rockfall, extreme cold at high altitudes, and possible high winds. On the river, he said he could face flood waters, ice-cold water, large glacier ice chunks, grizzly bears, and 37-foot tidal changes at the juncture with the ocean.

Shimrock is no stranger to such obstacles, and says he "finds great reward" in the personal accomplishments of these adventures.





RECEIVES AWARD FOR EXPEDITION – Local adventure sports athlete Jesse Shimrock has been named the recipient of the 2010 Eddie Bauer's Be First Sponsorship Award, which will afford him the opportunity to be the first person in history to climb to the summit of Mount McKinley in Alaska's Denali National Park, and then paddle his kayak to the sea. Shimrock is pictured above paddling in Austria, and below as he climbs to the 14,500-foot summit of California's Mount Whitney. See story for details.

He said that he hopes this expedition will be the first of a future series of Summit 2 Sea expeditions. His next major goal will be to complete a Summit 2 Sea expedition from the summit of Mount Everest to the Bay of Bengal.

"I hope this expedition will be the first of many that will follow the great mountains of the world from their summits all the way to the oceans that they feed," he said. "The river flowing off Everest joins the Ganges in India, one of the most polluted rivers in the world. In meeting the people of different cultural regions, I hope to call attention to the issues of sustainability and preservation of the Earth's mountains and waterways, while raising global awareness through pushing the boundaries of human exploration."

Shimrock spoke to students at Southern Middle School today, presenting a program that he and other members of Adventure Sports Center International (ASCI) staff started with the middle school students to encourage them to "pursue academics to realize their dreams."

Students who received good grades were rewarded with outdoor activities provided by ASCI. During his visit, he demonstrated how to properly plan and outfit for such an expedition.

"I want students to realize that anything is possible if you study hard, work hard, and have a vision," he said.

Shimrock noted his appreciation to the following for their contributions that have made his pending expedition possible: Eddie Bauer/First Ascent, Whittaker Mountaineering, and Jimmy Railey of Railey Realty.

Tesar Wins First Place In State's 4-H Horse Bowl

Gertrude Tesar, a 10-year-old member of the Country Explorers 4-H Club, recently attended the Maryland State 4-H Horse Bowl at the University of Maryland. She placed first in the junior division, and received a trophy and ribbons.

Tesar practiced and prepared with three other junior division teammates from Garrett County. As a team, they placed fourth in the state.

"The team answered more questions correctly by buzzing in the most often with the right answers," Tesar said. "It was a fun and educational experience."

Lithuanian GC Student Awarded Graduate Assistantship to WVU

VAIDA LILIONYTE

by Melissa Parker

Vaida Lilionyte, a Garrett College sophomore from Lithuania, recently received some news that was both shocking and exciting: She was awarded a graduate assistantship to West Virginia University's Eberly College of Arts and Sciences in the Political Science Department. This means that Lilionyte will receive a full tuition waiver, in addition to a living stipend, for the 2010-11 academic year.

Lilionyte was awarded the assistantship based on her past academic experience, including her outstanding performance at Garrett. According to her award letter, the award represents the WVU Admissions and Awards Committee's judgment that her performance and promise for the future in the political science program is outstanding.

"I was very shocked, but very excited to learn about WVU's offer of a graduate assistantship," said Lilionyte. "I've always wanted to be a diplomat or teach at a university. This opportunity will assist me in doing that. Because of my background, I know both sides of the world and have real life experiences that I will bring with me to WVU which I believe will be beneficial to them."

Lilionyte began her studies at Garrett in the spring of 2009. She came to GC already possessing a bachelor's degree from Vilnius University in Lithuania. Although she had never been to the United States before becoming a student at Garrett, she dreamed of attending graduate school here and saw attending Garrett as the perfect place to start.

"I knew I wanted to start out in a small college," she said. "I wanted to improve my English skills, in both writing and speaking, and I also wanted to see if I had what it takes to compete academically with other students in the U.S."

After learning about Garrett through the friend of a Lithuanian friend who was attending Garrett at the time, Lilionyte decided to apply. When she discovered she would receive Garrett's Baltic Scholarship, she packed her bags and began her journey to McHenry. Even though her expectations were high, she had no real knowledge of what was awaiting her when she got here.

"When I arrived in D.C., I really didn't know what to expect," she said. "When we began making the trip back to Garrett County, I wondered when I was going to see what I imagined the United States to look like: big buildings and skyscrapers. But I never saw that. Instead, I saw a lot of snow and a lot of countryside, very similar to the area where I grew up."

Although Lilionyte felt a bit isolated when she first arrived at Garrett, she soon met several individuals who changed her outlook of the college by introducing her to new things and different areas, in addition to offering her help by providing a ride or giving a word of advice.

"I soon realized that even at a small college, because of the wonderful people I had met, I could have a great experience," she said. "Everyone here is very friendly, very helpful, and very willing to give advice and make my experience a better one."

Some of the people who have been most helpful to Lilionyte include Mike and Tammy Manthos, David and Paula Seaman, Patty Wells and her Lithuanian mother Theresa, professors Beth Luers and Dr. Steve Herman, Carol Newman and the other women in the GC Continuing Education Department, and the women in the GC bookstore. Without the help of these individuals, said Lilionyte, her experience at Garrett would have been a quite different one – not nearly as memorable.

In addition to the personal help she has received while at Garrett, with everything from living arrangements to rides to visit other colleges, Lilionyte credits Garrett with helping prepare her for the next step in her educational journey at WVU.

"I came to Garrett College because it offered me a nice scholarship opportunity to a small college," she said. "Now that I've been here for three semesters, I believe I am prepared to enter a larger university. Also, when I first came here, I was very worried about my English and my accent. I have been able to improve that here, and I've realized that people actually like my accent, so that's made me more confident."

Lilionyte will take that confidence with her to WVU, but originally she looked into over 10 different graduate programs. Ultimately, she decided to apply only to WVU because it was close to Garrett and she could easily travel there to visit the college, as well as because of the affordable tuition rates it offered.

Lilionyte has many goals and hopes to accomplish a great deal during her time at the university. Eventually she hopes to become a college professor, a political analyst, or a diplomat. Either way, she's sure the education she receives at WVU will get her well on her way to achieving her aspirations.

NEW NURSING ASSISTANTS – The Garrett College students pictured above recently complete training as nursing assistants. "We congratulate this group of hard-working, fun-loving women who excelled both in the classroom setting and in their clinical training," said a college spokesperson in the Continuing Education Department. "They showed a great deal of support for one another throughout the pro-cess of learning the nursing skills. Obviously, qualities of caring and concern will be critically important to the patients they serve." Pictured from left, kneeling, are: Sherrie Dillsworth, Beverly Wilburn, Stephanie White, Laura Pleines, Ethel Wiley, Brittney Nice, Samantha Smith, and Danielle Teter. Standing, same order, are: Barbara Langford, Katie Cash, Raven McComas, Jenny Durst, Jennifer Warnick, Connie LaMastus, Marla Mayles, Rebekah Calhoun, Melissa Walch (instructor), and Rhonda Guthrie.

GC Student Art On Display Now

The Garrett College Art Gallery currently has on display an exhibition of works created by students during the spring 2010 semester. Among the pieces on display are drawings in various media, ceramic sculptures and pottery, etching and relief prints, sculptures in soft brick, and sculptures made from recycled materials.

"The best reward for my teaching is to see the student artworks displayed in an organized way on the gallery walls at the end of the semester," said Ron Skidmore, professor of art. "I present concepts, techniques, and helpful criticism in the classes, and it feels good to see the wide range of expressions and wonderful creative responses from the students."

THE FULLY IMPLANTABLE HEARING INSTRUMENT

While this type of hearing instrument certainly may not appeal to everyone, it is worth mentioning that there is a fully implantable hearing system for those who prefer a "stealth" hearing instrument. This "invisible" hearing instrument appeals to those who want to fully conceal the fact that they are wearing a hearing device. The fully implantable mechanism successfully addresses all these concerns by offering a device with a microphone that is surgically implanted beneath the skin behind the user's ear. The rest of the implanted device (including battery, digital signal processor, and transducer) processes sounds and translates them into a mechanical motion that is delivered to the small bones of the middle ear.

Smile, laugh, talk, listen, and live again with a custom-fitted hearing instrument from AUDIBEL. We pledge to provide you with professional services from a hearing specialist and the hearing device best suited to your individual needs to help improve your quality of life. Do you or someone you love have a hearing impairment? Come see us for a comprehensive, painless hearing test, the first step toward better hearing.

P.S. The pre-programmed implantable hearing instrument mentioned above is both programmed and recharged remotely.

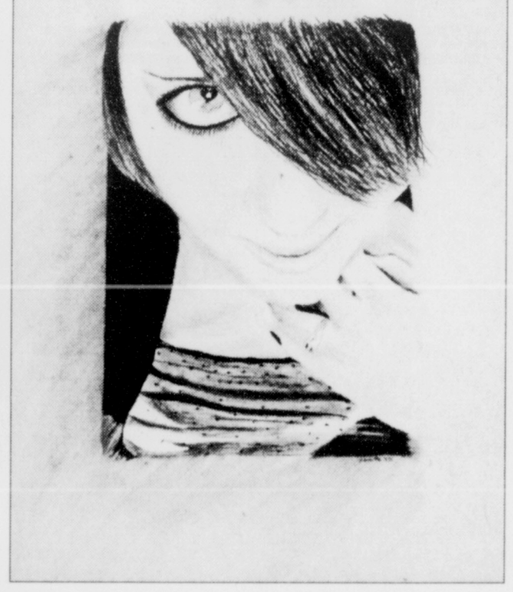
Blood Pressure Screenings To Be Offered At GCHD

The Garrett County Health Department will offer free blood pressure screenings on May 13 as part of National Women's Health Week, slated May 9–15. Screenings will be given from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the lobby.

"Heart disease and cancer were the two most common causes of death, and accounted for nearly 50% of all deaths among Maryland women in 2008," noted a spokesperson.

The theme for this year's National Women's Health Week is "It's Your Time." It is a reminder to all women to take care of themselves. Local health departments and community-based organizations throughout the state are engaging in a variety of events to raise awareness about women's health.

For more information, persons may call 301-334-7777 or 301-895-3111.



Local Church To Host Regional Camp Meeting

The Loch Lynn Church of God will be hosting the Western Maryland Regional Camp Meeting for the Delmarva-DC District on May 20 and 21, starting at 7 p.m. each evening. Jonathon E. Zeigler II, pictured above, will be the featured evangelist each evening.

Other camp meetings will be held in Baltimore at Evangel Cathedral and Chesapeake Center in Georgetown, Del. The 2010 Camp Meeting theme will be "Lord, Show Us Thy Glory."

According to Loch Lynn Pastor Ivan Ackerman, Camp Meeting will provide a time of worship, praise, drama, special music, and preaching. Evangelist Zeigler is a called, anointed, and appointed minister and evangelist of the Gospel, Pastor Ackerman said.

"The grandson of the late Bishop George Deloach and Mother Louise Deloach, Evangelist Zeigler has been a student of experience as well as formal training," he added.

Evangelist Zeigler received a bachelor's degree in pastoral ministries from Lee University in Cleveland, Tenn. He has since ministered in Korea, Canada, Jamaica, England, Haiti, and the Philippines, as well as throughout the United States.

Pastors Ivan and Cindy Ackerman invite members of all local churches and those without church membership to attend. There will be special prayer and altar services, as well as children's church and a nursery provided each evening.

Selected To Attend Leadership Seminar

Heather Vincent, a sophomore at Northern High School, recently attended the 32nd Annual Hugh O'Brian Youth (HOBY) Maryland Leadership Seminar, held at Mt. St. Mary's University in Emmitsburg. The three-day event brings together a select group of HOBY Ambassador students to interact with distinguished leaders in the business, government, and education arenas to discuss relevant present and future issues.

Sophomores are nominated by their school principal or advisor to participate in the HOBY program. These students are seen as leaders within their schools and communities. Only one student per school is nominated. This annual event is organized solely by volunteers, 75% of whom are HOBY alumni.

The goal is to provide a stimulating forum for the students to learn more about the American incentive system and the democratic process, while gaining a broader understanding of their leadership potential and quest for self-development. Topics for discussion include global education, volunteerism, media literacy, entrepreneurship, world hunger, goal setting, leadership, and motivation.

Heather is the daughter of Steve and Sandy Vincent, Accident, and the granddaughter of Larry and Linda Lewis, Friendsville, and Dan and Louise Vincent, Morgantown, W.Va.

LAUNCHING A NEW PRODUCT

In today's real estate climate, you want to be sure to take all the necessary steps to squeeze every possible penny out of the sale of your home. Small oversights or missteps can be costly when it comes to your bottom line. However, there are some common mistakes that are easily avoidable if you listen to the experience and advice of your real estate representative.

One error that can cost you is to put your home on the market before it is truly ready for presentation. Image is everything, so get all the cleaning, painting, patching, and lawn care done well in advance of your first showing.

Another costly stumbling block involves your initial listing price. Remember that you control the asking price, but not the selling price - that is finally determined by the buyers and what the market will bear. Try to detach yourself emotionally from what you want to net, and price your home aggressively against your competition, right from the beginning.

Emotional attachment can keep you from perceiving and presenting your home as what it now is, a commodity. Present it, market it and price it as you would any new product on the market. Your agent will make sure it gets exposure to the right demographic, and will help you avoid costly errors along the way to a successful closing.

If you are thinking of buying or selling a home but feel "out of touch" with real estate, give me a call today.

Three local residents are the recipients of Allegany College of Maryland scholarships for study in the current 2009-10 academic year, the ACM Foundation announced last week.

Presidential Scholarship recipient Ashleigh Friend, Grantsville, is a nursing major. She is a Northern High School graduate who also attended Garrett College. Friend has worked at the Goodwill Retirement Community. She is the daughter of James and Latisha Friend.

Respiratory therapy major Brittany Morgan, Oakland, also received a Presidential Scholarship. A Southern High School graduate who also studied at Garrett College, Morgan's work experience includes McDonald's. She is the daughter of Terry and Tammy Morgan.

Kenton Schrock, Grantsville, was awarded the Mildred M. Ott Memorial Scholarship. He is a nursing major and a 2007 graduate of Oakdale Christian School. Schrock has worked in construction and landscaping. He is the son of Wayne and Felicia Schrock.

SMS Student Receives Award

Victoria Burgess of Oakland was recently named as a recipient of the United States National Leadership and Service Award, and she will appear in the academy's official yearbook, which is published nationally.

The academy selects USAA winners based on the standards of selection set forth by the academy. The criteria for selection include a student's academic performance, responsibility, motivation to learn and improve, and dependability, among others. The academy recognizes fewer than 10% of all American high school students.

Burgess is a student at Southern Middle School, and the daughter of Curt and Ellen DeWitt, Oakland. She is the granddaughter of Charles and Brenda Burgess, Oakland, and Boyd and Leota DeWitt, Oakland.

Divine Hope Church To Host Gospel Group

The group is an a cappella gospel choir of mixed voices with members coming from nearby Salisbury, Pa. The group will be singing at morning services at both 9 and 10:30 a.m.

The church is located immediately left of crossing the Loch Lynn train tracks. For more information, persons may call 240-321-HOPE.

Bicycle Party Scheduled At Local Library

The Oakland library staff invites children ages 5–12 to a bicycle party on Wednesday, May 19, from 6:30 to 7:30 p.m. in honor of National Bike Month.

Josh Frick of High Mountain Sports will discuss bike safety and traffic laws, basic bike maintenance, and "kid-friendly" paths and trails in the local area. Children are urged to bring their helmets so that Frick can check them for proper fit.

Other bike-related activities and crafts will be included in the program.

"Registration is not required, but a courtesy call to Keela at 301-334-3996, ext. 115, or an e-mail to keela@relib.net is appreciated," said a spokesperson.

PUBLIC NOTICE
Attention: All Members of Post 71 American Legion, Oakland, Maryland

On Friday, April 2, 2010, a fire occurred at the Legion home on Memorial Drive, and caused a considerable amount of damage. There is adequate insurance coverage, and in order to accomplish the optimum amount of recovery, the Legion Post is working closely with the insurance company and its representatives.

At the post meeting on Monday, April 19, 2010, Commander James Stewart appointed a five-member committee to facilitate recovery and to coordinate the efforts of the Post and the insurance company.

Definite steps have already been taken with regard to planning a replacement facility which will be with architects' renderings of the proposed changes. It is anticipated the renovations will include a new one-story building which will join and complement the existing part of the structure which was not damaged by the fire.

These replacement activities will evolve over a period of time and there will be regular news releases similar to this in The Republican newspaper. Our Post letter will also be sent on schedule and will contain more detailed information than the newspaper releases. You may contact the Commander by telephone, email, or fax for pertinent information.

Post Commander,
James Stewart

DRINKING WATER NOTICE
Accident Water Treatment System
PWSID 011-0001
Town of Accident Has Levels of Arsenic
Above Drinking Water Standards

WHAT HAPPENED?

The Town of Accident's water recently violated a drinking water standard. Although this is not an emergency, as our customers, you have a right to know what happened, what it means, what you should do, and what we are doing to correct the situation.

We routinely monitor for the presence of contaminants in drinking water. The compliance determination provided by the Maryland Department of Environment for 2009 reflected that our system exceeded the arsenic standard, or maximum contaminant level (MCL). The standard for arsenic is 10 micrograms per liter (ug/L) or parts per billion (ppb). The average legal of arsenic over the last year for the Accident/Bittinger well, one of the wells used to supply the town's drinking water, was 10.55 ug/L. Therefore the water system exceeded the Arsenic MCL by 0.55 ppb.

WHAT DOES THIS MEAN?

This is not an immediate risk. If it had been, you would have been notified immediately. On January 23, 2006, the new EPA Arsenic Rule became effective. This new Rule changed the MCL for arsenic in drinking water from 50 ppb to 10 ppb. Our system currently has arsenic concentrations greater than the newly established MCL. For 2009 our system exceeded the MCL on average by 0.55 ppb. Some people who drink water containing arsenic in excess of the MCL over many years could experience skin damage or problems with their circulatory system, and may have an increased risk of getting cancer.

WHAT SHOULD YOU DO?

- You do not need to use an alternative (e.g. bottled) water supply. However, if you have specific health concerns, please consult your physician.

STEPS WE ARE TAKING

We have currently placed the Accident/Bittinger well out-of-service and are not using this source for the production of Accident's drinking water supply. We will continue to monitor the system for arsenic levels and evaluate treatment options.

For more information, please contact Ruth Ann Hahn at the Accident Town Hall at 301-746-6346 or by mail at the Town of Accident, P.O. Box 190, Accident, MD 21520.

Please share this information with all other people who drink this water, especially those who many not have received this notice directly (for example, people in apartments, nursing homes, schools, and businesses). You can do this by posting this notice in a public place or distributing copies by hand or mail.

ANNUAL DRINKING WATER QUALITY REPORT FOR 2009
The Town of Oakland
April 2010

We're pleased to present to you this year's Annual Water Quality Report. This report is designed to inform you about the water quality and services we deliver to you every day. Our constant goal is to provide you with a safe and dependable supply of drinking water. We want you to understand the efforts we make to continually improve the water treatment process and protect our water resources. We are committed to ensuring the quality of your water. The Oakland Water System obtains all of its raw water from two separate sources. Source #1 is the Youghiogheny River and it supplies water for the Bradley Lane Water Treatment Plant which is located off of Bradley Lane in Oakland. Source #2 is called Broadford Lake, which is located just off Broadford Road and it supplies water for the Broadford Water Treatment Plant. Once the water is treated, it is pumped directly to the customer with excess capacity held in reserve at our 800,000 gallon water storage tank to meet daily needs. Water from both sources is blended together in this storage tank.

This report shows our water quality and what it means.

Some people may be more vulnerable to contaminants in drinking water than the general population. Immuno-compromised persons such as persons with cancer undergoing chemotherapy, persons who have undergone organ transplants, people with HIV/AIDS or other immune system disorders, some elderly, and infants can be particularly at risk from infections. These people should seek advice about drinking water from their health care providers. EPA/CDC guidelines on appropriate means to lessen the risk of infection by cryptosporidium and other microbiological contaminants are available from the Safe Drinking Water Hotline (800-426-4791).

If you have any questions concerning this report or your water utility, please contact Randy Sharpless at the Oakland Water Department at 301-334-3836 or Mayor M. Jamison at 301-334-2691. The Mayor and Town Council of Oakland holds regularly scheduled meetings on the first Monday of the month at 7:00 PM in the Council Chambers, 15 South Third Street, Oakland, Maryland. Please call 301-334-2691 to schedule your topic on the agenda for discussion at any regularly scheduled meeting.

The Town of Oakland routinely monitors for contaminants in your drinking water according to Federal and State laws. This table shows the results of our monitoring for the period of January 1st to December 31st, 2009. As water travels over the land or underground, it can pick up substances or contaminants such as microbes, inorganic and organic chemicals, and radioactive substances. All drinking water, including bottled drinking water, may be reasonably expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. It's important to remember that the presence of these contaminants does not necessarily pose a health risk.

In this table you will find many terms and abbreviations you might not be familiar with. To help you better understand these terms we've provided the following definitions:

Non-Detects (ND) - laboratory analysis indicates that the contaminant is not present.

Parts per million (ppm) or Milligrams per liter (mg/l) - one part per million corresponds to one minute in two years or a single penny in $10,000.

Parts per billion (ppb) or Micrograms per liter - one part per billion corresponds to one minute in 2,000 years, or a single penny in $10,000,000.

Parts per trillion (ppt) or Nanograms per liter (nanograms/l) - one part per trillion corresponds to one minute in 2,000,000 years, or a single penny in $10,000,000,000.

Nephelometric Turbidity Unit (NTU) - nephelometric turbidity unit is a measure of the clarity of water. Turbidity in excess of 5 NTU is just noticeable to the average person.

Action Level - the concentration of a contaminant which, if exceeded, triggers treatment or other requirements which a water system must follow.

Treatment Technique (TT) - A treatment technique is a required process intended to reduce the level of a contaminant in drinking water.

Maximum Contaminant Level - The "Maximum Allowed" (MCL) is the highest level of a contaminant that is allowed in drinking water. MCLs are set as close to the MCLGs as feasible using the best available treatment technology.

Maximum Contaminant Level Goal - The "Goal" (MCLG) is the level of a contaminant in drinking water below which there is no known or expected risk to health. MCLGs allow for a margin of safety.

Note: Test results are for year 2009 unless otherwise noted. Not all contaminants are required to be tested for annually.

Our system also received a violation notice this past year for haloacetic acids (HAA5s). The MCL for this contaminant is 60 ppb based on a running annual average. Two (2) samples are required per quarter. These contaminants are formed by the reaction of our chlorine disinfectant with naturally occurring organic materials which are carried into our sources through runoff from rainfall. Quarterly averages for this contaminant during this calendar year were between 64 and 84 ppb. Potential health effects are: Some people who drink water containing haloacetic acids in excess of the MCL over many years and may have an increased risk of getting cancer. Our efforts to lower this contaminant are as above thru lowering of TOC levels, which is the contributing factor for disinfection by-product formation.

During 2009 an engineering study was completed to recommend plant improvements to lower formation potential for DBPs (disinfection by-products). Based on this study, our system has requested bids for design engineering to address these recommendations. During 2010 a firm will be selected and it is anticipated that construction work on plant upgrades will be started in 2011. The Town of Oakland continues to work closely with MDE to accomplish these improvements so that our system may return to full compliance. This includes pursuit of funding sources.

During 2009 we were required to do standard testing for TTHMs and HAA5s at 2 additional sites in our system to determine the highest potential levels for formation of disinfection by-products. This was required under a new rule called the Stage 2 Rule for Disinfection By-Products. These results are in the following table and they are currently unregulated. In CY 2013, 2 of these sites will become compliance monitoring sites replacing the currently used sites.

Sample Sites	TTHMs Results	HAA5s Results	Average TTHMs	Average HAA5s
Overlook Judy Ctr.	Range 35.6 to 308.0	Range 39.0 to 83.6	141.3	65.9
GC Health Dept.	Range 38.4 to 170.0	Range 41.1 to 100.0	98.5	65.0

TTHMs [Total Trihalomethanes]. Some people who drink water containing trihalomethanes in excess of the MCL over many years may experience problems with their liver, kidneys, or central nervous systems, and may have an increased risk of getting cancer.

HAA5s [Haloacetic Acids]. Some people who drink water containing haloacetic acids in excess of the MCL over many years and may have an increased risk of getting cancer.

Beginning in 2004 the MCL for total trihalomethanes (TTHM) was lowered to 80 ppb as a running annual average for systems of our size. Our system is required to do two (2) samples per quarter. These contaminants are formed by the reaction of our chlorine disinfectant with naturally occurring organic materials which are carried into our sources through runoff from rainfall. Our 2009 average exceeded this standard. As a result of this, our system was sent a violation notice by Maryland Department of the Environment (MDE). The duration of the violation was from January 1 thru December 31, 2009. Quarterly averages during this calendar year were between 88 and 109 ppb. Potential adverse health effects are: Some people who drink water containing trihalomethanes in excess of the MCL over many years may experience problems with their liver, kidneys, or central nervous systems, and may have an increased risk of getting cancer. We are continuing to monitor our disinfection processes closely and making adjustments as necessary to minimize the formation of disinfection by-products. We continue monitoring on a quarterly basis for total organic carbon (TOC), which is a measure of the potential for disinfection by-products formation. Through the addition of an oxidizing material into our raw water flow prior to plant entry, we are continuing our efforts to lower TOC levels.

If present, elevated levels of lead can cause serious health problems, especially for pregnant women and young children. Lead in drinking water is primarily from materials and components associated with service lines and home plumbing. The Town of Oakland is responsible for providing high quality drinking water, but cannot control the variety of materials used in plumbing components. When your water has been sitting for several hours, you can minimize the potential for lead exposure by flushing your tap for 30 seconds to 2 minutes before using water for drinking or cooking. If you are concerned about lead in your drinking water, you may wish to have your water tested. Information on lead in drinking water, testing methods, and steps you can take to minimize exposure is available from the EPA Safe Drinking Water Hotline at 1-800-426-4791 or at http://www.epa.gov/safewater/lead.

NOTE: As can be seen by results listed in the above tables, lead, which is tested for triennial (every 3 years) in accordance with Federal and State regulations in Oakland's distribution system, was not detected in samples collected in 2008.

All sources of drinking water are subject to potential contamination by substances that are naturally occurring or man made. These substances can be microbes, inorganic or organic chemicals and radioactive substances. All drinking water, including bottled water, may reasonably be expected to contain at least small amounts of some contaminants. The presence of contaminants does not necessarily indicate that the water poses a health risk. More information about contaminants and potential health effects can be obtained by calling the Environmental Protection Agency's Safe Drinking Water Hotline at 1-800-426-4791.

MCLs are set at very stringent levels. To understand the possible health effects described for many regulated contaminants, a person would have to drink 2 liters of water every day at the MCL level for a lifetime to have a one-in-a-million chance of having the described health effect.

Please call our office at 301-334-3836 if you have questions.

The nursing profession is recognized annually from May 6 through May 12, with May 12 being the birthday of Florence Nightingale, the founder of nursing as a modern profession.

WHITEWATER FEST SLATED AT ASCI – ASCI will host an All-American Whitewater Festival to celebrate American veterans on May 28, 29, and 30. Team River Runner, a wounded warrior organization that teaches injured veterans how to heal through whitewater boating, will be guests at the event. Above are two veterans, one who lost his legs in Vietnam and paddles at ASCI regularly. The group will have over 35 veterans at the event. See story.

LOVE YOUR NEIGHBOR – As part of a project titled "Love Your Neighbor," Kitzmiller Elementary School's fifth grade students showed kindness, love, and appreciation by delivering jars of dry mixes of soup and cookies to the senior citizens of their community. Several students worked for two days to prepare the mixes and fill the jars, while others delivered the gifts either by vehicle or by walking with a wagon, as shown. In addition to the town of Kitzmiller, the youngsters delivered jars to residents in the areas of Shallmar, Pee Wee, Vindex, Kitzmiller Hill, Mt. Zion, and Walnut Bottom. Shown above on their mission of kindness, from left, are Rachel Scott, Jazlyn Tasker, Madison Shugars, and Joston Lipscomb. See an additional photo in this section of more student volunteers. SHA Resurfacing U.S. Rt. 40 Alt. In Grantsville

The Maryland Department of Transportation's State Highway Administration (SHA) will begin a project next week to resurface approximately one mile of U.S. 40 Alternate (Main Street) through Grantsville. SHA anticipates completing the $196,000 project in early June, weather permitting.

Motorists on U.S. 40 Alternate should expect single-lane closures Monday through Friday between sunrise and sunset, beginning next Monday, May 17. Flaggers, variable message signs, barrels, and temporary signs will guide motorists through the work zone. Approximately 3,000 vehicles travel along this section of roadway each day, so motorists should expect delays.

SHA will temporarily close some of the intersections along this route during the resurfacing. The closures are necessary to prevent motorists from crossing the hot asphalt before it has cooled and hardened.

Motorists north of U.S. 40 Alternate will be detoured to eastbound or westbound Ravine Street and Miller Avenue back to U.S. 40 Alternate. Motorists to the south will be detoured to eastbound or westbound Grant Street back to U.S. 40 Alternate.

To facilitate the resurfacing and to complete the project as quickly as possible, on-street parking will not be permitted during construction. Vehicles parked on U.S. 40 Alternate between sunrise and sunset will be towed. Information on towed vehicles will be available at the Maryland State Police McHenry Barrack by calling 301-895-1101. Motorists are advised to seek parking on side streets or parking lots with owner's permission.

This project is made possible through the American Recovery and Reinvestment Act, intended to bring critically needed transportation investments to Maryland. Persons can follow the delivery of these projects at www.recovery.maryland.gov, which tracks every category of ARRA spending and provides contract-level

Grand Jury Issues Three Indictments To Pa. Resident

A Meyersdale, Pa., man has been arrested by the Maryland State Police and served with three indictments issued by the March term of the Garrett County grand jury, the state's attorney announced Monday.

Marty Lee Shroyer, 31, was charged in two indictments with armed robbery, robbery, two counts of assault, and theft for each of two events that occurred on May 25 and June 13 of 2008 at the Grantsville Market (Corner Store).

In a third indictment, Shroyer is charged with armed robbery, robbery, assault and theft for an incident at Fuel City on June 1, 2008, Grantsville.

On two occasions, Shroyer is alleged to have displayed what appeared to be a handgun and demanded cash and tobacco products from employees. A knife was displayed the third time. Shortly after that third event, at the Grantsville Market, Maryland State Police were notified of a single-vehicle accident that occurred along Springs Road in Pennsylvania, from which the driver had fled.

Shroyer was located in the area and evidence, including witness interviews, led to warrants being issued for Shroyer's arrest.

Although bond was set at $150,000 for Shroyer during his arraignment in Garrett County Circuit Court, he remains in custody also as an inmate from Pennsylvania. He was transported from the Pennsylvania Division of Corrections to be served with the indictments and to stand trial in Garrett County while serving time for theft of the vehicle and other matters in Pennsylvania.

Adventure Sports Center International To Host All-American Whitewater Fest

The Adventure Sports Center International will host the All-American Whitewater Festival to celebrate America's veterans, and kick off the summer season of whitewater rafting and kayaking the weekend of May 28–30. Team River Runner athletes will be guests at the event. This is a wounded warrior organization that teaches injured veterans how to heal through whitewater boating.

The festival formally starts on Friday afternoon with Sunset Rafting beginning at 4 p.m. Team River Runner athletes will be on hand during whitewater time from 4 to 8 p.m. kayaking and getting ready for the Veteran's Race to be held on Saturday. Visitors can meet the veterans and learn how they use whitewater paddling as part of their rehabilitation process, or just come to raft. The Community Day price is $25.

An opening ceremony will be held on Saturday at 10:30 a.m. featuring bagpipes and the JROTC Color Guard. Veteran athletes will then lead the first ever Whitewater Parade at 11 a.m. The parade will also feature the Figurehead Contest, where homemade figureheads are attached to the bow of rafts and floated down the whitewater course during the parade.

Figureheads must be submitted no later than 9 a.m. that morning in order to allow time to affix them to a raft. Any person or group can build a figurehead to reflect any historic or famous person or creature, but it must be able to sit in the front of a raft or tied to the bow of the raft. Recommended materials are papier-mâché, fiberglass, wood, found materials, vinyl, or rubber. Prizes will be awarded to the most creative and patriotic figureheads.

The Veteran's Race will be held at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday. Rafts will be captained by Team River Runner athletes, and the public is invited to join a raft team for only $10 per entrant. A guided rafting trip down the mountainside will also be offered Whitewater demonstrations will be held all day Saturday, including Olympic kayaking and Mattress Surfing.

Swift Water Rescue demonstrations will be given, at which any willing participant can pay $5 and 'Get Rescued!' by professional swift water rescuers and paddlers.

A Kayak Club Competition will be held on Sunday at 1 p.m. for $25 per person, with a minimum of 4 people per club and team.

Memorial Day Paddling is open to all, with 10% of rafting proceeds to be given to Team River Runner.

Federal Funding Available For Feb. Snowstorm Costs

President Barack Obama last Thursday declared that a major disaster had occurred in Maryland and ordered federal aid to supplement the state and local recovery efforts in areas struck by severe winter storms and snowstorms during the period of Feb 5–11.

Federal funding through the Public Assistance Program is available to eligible applicants on a cost-sharing basis for emergency work and the repair or replacement of facilities damaged by the storms in Baltimore City and all counties except Worcester and Somerset.

The Maryland emergency Management Agency (MEMA) has scheduled an applicant briefing event on Wednesday, May 19, from 1 to 4 p.m. at the Garrett County Health Department to assist local agencies interested in receiving funding.

Oakland Man Receives Five Years In DOC

A 37-year-old Oakland man was sentenced in Garrett County Circuit Court on Tuesday to five years in the Division of Corrections for a sexual child abuse charge. He had pleaded guilty in December, and a presentence investigation and offender evaluation were ordered.

Last May, a household member reported to the Maryland State Police that she had located an SD card among the suspect's belongings that she realized was missing from a camera belonging to a family member. When she viewed its contents, she discovered the defendant had secretly videotaped a juvenile in the shower. The man later admitted to placing the camera and videotaping the juvenile.

BOE Policy Approved; Finzel Students May No Longer Attend Allegany Schools

After much deliberation, the Garrett County Board of Education voted 4–1 in favor of changing Board Policy 432.0, which allowed a percentage of Garrett County students to attend Allegany County schools. Besides board members and media representatives, approximately 60 people attended this month's meeting held at Southern Middle School on Tuesday.

The new policy states that all Garrett County residents currently attending Allegany schools in grades 6 through 12 would be permitted to finish their school careers within their current schools; however, once those students were graduated, the GC board would no longer fund the tuition nor transport of any stu-dent(s) thereafter. Students would be permitted to attend Allegany schools if their parents so desired, but only at their own expense.

The meeting opened with public comment by four people: two for the proposal and two against it. After the board met in executive session, and the meeting was reopened to the public, guests were once against given an opportunity to speak on the issue. Four additional people opposed to the proposal spoke prior to superintendent Dr. Wendell Teets' recommendation.

Among some of the concerns of many Finzel residents was that those forced to go to Garrett County schools would "miss out" on extracurricular opportunities because of the time and distance students would have to travel to and from Northern middle and high schools.

Another point made was that residents who did not agree with the new policy would simply move out of

Accident Man Sentenced To One Year For CDS Possession

In recent Garrett County District Court proceedings, Katlin C.J. Patton, 21, Accident was found guilty by Judge Leonard J. Eiswert of a controlled dangerous substance (CDS) possession not marijuana charge, and was sentenced to one year with all being suspended, two years of supervised probation, and $115 in fines.

Maryland State Police were called to an Accident residence in November 2009 for a reported CDS violation. Officers made contact with the complainant, and were advised that Patton was sitting in his pick-up truck allegedly using illegal drugs. He was observed to be slumped over forward on the steering wheel, and officers observed white powder on his jeans and the driver's seat.

Officers woke Patton, and then observed white powder on his nose. Further investigation revealed a metal cigarette case and straw that Patton advised he had used to inhale hydrocodone. Patton was arrested and transported to the McHenry Barrack. He was not prosecuted on a CDS possession of paraphernalia.

In an unrelated hearing, Shane Mikel Charley, 24, Wheeling, W.Va., was found guilty of CDS possession not marijuana, and was sentenced to 90 days with 88 days suspended. He was also found guilty of a CDS possession of marijuana charge, and was sentenced to 30 days with all being suspended, one year of supervised probation, and $200 in fines.

MSP and members of the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force executed a search and seizure warrant of Charley's apartment in McHenry in March. A search of his room revealed an Ecstasy pill, numerous oxycotin pills, numberous alprazolam pills, one marijuana plant, manufacturing equipment for growing marijuana, jar of marijuana, bag of marijuana, a plastic container of marijuana, two jars of marijuana seeds, four pipes with burnt marijuana residue, a plastic container of seeds, and numerous bags of seeds.

Charley was not prosecuted on charges of CDS possession of paraphernalia, CDS possession of manufacturing equipment, manufacturing CDS, and two charges of CDS possession not marijuana.

Roger Lee Alexander, 66, Oakland, was charged with second-degree assault, stemming from a domestic dispute in January. He allegedly physically threatened another adult and then threatened to injure himself. His charge was placed on stet with conditions to continue and complete alcohol counseling and to have no violent contact with the victim.

Donald Lynn Corby, 42, was charged with second-degree assault, stemming from a February domestic dispute. His charge was placed on stet with conditions to have no violent contact with the victim of assault.

Michelle Lynn Cox, 26, Pa., was found guilty of an October 2009 DUI charge, and was sentenced to one year with nine months suspended, three years of supervised probation, and $307.50 in fines. She was not prosecuted on a DWI charge.

CINDY'S FUND MAKES DONATION – Dr. William W. Pope, Garrett County Health Department, is shown receiving a check for $20,000 from Sandy Bell, Cindy's Fund chairperson. The money will be used to help pay for cancer screening examinations and tests by local health care providers for county residents of low income, or with inadequate medical insurance, through the Cancer Prevention, Education, Screening, and Treatment Program. The CPEST program was affected by recent budget cuts. "The Health Department has assisted more than 1,000 persons to undergo screening for six cancers, including over 600 colonoscopies," said a spokesperson. "The program has indentified 47 persons with cancer, who then had follow-through treatment." Persons who would like to join the program may call the Health Department at 301-334-7777 and ask for the cancer screening program. To make a donation to Cindy's Fund, one may send a check to P.O. Box 182, Oakland, MD 21550.

Grasmick later addressed Northern's 8th grade teachers about the Race to the Top program. Others in attendance were Dr. Don Forrester, president of the GC Board of Education, Tom Carr, vice president of the BOE, and Dr. Mary Finan, professor at Frostburg State University.

Two Arrested By GC Deputies On Court Warrants

Two local residents were arrested by Garrett County sheriff's deputies this week on the strength of court warrants. The following cases are unrelated.

Starlene Sue Hyde, 45, Mtn. Lake Park, was arrested last Wednesday on the strength of an Allegany County warrant. She is charged with second-degree escape after failing to report to the detention center as ordered by court. She was taken to the Garrett County Jail to await a bond hearing.

An Oakland man was arrested after turning himself in to the Garrett County Sheriff's Office on Wednesday morning. Clifford Frank Elliott Jr., 38, was wanted on two separate warrants. One was an arrest warrant charging him with third-degree burglary, second-degree assault, and trespassing on private property. This warrant was obtained by the victim. The other was a bench warrant issued by the Garrett County District Court for a violation of conditions of probation. Elliott was taken to the Garrett County Jail to await a bond hearing.

More Surveillance Needed?...

New York City mayor Michael Bloomberg traveled to London this past week to take a look at the extensive surveillance system that was installed in recent years as part of that city's war on terrorism. It was soon after the bombing of the London subway several years ago that the powers-that-be there decided that such technology was needed. Almost nowhere can a person go in London without being videoed numerous times – in the subway, on the streets, in parking lots, and in offices and businesses. A reporter accompanying the mayor was spotted some 40 times on surveillance video in just one day of traveling about the city. After the recent attempted bombing in Times Square, Bloomberg and other city officials are wondering if a similar system should be placed in New York.

Many U.S. citizens are wary of such an approach, believing that it will be just one more violation of their right to privacy and one more example of government invasion into our lives.

While it can legitimately be argued that "big brother" seems to be sticking his nose into more and more of our private affairs, there are also some strong arguments to justify more surveillance of our daily comings and goings. It is a new and, unfortunately, more dangerous world in which we live, and in order to protect ourselves going forward, this may well be a necessary, albeit undesirable, step. It is recognized that more often than not surveillance is useful not as much in preventing a dastardly deed as it is in capturing those responsible. However, once in a while it can also thwart an attempt, and thus possibly save many lives. At the very least it serves as a deterrent.

Some of those who are opposed to mass surveillance are the same folks who get upset when they get a ticket in an obscure speed trap set up by the police. Yet, if they had been obeying the limit, there would have been no ticket. Likewise, if we obey the law when walking the streets and riding public transportation, the surveillance really should not matter that much. It seems that this may be a case of "the lesser of two evils."

Letters to the Editor

Writers of letters to the editor are reminded that letters will not be published if they exceed 400 words, do not include contact information, and/or are deemed to be libelous.

To the Editor:

Why isn't it surprising to find a term that usually describes deviant sexual behavior in a letter to the editor? Oh yes, of course; using gutter language and slurs to describe American citizens exercising their first amendment rights passes as wit for some.

What is amusing is that someone with an admitted problem of watching pretty blonde women in fashionable attire deliver news and opinion would resort to vulgarity to portray fellow citizens.

The Tea Party folks have set their sights on the correct target, and it isn't Wall Street just yet.

By the way, when using a credit card those "scalawags" are charging an interest fee on the use of their money, not "yours."

To the Editor:

A word of caution to all those who protest rich and powerful multinational corporations; they will find out where you live.

Yes, last Tuesday afternoon, while home with one of my children, yours truly was paid a visit by some wind energy "representatives." Two vehicles were parked at the end of my driveway for several minutes and I walked out to see who it was. Immediately, the dark blue pickup with the Triad Engineering logo drove away.

And who do you think was driving the other vehicle, a hybrid Toyota Highlander? None other than Kevin Rackstraw, one of Clipper Windpower's big wigs. First, he told me that he was lost and looking for a nearby address. I inquired if it was a coincidence that he happened to park in the driveway of an industrial wind opponent. He left that question unanswered an asked me if I had any questions for him and why I was opposed to his project.

Really. These guys are so pitiful I almost feel sorry for them.

After I politely took my leave, Rackstraw and his "consultant" companion remained in my driveway for several minutes. Sorry to disappoint those folks at Clipper, but I am not intimidated. My conscience is clear and resolve firm.

Garrett County Habitat for Humanity held its second Women's Build on May 7 and 8, and it was a great success! I would like to thank all of the women who came out and volunteered their time and energy for such a wonderful mission. They almost completed the external siding of a house on Friday when the weather permitted, and another group built and erected the interior walls on Saturday. The quality of their hard work was first-rate.

I would also like to thank the Habitat board members who provided the workers with delicious lunches each day. Together, these people are helping to provide decent, affordable housing for residents of Garrett County.

To the Editor:

The citizens of Garrett County deserve a county government that is strong, honest, and has integrity. The following excerpts are taken from an Associated Press article published February 29, 2008.

"The Garrett County government stands to reap more than $840,000 in royalty payments from a 2003 agreement allowing construction of three wind turbines on county land, according to documents obtained by the Associated Press.

"The easement agreement between California-based Clipper and the Garrett County Sanitary District was signed in January 2003. Glotfelty and county administrator Lamont Pagenhardt said the commissioners unwittingly inherited it when they took over the previously independent Sanitary District three months later.

"The land in question contains springs that produce drinking water for the towns of Loch Lynn and Mountain Lake Park, said Pagenhardt and Glotfelty, who was on the Sanitary District board in 2003.

"Pagenhardt said he first learned of the contract in 2005 when a Clipper representative proposed revisions to the agreement. Pagenhardt said county leaders then recognized the controversial nature of the agreement and tried to cancel it, but Clipper refused.

"'Believe me, if we could have gotten out of it, we would have,' Pagenhardt said.

"But Frank Maisano, a spokesman for Mid-Atlantic wind power developers including Clipper, said the commissioners have never sought to get out of the deal."

These excerpts speak volumes about the lack of resolve and the apparent lack of ability of the current commissioners and the county administrator to serve and inform the citizens of Garrett County. By their own admission, it took the commissioners two years to realize that an industrial development contract involving county-owned lands may have negative impacts on the water supply of hundreds of residents. Two years after the contract was in place, it is admitted that the board realized the "controversial nature" of the agreement.

Not that the realization really mattered, as in the end the commissioners were simply not able to "get out of it." Seems a miniscule response to a situation that may pose a threat to the water supply of the residents of two of our towns.

If the commissioners are this inept at dealing with development contracts that may have serious implications on their own lands, why would any reasonable person believe that the current officials possess the skills, insight, and tenacity necessary to make decisions that affect the entire land area and populous of Garrett County?

To the Editor:

With all the doom and gloom displayed in last week's letters regarding wind turbines, I have a few facts and some conclusions of my own to share. This is for all concerned residents, wind turbine detesters, bird watchers, and everyone else who can read.

Here are the bird fatality figures, according the American Bird Conservancy:

1. 100 million to 1 billion birds are killed by striking buildings per year.
2. 200 million to 300 million are killed by striking automobiles per year.
3. 4 million to 5 million are killed by striking communication towers per year.
4. 75 million are killed by striking power lines per year.
5. Cats kill 1 million birds per day, or 365 million per year.
6. Wind farms kill 100,000 to 300,000 per year.

In "crunching the numbers," we find that the first four items are responsible for killing between 744,000,000 and 1,744,000,000 birds.

Wind turbines, however, kill 300,000. That's not too bad, in my opinion. I also used the larger number of wind turbine kills to remove any of my personal bias.

Thus the conclusions from my extensive research (not peer reviewed) are:

1. We need to keep the buildings. That's where we live and work.
2. We need to keep the cars. How would we get around?
3. We need to keep the communication towers – (What!? No cell phones? How could we talk while we drive?)
4. We need to keep the power lines. We need to get rid of all that coal!
5. Ah, the cats; they are another story. Herein lies the problem!

As you all can obviously see, the only reasonable solution to this bird-killing problem is to get rid of those murdering cats. Therefore, I am starting a campaign and I encourage all the readers and residents to help us send all of the bad cats in Garrett County to Annapolis, which is where the Fat Cats are writing all those bad windmill laws.

As for Don Quixote's concerns with flying pigs, please note that none were harmed during the writing of this letter.

Earth to Don! Earth to Don! Remember: You are either part of the solution or part of the problem!

To the Editor:

I imagine everyone agrees that we need for Congress to be discussing the survival of the American banking system. I think we need a serious, civilized discussion about the survival of our nation.

The casino-minded folks on Wall Street were actually betting against America succeeding. Our financial foundations are in danger of imploding – as with Greece, whose money it turns out was totally entangled with Goldman Sachs. Ironically, their bonus money is more than Greece needs to survive.

The Tea Party needs to change its focus. We are fast becoming a Draconian corporate state – an oligarchy. Thanks to the Reagan Administration and the Supreme Court ruling giving the status of personhood to corporations, the power of the people is gone. We little persons have all the responsibilities, and the big persons have all the money. The Supreme Court has again ruled for the corporations – giving them more power to fund elections.

Maybe it is time to go back to Theodore Roosevelt's push for progressive ideas and actions – meant to move the country forward with the changes brought by the Industrial Revolution. He lost the election, we lost governance concerning "the well-being of the people" – including health care. Only North Dakota followed his lead in 1919, creating 100% state-run banks to insure loans to their farmers. North Dakota's economy stayed healthy during the recession, with 4% unemployment and a budget surplus of one billion. Now other states are looking into such progressive action.

I think we really need a Bull Moose progressive movement to take "charge" of our own destiny. Let's focus on paying taxes to fund election campaigns. No more corporate money to control our representatives. We must take responsibility for our actions, our lotto mentality of "some day I may get filthy rich" or "with my 401K, I can play at gambling, too."

We have become consumers instead of citizens. We should know who profits from corporate greed – watch the stock market. Their bottom lines depend on layoffs and low wages for the little persons. Only the big person stockholders win. Still, the myth that our money system of so-called free markets and huge profits is working. It works for the rich corporations and no product money shufflers. But years of stagnant wages for the little persons, and where are the corporate-created jobs?

The temporary home of Southern High School a couple weeks ago was the Garrett 8 Cinemas. There, our students continued on with their educational programs in a unique and systematic fashion. All five courses met for one hour each, and the content and material associated with each course was addressed and taught in a theatre designated by department.

It was my observation that even under those difficult circumstances, students were active learners and participants in their "classrooms," were engaged in the topics of discussion, and were cooperative with the teachers, staff, and central office supervisors who were there to oversee and monitor the operations of the facility.

Dr. Teets, superintendent, Mrs. Waggoner, director of instruction, and Mrs. Bell, director of secondary education, all commented about the creativity and skillfulness of our teachers, and the cooperation of the students and how well they all adjusted and behaved in the unique educational arena. I was able to witness a growth in the camaraderie of our faculty and staff, and also noticed the astonishment that students had for their teachers' ability to review material, introduce new concepts, and provide them access to the curriculum without the use of a computer, a textbook, or even a chalk board.

The teachers of SGHS defined the meaning of collaboration, team teaching, educating across the curriculum, and master planning for multidisciplinary studies. The staff worked very hard, all day long, and found themselves back to the root of why they all became teachers – to educate kids!

Furthermore, the support and cooperation that we received from the community, our feeder schools, and our parents was positive and very overwhelming! The encouragement and provisions that were made by those at the board office, the staff of Southern Middle School, and our fabulous food service workers and bus drivers, who all worked together to aid us with four days of effective instruction, in a safe environment, will be a lasting, extraordinary memory for both the students and staff. Words cannot express my appreciation for my colleagues and all of the folks of southern Garrett County, nor the level of pride that I have in our students and staff. Through this experience, I have a renewed belief that Southern High School is the best place in the world to work and educate kids!

To the Editor:

We are writing to express our extreme disappointment with our current local elected officials and their unwillingness to adopt ordinances that protect Garrett County property owners.

While Governor O'Malley has prohibited industrial wind turbines on state-owned lands, more than 100 large turbines are currently under development and construction in Garrett County, with more development planned for our ridge tops.

Marcellus shale gas projects are about to begin, with the potential to severely damage both our underground water supply and our air quality. The Maryland Public Service Commission has already approved a few of these projects, with several more in the pipeline.

Unfortunately, it now appears that the Maryland General Assembly and the executive branch never envisioned the situation in Garrett County, where there are no countywide property protections, believing that regulation would occur by the county government.

The Garrett County government has refused to adopt any ordinances or regulations, and our Annapolis delegation has been ineffective in obtaining any legislation. This has left Garrett County with absolutely no local public notice, no public process, nor any adequate local public review of industrial wind-farm development, and by extension, development of the Marcellus shale gas.

Instead, the policy appears to be that if a community is perceived as not being in a desirable location – "in the middle of nowhere" – then developers have total power. We do not believe this to be acceptable for either private landowners or for neighbors of these properties.

Who among us is next to be placed in the "nowhere" category by our current government officials?

We understand that laws cannot make people behave as good neighbors; however, the state and county governments are encouraging these types of development. Our elected officials should accept responsibility that assures adequate public input and basic protections.

It has become apparent that the current Garrett County elected officials refuse to put into place even the most minimal public-notice provisions or the most basic considerations to protect our property and our environment. Our local and state governments are not a private business to be run for the benefit of a few.

To the Editor:

Are you aware that there is a coal company from Indiana, Pa., seeking permits to allow mine drainage into "our" Casselman River.

It is a fact that the MDE Water Management Administration did its part, even after experts challenged the proposal.

I am perplexed as to why Senator Edwards appears to be supporting this ill-fated and short-sighted effort. How can large volumes of water be allowed into streams that feed into sensitive flood areas? It makes you wonder why our three county commissioners all decided to work hand and hand with this coal company.

Of Sen. Edwards, I ask, "Why have you turned your back on the citizens who voted for you and trusted you?" And to Delegate Wendell Beitzel, our local "friend of coal," what is the cost of this so-called friendship these days? Or maybe a better question would be, "What is the payoff these days?"

Citizens who have attended many of the public meetings have asked serious questions of the different state agencies. It would appear that the great state of Maryland is no longer concerned about the taxpayer, but about special-interest groups and an ill-fated industry.

We have been told that nearly 132 families could be in the path of destruction from this underground mine. Our water will be at great risk. But the Maryland Department of the Environment already has a plan to replace our water with portable water tanks, which is also a joke.

The struggles of the past winter's weather would have made it impossible to provide water even with their best plan.

And finally, the Casselman River is home to endangered species protected under the Maryland law. What is the plan to protect them?

Please think about this mine and all of the unnecessary risks and impacts associated with it. Please attend the meeting next Wednesday, May 19, at 6:30 p.m. at the Grantsville Elementary School.

Thank You,
Hilda M. Wilburn

SMS Teacher, Student Honored At State National History Day Event

The Maryland Humanities Council's National History Day contest took place at the University of Maryland, Baltimore County, on April 24. A number of students from Southern Middle School were selected to compete in the state event, and one student and one teacher earned special recognition at the event.

The theme for this year's National History Day contest, which is in June, is "Innovation in History: Impact and Change." Students in all 50 states competed earlier in the spring with their related projects at a local level and then at the state contests.

Nicolas Skipper from Southern Middle School received the Special Prize in Military History for his documentary titled "The Gatling Gun." The prize was sponsored by the Historical Miniatures Gaming Society. His teacher at SMS, Gary Thompson, received the Maryland History Day Teacher of the Year Award for the Garrett County district. They were both presented with awards at the Maryland History Day event.

Participants in the History Day project prepared for the event for several months. Students conduct research at libraries, museums, and historic sites, and through oral history interviews. They present their findings in one of four categories: papers, performances, documentaries, and exhibits. All four categories were represented by Garrett County students. This is the third year Thompson has engaged his classes in the project.

The MHC reported that 16,500 middle and high school students took part in Maryland this year. More than 500 were entered in the state contest. Winners at the state level go on to the national event in June. (No students from Garrett County moved on to the national contest.)

A complete list of students and teachers honored at the state contest can be found on the Maryland Humanities Council web site, located www.mdhc.org.

Two Arrested At SHS Following K-9 Search

Two individuals were arrested last week as the result of an investigation at Southern High School, according to sheriff Gary Berkebile, spokesperson for the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force.

Members of the NTF and Garrett County Sheriff's Office responded to the school last Friday. As a result of the investigation, a quantity of marijuana and related paraphernalia were recovered from a student's book bag. A K-9 unit from the sheriff's office conducted scans at the school and the student parking lot, where a small quantity of marijuana and alcohol were recovered from a vehicle. As a result, one adult and one juvenile were charged.

William Christopher Miles, 18, Oakland, is charged with possession of marijuana, possession of CDS paraphernalia, and possession of alcohol under age 21. He was released from the Garrett County Jail after posting a $2,000 bond.

One juvenile is charged with possession of marijuana and paraphernalia.

Two DUI, DWI Arrests Made By GCSO Deputies

Two drivers who were reportedly operating under the influence of alcohol were arrested by Garrett County sheriff's deputies. One stemmed from a traffic stop, and the other was the result of a single-vehicle accident. The following incidents are unrelated.

Deputies stopped a vehicle on Allegany Drive, Mtn. Lake Park, on Sunday for failure to drive right of center. Driver Shawn Alen Suter is charged with DUI, DUI per se, driving while impaired, failure to drive right of center, and displaying expired registration. He was released after signing his citations.

Deputies responded to the area of Herrington Manor Road near the Fingerboard Road intersection on Monday for a report of a motor vehicle accident with no injuries. Investigation revealed that Onie Thomas Whitacre was operating a 1994 Ford pickup truck, when he traveled off the northbound shoulder, crossed the north- and southbound lanes, traveled into a ditch and struck an embankment. The Ford overturned, coming to rest facing south partially in the northbound lane. Whitacre is charged with DUI, DUI per se, DWI, negligent driving, and additional traffic violations. He was taken to the Garrett County Jail to await a bond hearing.

PHENIX SUPPORTS SCHOOL PROGRAM – Phenix Technologies, located in Accident, recently made a donation which included 10 machinery handbooks to the Machine Tool Program of Northern High School. The company has donated in excess of $4,500 in goods to the program so far during the current school year. Items donated include reference books, new tools, and raw materials for the students to use. Additionally, Phenix also supports other school programs, such as electronics, automotive, and robotics. According to a school spokesperson, this support helps teachers maintain a high level of instruction to the students while working with reduced financial support from the government. According to Frank Vitez, president of Phenix, many company employees have benefited from the vocational training they received in the local school system, prior to their employment, and he hopes that these programs continue. Garrett Otto, a former NHS student and intern of the program, is employed as a machinist at Phenix Technologies since graduating in 2009. NHS CLASS OF '67 HONORS MENTOR – A group of 1967 Northern High School graduates recently honored one of their favorite teachers, Jacqueline Williams. "When we were freshmen, Jacquey was the new, young teacher everyone wanted for their class," said a group spokesperson. "Her intelligence, wit, and wonderful sense of humor made math interesting and challenging. She challenged us, but didn't judge us. She become both mentor and friend to several of us long after our math classes were completed. She remained a part of our lives with regular Christmas cards, always capturing some small bit of Garrett County or Northern High School in her comments." Upon learning about Williams' death last July, some her students wanted to erect some type of "lasting and meaningful" memorials and searched for appropriate ways do so. The first of these memorials are five bluebird boxes, built by NHS shop classes and installed at the Hickory Educational Center, with the guidance of its director, Bruce Taliaferro. "We became aware of Jacquey's love for songbirds, and of the hours she spent enjoying the visitors to her bird feeders during the many years she lived in Grantsville. A small plaque was attached to each of the boxes to show that it was dedicated to honor Miss Williams' memory. Her brother Stafford approved of this project, saying that he thought it would make her smile. We will miss this woman."

AURORA STUDENTS TAKE FIELD TRIP TO CATHEDRAL – Linda Newcome's sixth grade class at Aurora Elementary School headed outdoors recently to gain firsthand knowledge about Cathedral State Park, located just one mile from the school. Assisted by parent Jackie Blamble, Newcome walked her students to the park, where Ranger Eric Risinger shared his knowledge about its past. The participants learned that Cathedral was once a popular destination point for visitors, many of whom arrived there via horse and carriage, to enjoy its casino, log cabins, and restaurant. After the history lesson, the students used their handmade clinometers and tape measures to figure the height of a tree they chose as a group. One student, however, was selected to use an old Native American method to determine the height of the tree. This is done by walking away from a tree, bending over and sighting the top of the tree between one's legs, standing up, and having another person measure the distance back to the tree. The number of feet is the tree's height. "It was outstanding that the clinometers and Indian method came out almost exactly the same," said Principal Brad Martin. After lunch, students hiked to a creek. Using GLOBE (Global Learning and Observations to Benefit the Environment) program water kits acquired from the NASA IV & V Facility in Fairmont, the students checked the water's pH level, odor, and clarity, and dissolved oxygen in particular sections of the creek. When this was completed, they used homemade seines to see what creatures lurked beneath their feet. There were several macro invertebrates found: mayflies, caddis flies, a black fly larvae, and several crayfish. To conclude the day, students hiked back to school. Above, left to right, Jordan Moats, Kyria Donnelly, Lena Mersing, teacher Newcome, and Trevor Lipscomb ready themselves to test the stream at Cathedral State Park. Below, Jackie Blamble, Danielle Blamble, Emily Snyder, Tyler Birchland, and David Vincent test water samples taken from a creek.

SRWA Volunteers Plant Trees, Clear Trash From State Forest

Savage River Watershed Association (SRWA) volunteers planted over 1,000 red spruce trees this spring, and removed trash from the Savage River State Forest.

Thanks to a Maryland Urban and Community Forestry Committee grant awarded through the Garrett County Forestry Board, SRWA was able to purchase the red spruce plugs which were planted on public land along Big Run, Elk Lick, Monroe Run, and Poplar Lick. Volunteers donated a total of 302 hours to plant the red spruce and remove any trash from planting sites in the state forest.

According to a project spokesperson, red spruce was selected in the hopes of maintaining conifer cover along these high-quality streams.

"By shading streams, evergreen trees such as hemlock, pine, and spruce help keep water temperatures low, a critical factor for native brook trout survival," said the spokesperson. "Unfortunately, native hemlocks are being killed by an exotic invasive insect called the hemlock woolly adelgid. It is hoped that these native red spruce seedlings will ultimately fill in gaps where hemlock trees are lost."

Planters at Elk Lick on April 15 included Frostburg State University students from Sunshine Brosi's Thursday plant taxonomy class: James Carney, Stephanie Carney, Chris Cochran, Jeff Dean, Rachel Dean, Lauren Fetzer, Sean Kelly, Ethan Leonard, Kevin Oxenrider, John Sloan, Katie Sloan, Clyde Snyder, Victoria Stafford, Ben Walker, Brittany Weeks, and graduate student Natalie Walsh, plus Ron Boyer, Donna and Bill Fitzpatrick, ShayAnn Golden, Charles Lefebure, Keily Martin, Liz McDowell, Shannon Philbin, Kathy Tucker, Adrian Uzunian, and Elizabeth Williams.

Planters at Big Run on April 16 included U.S. Cellular employees T.L. Jack, Scott VanRiper and Jessica White, FSU students from Sunshine Brosi's Friday plant taxonomy class, Melissa Brannon, Jeff Curry, Steven Darrow, Elizabeth Deasy, Keith Dolan, Craig Hall, Michaela Halsey, Jason Kroeger, Isabel McClelland, Colin McKeon, Jesse Voigt, and graduate student Robbie Kutchman, plus Ron Boyer, Tyler Engle, Donna and Bill Fitzpatrick, ShayAnn Golden, Carol and Joe McDaniel, Liz McDowell, Shannon Philbin, and Matt Sandee.

Monroe Run planters on April 18 were volunteers from Maryland, Ohio, Pennsylvania, and Virginia, namely Carol Bartram, Ron Boyer, Michael Clark, Eli and Ehna Dicken, Pat and Kathy Looney, Kelly Martin, Liz McDowell, Shannon Philbin, Matt Sandee, Kathy Tucker, Bill and Kathy Tunney, and Kathy Weise.

On April 19 the planting effort was completed at Poplar Lick by students from the Meadow Mountain Youth Camp, plus Tyler Engle, Sean Farrell, Donna and Bill Fitzpatrick, ShayAnn Golden, Paul Fletcher, Charles Lefebure, Liz McDowell, Russ Metz, Shannon Philbin, and Vance Schroyer.

Savage River Assn. To Host Fish Pathologist

The Savage River Watershed Association (SRWA) will hold its bi-monthly meeting next Thursday, May 20, at 7 p.m. at Route 40 Elementary School. The guest speaker will be fish pathologist Vicki Blazer. The public is welcome to attend.

Blazer has been the fish pathologist at the USGS National Fish Health Research Laboratory of the Leetown Science Center, Kearneysville, W.Va., since 1992. Her recent research projects include studies on the fish kills, intersex and other reproductive health issues in the Chesapeake drainage; effects of emerging contaminants on fish populations; development of indicators of fish health; and fish health assessments at Lake Erie Areas of Concern. She is involved in national and international fish health projects with a variety of state agencies, universities and nonprofit organizations.

Prior to assuming her current post at Leetown, Blazer was the assistant leader of the Georgia Cooperative Fish and Wildlife Unit. In a university setting, she taught classes in fish nutrition, fish diseases, and fish pathology, and directed the research of numerous post-graduate students. She has continued teaching through the FWS Conservation Training Center and the AquaVet program, and still directs graduate students through a number of universities.

Blazer holds a B.S. degree in marine biology from Southampton College of Long Island University and a Ph.D. from the University of Rhode Island in fisheries, aquaculture, and pathology.

Her talk will provide an update on the fish kills in the Potomac, James, and Susquehanna drainages, the finding of intersex in smallmouth bass at these same locations, and the possible association with contaminants of emerging concern such as endocrine disruptors.

SRWA consists of local landowners and other citizens dedicated to preserving and enhancing the rural nature and natural resources of the Savage River watershed. Members assist interested landowners and public land managers with environmental stewardship efforts and educational outreach. Anyone who is concerned about the Savage River watershed is invited to join.

SRWA meetings are held at Route 40 Elementary School, 17764 National Pike, just west of Frostburg, on the third Thursday of odd-numbered months, beginning at 7 p.m. For more information, persons may contact SRWA via e-mail at SRWAdirector@gmail.com or SRWAcoordinator@gmail.com, by telephone at 301-689-7156, or via the organization's web site at www.SavageRiverWatershed.org.

Maryland DNR Asks Citizens To Keep Fawns Wild

The Maryland Department of Natural Resources (DNR) reminds Marylanders to be alert to white-tailed deer fawns this time of year. White-tailed deer give birth to their fawns in late May and early June. If citizens encounter a fawn, DNR asks them to not disturb it.

"A fawn sitting still and alone may appear to be orphaned. However, in most cases the doe will be nearby and removing the fawn from the wild is not only unnecessary but potentially harmful to the fawn," said George Timko, assistant deer project leader.

Newborn fawns have almost no odor and their spotted, reddish-brown coat helps them blend into their surroundings. Fawns instinctively lie motionless when approached by a potential predator. This seemingly helpless state is a behavioral adaptation that has helped white-tailed deer survive for ages. Despite this strategy, curious fawns will sometimes wander around in new surroundings. Unfortunately, well-intentioned citizens sometimes remove fawns from the wild believing they are helping an orphaned animal.

"If you encounter a fawn, never try to catch it," said Timko. "If the fawn attempts to follow you, gently push on its shoulders until it lies down and then slowly walk away. This is what the doe would do if she wanted the fawn to stay put."

Removing animals from the wild and keeping them in captivity is against the law in Maryland. Furthermore, life in captivity can lead to malnutrition, injury, and stress at the hands of a well-meaning captor. Wild animals that become accustomed to humans can pose health risks and become dangerous as they mature.

For questions regarding fawns or other young wild animals, persons may contact the DNR/USDA Wildlife Services Information Line toll free at 877-463-6497 or DNR's Wildlife & Heritage Service at 410-260-8540. Persons may also visit the web site at http://www.dnr.maryland.gov/wildlife to learn more about white-tailed deer.

Discovery Center To Host "Reptiles & Amphibians" Class

Garrett College, in partnership with the Discovery Center at Deep Creek Lake State Park, will hold a five-hour workshop titled "Reptiles & Amphibians" on Saturday, June 19, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Discovery Center.

"The Appalachian region is one of the most unique and diverse areas in the world for salamanders," said a spokesperson. "In this area, one can find many different types of salamanders, snakes, and even a few turtles."

Participants will learn to identify many different species of reptiles and amphibians found in the area, as well as some of the unique biological characteristics of these animals and their habitat requirements.

The majority of class time will take place on Meadow Mountain at a wetlands site where many of the species of reptiles and amphibians can be observed in their natural environment. This site is not accessible by car, and therefore participants must be able to hike without assistance to the top of the mountain.

"Participants should dress appropriately for outdoor activities, including sturdy shoes," said the spokesperson.

Steven "Frog" Hughes, naturalist and recent graduate of Frostburg State University, will lead this workshop. His goal is to educate the public on these often misunderstood creatures which serve as an indicator species, monitoring the health of local streams and forests, and making them a vital part of the local ecosystem, according to the spokesperson.

For additional information, persons may contact Maney Gale at 301-387-3086 or at maney.gale@garrettcollege.edu.

To register for the course, interested persons are asked to call the Continuing Education and Workforce Development Division at 301-387-3069 by Wednesday, June 16.

Butterflies To Be Featured Topic At AHC Meeting

CAROLINE BLIZZARD

The Allegheny Highlands Conservancy (AHC) will hold its annual meeting next Wednesday, May 19, at the Discovery Center at Deep Creek Lake State Park. The meeting will begin promptly at 6 p.m. with a covered-dish supper.

Guest speaker Caroline Blizzard of the Maryland Department of Natural Resources will provide a PowerPoint presentation titled "Monarch Migration and Land Conservation," beginning at 7 p.m. She will describe how land management practices in Garrett County impact the survival of the monarch, which spends five months of its life in another country. She will also explain the migration of the species.

Blizzard is a park ranger and director of the Discovery Center. Through her work at the center, thousands of butterflies have been tagged and studied from Garrett County with the help of volunteers and school children. She traveled to the monarch sanctuaries two years ago and learned firsthand what a difference Garrett County residents can make on the monarch's survival.

The "AHC Loves Mountains" 2010 raffle drawing, as well as the annual election of AHC officers and board members, will take place immediately following the evening program. The raffle prizes are: a private nature walk with Kevin Dodge; an original watercolor of one's home or pet by Carol Bartram; an eco-tour at Elk Ridge Native Plant Preserve with Ron Boyer and Liz McDowell; and two bird boxes hand-crafted and installed by Courtney Englar. Raffle tickets are available from any AHC board member (Carol Bartram, Ron Boyer, Kevin Dodge, Courtney Englar, Bob Lewis, Liz McDowell, Nancy Elizabeth Nimmich, and Bill Tunney). Ticket holders need not be present to win.

The public is welcome to attend both the covered-dish supper and evening program, but those coming to the supper are asked to telephone Ron Boyer ahead of time at 301-895-3686 or contact him via e-mail at info@alleghenyhighlandsconservancy.org.

The Allegheny Highlands Conservancy is a local land trust dedicated to conserving the natural resources, scenic beauty, and rural character of the Allegheny Highlands of Maryland. AHC is a 501c3 nonprofit charitable organization. Donations may be sent to AHC, P.O. Box 333, McHenry, MD 21541.

For additional information about AHC or becoming a member, persons are invited to send an e-mail to info@AlleghenyHighlandsConservancy.org or visit www.AlleghenyHighlandsConservancy.org online.

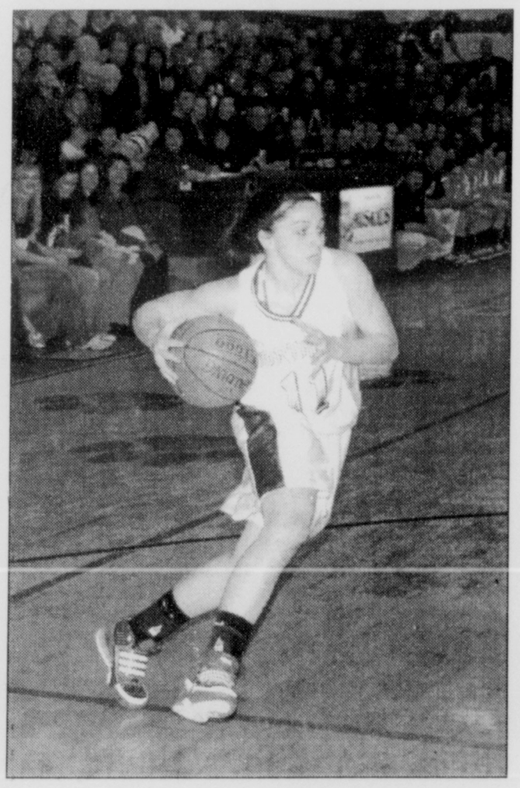
Northern's Fratz Named 2010 AMAC Player Of The Year; Heads First Team



Kaitlynn Fratz of Northern High School has been chosen as the Appalachian Mountain Athletic Conference Player of the Year for the 2009-2010 basketball season, and leads this year's AMAC first team. Three other fellow Garrett County girls' basketball players were also chosen for the first team, and two others earned second-team honors.

Joining Fratz on the first team are Northern's Terra McKenzie and Southern's Heidi Welch and Emillee Bosley. Adria Graham and Morgan Brosnihan, both of Northern, earned spots on this year's AMAC second team.

As a junior, Fratz led the Huskies to a conference title and averaged almost twice as many points as other scorers. She recorded 24.1 points per game, and was eight points better than the next best scorer. Her 54 3-point goals were one off the league lead, and her 72-percent success rate at the free-throw line was among the conference leaders.

Fratz was fifth in the conference with 3.5 assist per game, and was tied for third with an average of 2.7 steals. Her best scoring performance came as a 38-point outing against Hampshire. She scored at least 30 points on four occasions and scored at least 20 points 13 times.

She also claimed the all-time school record for most points scored in a game against Southern, surpassing Kristin Edwards' mark of 1,250. She finished with 26 points in that game to total 1,259, and she still had four regular season games plus playoffs remaining in the season.

McKenzie finished with the fourth-best scoring average, 12.2, as a junior, and also came in fourth for the most 3-pointers with 37. She was 67 percent accurate in free-throws, 37 percent in threes, and was sixth in the conference with a 6.9 average in rebounds. She posted a season-best 27 points in a win over Keyser, and had at least 20 points in two other games. She scored in double figures in 11 games.

As the Rams' senior guard, Welch was lethal from outside the 3-point line. Her league-leading 55 3-pointers helped her to the third-best scoring average in the conference at 13.6. She sank 33 percent of her 3-pointers, and shot 63 percent from the foul line. She averaged three rebounds, two steals, and one assist per game, and scored in double digits on 10 occations. Welch also recorded over 20 points in four games, and had a season-high 30 points to help defeat Hampshire. She hit five threes in a single game, and six in two.

Bosley posted the third-highest total of 3-pointers, 47, as a senior, and her 47 percent from the outside was the second best in the AMAC. She was second in the conference with two blocks a game, and ended the season by averaging 4.5 rebounds, one assist, and one steal. Her highest point total was a 20-points outing against Mtn. Ridge. She posted at least 10 points on seven occasions.

Northern won the conference title with a 14-1 record, and finished the season at 19-3. Southern was 11-3 in the conference, and was 17-7 for the 2009-2010 season.

SHS's Kisselovich Named To 2010 AMAC First Team

Southern High School's Joe Kisselovich was chosen as one of six members of the Appalachian Mountain Athletic Conference first-team, which is headed by Allegany's AMAC Player of the Year Casey Roberts.

Matt Gibson of Northern and Calvin Hilliard of Southern received second-team honors, while Dylan Miller and Garrett Rayner of Northern received honorable mention status.

Kisselovich helped lead Southern to a second place in the conference. As a junior, Kisselovich finished sixth in the conferece in scoring with a 12.7 average, and was eighth in foul shooting. He made 58 of 82 free throws for a 70.7 percent. He had a season-high 26 points in an AMAC game against Northern, and matched it later in the year with a 26-point game against Allegany.

Kisselovich was ranked seventh in the area in scoring with a 12.4 average, and was 11th in foul shooting, making 84 of 118 attempts for a 71.1 percentile.

The Rams shared the runner-up spot with Fort Hill with a 9-5 mark, and finished 13-9 overall.

No. 4 Huskies Fall In Final Game; To Face MV In First Playoff Round

Three more runs came from Frankfort at the top of the fifth inning, while the Huskies managed another single to make the score 12-3. The Falcons, who outhit the Huskies 14-1, recorded their final two runs in the sixth inning.

Alex Smith had Northern's only hit, an RBI double in the fifth inning.

Jeff Conley hit two homers, and went 4 for 4 with five RBI for the Falcons. He also collected a double and an RBI single in the win. Ryan Bobo hit a two-run homer and a single, Dylan Wagoner had a solo home run and a single, and Jeremy Miltenberger smacked a two-run homer. CONGRATULATIONS AND GOOD LUCK! The Southern Garrett High School cheerleaders recently honored their graduating seniors with a team banquet at Uno's, Deep Creek Lake. Three seniors were presented with mementos and gifts from their fellow team members and coaches. Trophies were also presented at that time. The three seniors – Paige Carr, Marcella Martinez, and Beccie Reckart – were give a special "congratulations and good luck" cake, which displayed a picture of them. A PowerPoint presentation, highlighting the squad's activities and accomplishments during the past year, followed the meal. The final segment of the afternoon included the presentation of various team awards. The Rookie of the Year trophy went to Lakyn Barnard, and the Coach's Award was presented to sophomore Patricia Sherrard. "The MVP-Leadership Award was given jointly to the three seniors in honor of the superb job that they had performed as the team leaders this past year," noted a coach. The SHS cheerleading team has been under the direction of Harry and Angie Biggs for the past 10 years. The team will hold tryouts for the 2010-2011 season later this month, May 24–27. Monies for the trophies were provided by the Southern Garrett Athletic Association. Left to right are seniors Marcella, Paige, and Beccie with their cake and Patricia and Lakyn with their trophies.

NHS Wins One, Falls To Two In Final Games; Ranked No. 14 In Playoffs

The Northern High School varsity softball team ended its regular season this past week with three games and a record of 6-12 overall and 4-10 in the Appalachian Mountain Athletic conference. The Huskies were blanked 4-0 by Fort Hill last Thursday at home, but then dominated county-rival Southern on Friday, 8-3. Northern wrapped up its regular season with a 1-0 loss to Berlin on Monday.

The Rams managed just one run in the bottom of the final inning.

The Huskies took advantage of two Ram errors and four base hits to aid in the 6-run ninth. Brittany Mallow led Northern's 11-hit offense with three singles. Kaitlyn Fratz and Brenneman each had two base hits, and Tabitha Beasom doubled and singled in the win.

Both pitchers went the distance, with Northern's Brenneman striking out five, walking two, and allowing just six hits from Southern. Alycia Horner struck out six and walked two for the Rams.

Horner, Lyndsey Glotfelty, and Katie Eggleston each doubled for Southern.

The Northern jayvees fell to the Southern junior varsity, 7-1. See other story for details.

The Huskies had four hits and one error in Monday's loss to Berlin. Whitney Miller, Brittany Mallow, Taryn Brenneman, and Hannah Fike all collected singles for Northern.

Northern Rescue Auxiliary Group To Meet May 16

The next meeting of the Northern Garrett County Rescue Squad Auxiliary will be held on Sunday, May 16, at the Friendsville Park following the EMS picnic around 4 p.m.

The auxiliary was formed in 2008, and works with the rescue squad to offer aid and support to the community. Members are volunteers from all areas of the county.

"Volunteers are always welcome and appreciated, as this is a wonderful way to give back to your community," said Diane Friend, president. "We also offer service learning hours for students in high school."

Persons who are interested in helping may call Friend at 301-746-6270.

The group will host a Longaberger Basket Bingo on Sunday, June 27, at 1 p.m. at Grantsville Elementary School. Tickets are $20, and questions can be directed to Lori Schlossnagle, vice president, at 301-616-0880.

BOE Policy

the Finzel area, creating issues such as reduced property value and a lower tax revenues for the county. Residents repeatedly commented that "their lives revolve around the Frostburg, LaVale, and Cumberland areas," therefore creating an inconvenience in many ways for those who would have to adapt to the new policy.

Teets then took the podium to give his official recommendation to approve the policy. Among his comments were that over $150,000 was being paid in tuition for students to attend Allegany schools. He stated that while the board is currently forced to decrease Garrett County educational staff, support, and services to GC schools, this expense can no longer be justified.

An additional $36,000 is spent on the transport of Finzel students to Allegany schools, and $150,000 in state aid is lost on these students each year. With the approval of this policy change, funding for Garrett County schools would increase $336,000 at full phase out (once students currently in grades 6 through 12 graduate).

He also stated that the distance and time on a bus for these students to go the Northern Garrett County schools would be approximately the same as for them to attend Mt. Savage, pending on the route taken for weather. He noted that many students in different areas of Garrett County, because it's a rural area, ride a bus even longer, including Bloomington area students, whose ride is approximately 85 minutes to Southern high and middle schools and Friendsville area students, whose ride is approximately 75 minutes to Northern high and middle schools.

The Garrett County commissioners have also endorsed the idea of the policy change in an attempt to address the financial crisis that is affecting the entire county.

Board member James Raley, who voted against the proposed change, commented that he "didn't mind being the odd man out," and went on to state that while the transport of students on I-68 to NMS and NHS is as quick as that to Mt. Savage, he feels that it is not always the safest route, with weather and traffic as major factors.

Board member Rodney Durst made a motion to approve the recommendation, with a second by Thomas Carr. An extensive recess was taken to allow the board attorney to review the wording of the policy change to mirror that which was made for Bloomington area residents when the amendment was passed that their students must attend southern Garrett County schools.

It states that any younger sibling of a student in an Allegany County school may also attend an Allegany school to keep both in the same school system. It was discovered that there are no Finzel area families with this issue regarding the current policy reviewed.

"Although I respect the Finzel residents for doing what they feel is right for [illegible] of this board, we took an oath to do what is right by all Garrett County students and schools," stated Durst, in an attempt to explain his decision. "This is why I am voting in favor of this policy change."

Among other decisions made at the meeting was that to sign on to the Race to the Top program. One of the main points made by Teets was that participation in this program would insure all available funding to help GC students and personnel if Maryland receives funding, as well as insure other federal and state related funding opportunities.

This was approved with a 4–1 vote, with Raley opposing.

investigators were assisted by officers with the Garrett County Narcotics Task Force, the state's attorney's investigator, and Child Protective Service workers from the Department of Social Services.

In an unrelated case, Mark Robert Watkins, 50, Grantsville pleaded guilty on Tuesday to driving under the influence of alcohol per se.

Judge Jim Sherbin then sentenced him to three years in the Division of Corrections, with two years suspended.

Watkins will be on probation for three years when he is released from jail. Fines and court costs totaling $640 were also imposed.

Watkins was arrested and charged in December after the vehicle he was driving was stopped by a Maryland State Police trooper for a speeding violation in Grantsville. After conducting field sobriety tests and observing the condition of Watkins, the trooper placed him under arrest.

In other recent Circuit Court proceedings, Sandra Kaye Tennant, 42, Bruceton Mills, W.Va., pleaded guilty to a theft under $500 in value charge. Judge Sherbin then sentenced her to 18 months in the Garrett County Jail.

He suspended all of that sentence and placed Tennant on six months of supervised probation. She was also ordered to pay restitution and court costs.

Tennant was charged by the Garrett County Sheriff's Office in January 2009 after it was learned she had stolen money from her place of employment in Friendsville.

In another recent case, 61-year-old Delbert Lee Brady, Cumberland, pleaded guilty to DUI per se. He was sentenced to one year in the Garrett County Jail. All of that sentence was suspended, and Brady was fined $300 and placed on unsupervised probation for six months.

Related charges of DUI, driving while impaired by alcohol, violating a license restriction, and negligent driving were not prosecuted by the state's attorney.

The charges stem from a traffic stop conducted by an MSP officer in January 2009 on I-68.

In an unrelated case, the state's attorney placed a second degree assault charge against Larissa Kay Kitzmiller, 18, Oakland, on the stet docket. Sheriff's deputies charged Kitzmiller in October 2009, following a report of a fight in progress involving her and two adult males in the parking lot of an Oakland business.

Sunday 11-6

OAKLAND'S FIRST FEMALE MAYOR SWORN IN – Peggy Jamison was sworn into office recently as the first female in Oakland's history to be elected to the position of mayor. In addition, Elmer "Butch" Redinger, John "Jack" Rickman, and Sherwin Teagarden were sworn in as members of the town council. Last summer and fall, there were some vacant seats because of resignations, but at the recent council meeting, the full town council and mayor were on hand to conduct business. Jamison said she is honored to be able to serve Oakland and is grateful for a hard working, dedicated, and energetic group of council members and employees. She added that she is "excited about the wonderful things happening in Oakland and will keep a positive outlook, despite the financial difficulties facing the local government. Left to right are Rickman, council member Jay Moyer, Jamison, council member Ryan Wolf, Teagarden, and Redinger.

The annual Emmanuel Women of ELCA mother-daughter banquet will be held this Friday, May 14, at 6 p.m. at the Bittinger fire hall. The steak dinner costs $10 for adults and $4 for children under 5. Registration and payment should be made with/given to Jenny Hady or Margie Brenneman. All mothers and grandmothers are invited to come and bring their daughters or daughters-in-law.

I remember the banquet in May 1986 when I was pregnant with Claire, and she was really rocking and rolling inside my body. That one moment really brought home the fact that I would be a mother soon.

A reminder – The meeting of the lot owners of Bittinger Cemetery will be held on Memorial Day at 11 a.m. at the fire hall.

I didn't catch which Republican spokesman claimed, "Obama didn't act fast enough to address the oil disaster on the Gulf Coast." But he immediately mobilized the Environmental Protection Agency and the Coast Guard. How much faster could he move? Unless some kind of warning appeared, but that is impossible.

They tried the same thing with the Times Square failed bombing. But the FBI was on the job immediately, and the suspect is now behind bars. He admitted that he did get training in Pakistan.

The president enlisted the help of ordinary Americans to be alert and keep their eyes open. And that was a key factor, because a T-shirt vendor saw a van smoking, and he alerted a New York mounted policeman. He called for back-up and alerted the FBI, just as it should happen.

Think about how complex and difficult a job it is to govern, especially since there is industrial interdependence.

Last week, it looked like the oldest democracy in the world, Greece, would go belly-up. And look how the American stock market and every international market went crazy. What is really scary is the relationship between any government and its national finances. Because if Europe completely collapsed, there goes our major export market. It may well threaten our recovery.

The European Common Market decided it was in its common interest to save Greece. Portugal and Spain were also threatened, and Italy is not in perfect health. Those are major trading partners of America. You can't depend on China to import more of America's products, at least not on a level playing field. I wish I knew more about economics.

We can see what happens when suspects are denied rights. Look at the case of those three American hikers who wandered across into Iran. The two boys and one girl are behind bars in Iran! That is a terrifying position to be in, especially since they were totally innocent. It was bad enough for the two boys, but at least they were able to share a cell, but the girl was totally isolated in solitary confinement.

The latest report about her is that she is developing some serious mental issues and physical problems. No wonder. I can easily understand that. But thank God the Iranian government granted permission for their families to come to Iran and visit them. Of course, they did not see a lawyer yet. They have not even been formally charged with a crime. But if she were read the Miranda rights, at least she would have one person to lean on – a lawyer. Unfortunately, Iran is not a land driven by the rule of the law. And that is why we must live up to our most valuable right, even for people like the Christmas bomber.

The American justice system did a wonderful job for a century. If it's not broken, don't fix it. We have a clear Constitution, especially the Bill of Rights, that spells out fairly clearly what it means to have "liberty and justice for all." What changed in the last century or so is that there used to be rights for the rich and powerful only. Now we believe they should apply to ordinary, even lowly, people.

That's how the constitutional laws evolved to fit a more modern time. And it is impossible to stick with a literal interpretation of the Constitution.

There are so many things in today's society that couldn't possibly be imagined by writers of the Constitution. Could they even dream of an oil well a mile under the sea or the political disaster of something gone wrong with it? I don't believe they would imagine a gun that could spray many bullets and kill lots of people in a heartbeat.

The Mutual Ministry Team of the Bittinger Lutheran Parish will meet next Monday, May 17, at the parsonage. The recent parish retreat will be reviewed.

A planning meeting for the Bittinger Parish Vacation Bible School will be held on May 23. A covered-dish dinner will be held at the parsonage. Bible School is scheduled for the week of June 27 through July 1.

The Bittinger Parish Fifth Sunday joint service will be held at St. John's of Meadow Mountain on May 30. This service will begin at 10 a.m.

The Bible study continues each Wednesday at 7 p.m. at Emmanuel. The study is based on religions of the world, and the group is presently studying Hinduism. Pastor Randy Richardson extends a welcome to all to attend.

NEW WELCOME FLAGS HUNG AT GCMH – Garrett County Memorial Hospital recently hung its new welcome signs in the hospital parking lot. Sid Friend, GCMH Plant Operations employee, is shown hanging the first flag that welcomes patients and visitors to the facility with the theme of Experience, Excellence, Expansion. The new flags are courtesy of the Loar Auxiliary volunteers who manage and operate the hospital's gift shop.

Notes From Bittinger

by Joan Glotfelty Sussman

Last Saturday was Mother's Day eve for me. It felt that way because my two Mountaineers will come home for the summer. I can't wait. At least for a few months my life will feel like it's worth living.

But today is not a pretty spring day. The wind sounds like it does during a blizzard. And it's too cold, too. My old (100 years old) apple tree is still pretty. At least it was before this wind started blowing all the blossoms off.

My lilac bush is in full bloom, just like it should be. Because that was my mother's favorite flower, this will be an especially tough Mother's Day since she is gone. And my father died the night before Mother's Day in 1977, but his last Mother's Day gift is still is going strong – an old-fashioned deep red rose bush.

What a Mother's Day – my worst as a mother. I counted the days for months to get my two younger daughters home. But they said that they don't have a way home.

I had a lot to do with those girls entering the world, and with raising them when they were little, or actually their whole lives before my aneurysm burst, when Claire was only 8 years old, Caitlin was 6 and in kindergarten, and Mere was just a little thing at 4 years old. She barely remembers me before I was crippled. I did everything to give her a good start in life.

And now I have seen what beautiful, wonderful young ladies they have become. Even though my motherhood was cruelly interrupted twice – when I got sick and then when my divorced happened and they split time between me and their father. It was hard to accept when they went with him, although I understand that my girls still need their father.

How can anyone say that allowing gay couples to get married would somehow damage regular marriage? The real damage is caused by a spouse who does not take seriously the vow to love, cherish, and care for his/her partner until death parts them.

My divorce was a train wreck for me since I was already deeply depressed because of my disability. Now I live in pain that is almost unbearable to endure every hour of every day. It is very hard just running my house alone. Luckily, I have a few people whom I can more or less depend on to help me.

I miss my family so much. I hate to realize that there will be no one coming home this evening. I know it is time for me to experience empty-nest syndrome, but most mothers still have their husbands.

I am still waiting for my girls to come home on Monday. Thank goodness the weather is much more spring-like. On Sunday we had light snow in the air, but luckily it did not stick on the ground. But it was pretty cold for Mother's Day. I guess that will be our last snow, because of the serviceberry trees. I thought they would never bloom. And sometimes when the first sign of buds and leaves appears, that means allergy time for me.

Yesterday, Mother's Day, I awoke pretty early because I had a vivid dream that I was still a kid and my mother was around the house, so I had better get up and make a breakfast for her. It seemed so real that the reality was hard to accept. Every day I miss her more and more.

GCASC HOLD ELECTIONS – The Garrett County Association of Student Council (GCASC) recently held elections at its last meeting of the school year. Pictured are Elizabeth Sines, student member of the board candidate; Michelle Harman, NHS Advisor; Bryson Holler, first vice president; Sara Harvey, president; Davey Swift, treasurer; Darla Ayodele, SMS; George Lander, NMS; and Lowell Leitzel, SHS (seated). Fair Housing Poster Contest Winners Named

The Maryland Association of Realtors (MAR) and special guest Governor Martin O'Malley announced the winners of the annual Fair Housing Poster Contest at a recent ceremony in Annapolis at the Maryland Statehouse. Students representing 13 schools, homeschoolers, and churches across the state received a certificate and a gift card.

MAR selected Garrett County second grader Ciara Heldreth, a student at Broad Ford Elementary School, from among the six poster contest entries submitted by a local church youth group to represent the Garrett County Board of Realtors (GCBR) in the 2011 calendar. GCBR president Pat Kane, along with Ciara's parents, attended the reception.

"Homeownership is the cornerstone for a strong and growing, increasingly diverse, and upwardly mobile middle class," said Governor O'Malley. "It is remarkable that such talented young people are able to express their awareness of equal opportunity housing through this poster contest. Working together with organizations like the Maryland Association of Realtors, we can continue to give more families the opportunity to realize the dream of owning a home, especially during these tough economic times."

As part of the contest, students were asked to illustrate the theme "Fair Housing Equals Opportunity for All in 2011." The 13 winning posters will be reproduced in colorful calendars which Maryland realtors will distribute statewide to promote the principles of fair housing. The contest allows school children to express their ideas creatively, while fostering the principles of equal opportunity in housing, according to a contest spokesperson.

"This community-based program is run by local realtors, and is a great opportunity to teach children the importance of fair housing," said Steve Meszaros, MAR president. "We believe that children can become great advocates of diverse communities later in life."

From the Auther of The Vagina Monologues
NECESSARY TARGETS
by Eve Ensler

"When we think of war," Ensler writes in the introduction to her published play, "we think of it as something that happens to men." The focus is on bombs and the immediate destruction that they wreak. Little media attention or conscious thought on the part of people living in other countries is focused on the aftermath of war. "But after the bombing," Ensler continues, "that's when the real war begins."
Necessary Targets is produced under special arrangement with Dramatists Play Service, and is funded, in part, by the Garrett County Arts Council and the Maryland State Arts Council.

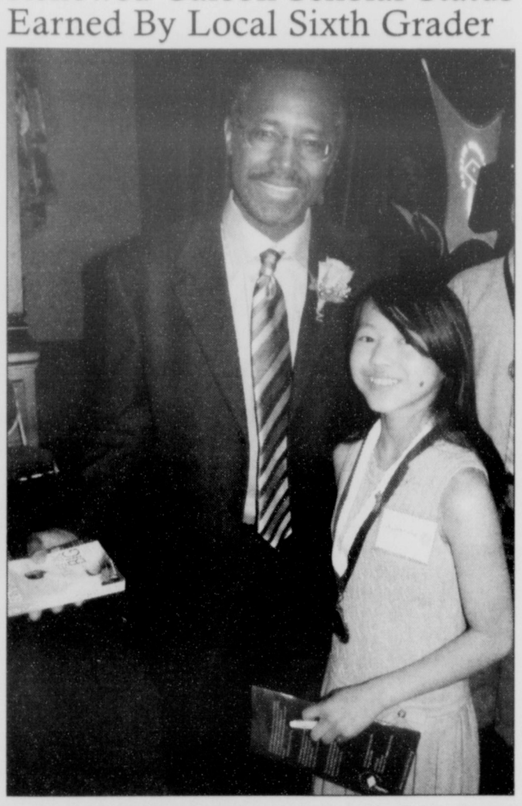
Renewed Carson Scholar Status Earned By Local Sixth Grader



Alexandra Miller, a sixth grade student at Northern Middle School, was named a 2010 Carson Scholar with Renewed Status at the 14th annual Carson Scholars Banquet, held on April 11 at Martin's West in Woodlawn. The master of ceremonies for the event was newscaster Sam Donaldson. The keynote address was given by Dr. Ben Carson, who, with his wife Candy, founded the Carson Scholars Fund for the purpose of recognizing successful academics and good citizenship. He is pictured above with Alexandra.

"With the determined support of his mother, Dr. Carson overcame incredible odds and numerous obstacles as a youth," a spokesperson said. Lunch & Learn Series To Begin Next Friday

Garrett College will offer its 2010 Lunch & Learn Series – consisting of lunch, a presentation, and follow-up discussion – at the Santa Fe Grille in McHenry beginning on Friday, May 21.

Each session will begin with a half-hour registration and mingling period, starting at 11:30 a.m. Lunch will be served at noon, with the discussion and presentation following until 1:30 p.m.

John Temple, author and associate professor of journalism at West Virginia University, kicks off the series on May 21 with "The Last Lawyer and Deadhouse: The Use of Creative Writing Techniques in Real-Life Reporting."

"Many nonfiction authors these days write books that are meticulously reported and convey real life events, but they use techniques such as characterization, scenes, narrative structure, and concrete detail to write true stories that have the feel of a novel," said a spokesperson.

The Last Lawyer follows a team of attorneys who represent convicts who have been sentenced to death; Deadhouse explores the workings of the Allegheny County, Pa., coroner's office under forensic pathologist Dr. Cyril Wecht.

Dr. David Moran, president of Technology International Partnerships LLC, will lead a discussion on the topic "Why Are We Here?" on Friday, June 25.

Moran earned bachelor of science and master of science degrees from Massachusetts Institute of Technology and a doctorate degree from the University of Iowa in the field of hydrodynamics (ocean engineering). He was affiliated for many years with the Department of the Navy, including service as director of research and technology at the David Taylor Research Center.

Moran has also been a student at the Episcopal Divinity School of the Pacific and is a graduate of the Brethren Ministerial Development Program.

Moran will lead a discussion centered on some universal questions (What is discovery?), some local issues (What is respect?), and some critical topics (Why do we educate?).

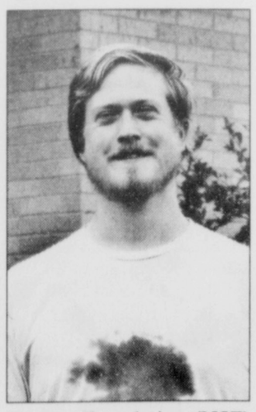
GC's Wampler Awarded Grant For Summer Study At Bucknell

by Melissa Parker

This summer won't offer much of a break for Garrett College student Dan Wampler. Instead of relaxing in the sun, he will be keeping quite busy learning the basics of modern-day physics research at one of the top liberal arts institutions in the country.

Wampler recently discovered that he will be receiving a National Science Foundation grant to study physics at Bucknell University this summer. The 10-week program will begin June 1.



"I'm really excited about this opportunity," said Wampler, a GC sophomore who will graduate this Saturday. "This is my first open door. If things go well, I will be able to build relationships that will open new doors, as well as build my resume."

Wampler applied for the grant after learning about it through Phil Rivera, GC's associate dean of academic affairs. Professors Elizabeth "Lyz" Biser and Linda Griffith recommended Wampler, a mathematics/science major, for the grant.

Although Wampler completed the grant application process over spring break, he just learned last week that he had received it.

"I was kept in suspense for a while, so I was very relieved when I found out about it," he said. "I was in art class when my mom told me the news. Everyone in the class thought I was crazy, as I was jumping for joy."

Bucknell University's Department of Physics and Astronomy is one of the many institutions that receives funding from the National Science Foundation (NSF) to host a Research Experiences for Undergraduates (REU) site.

According to Martin Ligare, associate professor of physics and astronomy at Bucknell who is involved with the grant, approximately 10 students are selected for the grant each summer. Each participant is assigned to work for 10 weeks with a member of the Bucknell faculty on his or her ongoing research. Research areas include astronomy, experimental atomic physics, pattern formation and chaos, medical physics, optics, theoretical statistical mechanics, and computational condensed matter physics.

In addition to participation in a specific research project, the students take part in supplemental programming on topics such as scientific computing, presentation skills, and graduate school and career opportunities. The program also supports student travel to research conferences in the year following participation, and the majority of participants attend national meetings of professional societies to present their work.

Bucknell made a specific effort this year to seek applications from qualified students at schools that are partners in the Bucknell Community College Scholars Program, noted Ligare. Fortunately for Wampler, this includes Garrett College.

Wampler and the other students in the program were selected from a national applicant pool. They will be supported with a $4,000 stipend, as well as on-campus housing for the summer.

Wampler grew up in Waldorf and graduated from Thomas Stone High School in 2001. He decided to attend Garrett College so that he could live with his parents, who moved to Garrett County in 2003, and go to college. He began his studies at Garrett in 2007.

"I didn't grow up here, but I've always had ties to Garrett County because I have family who lives here," said Wampler. "Plus, my dad grew up in Friendsville."

Wampler plans to continue his education at a four-year university in the fall. He has applied to the University of Maryland College Park, West Virginia University, and Frostburg State University. He hopes to major in physics and mathematics. Eventually, he plans to attend graduate school, earn a PhD, and become a research physicist.

"I'm really interested in solving the little intricacies of the universe," he said. "I want to try to figure out the anomalies."

This summer, Wampler will be learning the techniques to conduct the research required to make such discoveries. He will be working on cutting-edge physics at Bucknell, but he knows this opportunity would not have been possible without his beginning experiences at Garrett College.

"The staff at Garrett has encouraged my creative thinking, especially Lyz Biser, Tim Foster, and Linda Griffith," he said. "It's been a great experience here, but I'm excited about moving on."

For further information about the Bucknell REU program, persons may contact Rivera at 301-387-3077 or go to the program's web site at http://www.eg.bucknell.edu/physics/reu.html.

April marked the 42nd anniversary of the enactment of the federal Fair Housing Law. The legislation, passed in 1968, prohibits discrimination while purchasing or renting a house, and encourages fair housing opportunities for all.

A FOND FAREWELL will be said at Route 40 Elementary School at the end of this school year. Sally Weimer, who has served as a volunteer at the school for the last 25 years, has decided to retire. She began her service when her children were at the school, and has continued through three grandchildren as well. Pictured above, from left, are Candy Dolan-Opel, principal; Weimer's granddaughter Sara Weimer, who is currently a Rt. 40 student; and Weimer. "I always knew it was Wednesday when I would walk down the hall and I could smell Grandma's perfume," Sara said. "And I was glad I didn't have to ride the bus because Grandma would drive me home." See story for details.

Volunteer To Retire After 25 Years Of Service To Rt. 40 Elementary

by Brenda Ruggiero

After 25 years of volunteer service at Route 40 Elementary School, Sally Weimer has decided to retire.

The years of service started in 1985 when kindergarten teacher Dorothy Minnick asked Weimer to help her with book reports for her class. Later, she spent some time as a substitute in the cafeteria, and often made special cakes. Most recently, she has been heading the volunteer group.

"I love the school," Weimer said. "I feel like I'm a part of it, and it's a second home to me."

Minnick, who is now retired, remembers Weimer as a very devoted and hard working parent volunteer.

"She did anything I would ask her to do for the teachers, even the tedious tasks that always took a lot of time," she said. "She made all of the other volunteers feel important and welcomed and encouraged everyone to come back. Sally would take things home with her if she knew it was important for the teachers to have what they needed to teach. We all enjoyed working with her over the years, and she was a true asset to our school."

Weimer lives in Avilton with her husband Dan. They have three children: Craig of Finzel, Jackie of Gilmore, and Doug of Baltimore. They also have three grandchildren: Josh, Erin, and Sara.

"Mom started volunteering when I was at Route 40," Doug said. "I remember that the teachers put her to work doing a lot of different tasks. She was always present on school field trips, helping out at field days, and being a chaperone. My memories of Route 40 are always good ones because Mom was always a part of my life there. I hope she realizes how much her presence has meant to the students whose lives she has touched. She should be proud of the difference she has made, and I'm very proud to call her my mother."

Weimer's grandchildren also have good memories of her volunteer days.

"I loved having Grandma volunteer at school because then she was allowed to go on field trips, and she always packed me the best lunch and she would buy me any souvenir I wanted," her granddaughter Erin said.

Weimer's daughter Jackie noted that she and her brothers were raised with the understanding that the most rewarding things in life are those things we do without any monetary gain.

"My mom is a prime example of this," she said. "She has volunteered for 25 years, never once expecting anything in return. She has really enjoyed it, and I know she will really miss it. I am so proud she is my mother and also my best friend."

Have You HEARD?

MAY I BE OF ASSISTANCE?

Aside from availing themselves of hearing instruments to help them hear better, those with hearing impairments may also utilize "assistive listening devices" (ALDs), which include telephone and television amplifiers, flashing or vibrating fire alarms, text telephones, and closed-caption televisions. Instead of turning up the volume of the television beyond the point that is tolerable for other people in the room, hearing-impaired individuals may also make use of an infrared system that transmits light waves to a special receiver in the wearer's ear. Similarly, if a hearing-impaired individual wants to improve hearing in a classroom, auditorium, or theatre, he or she can use an FM transmitter that transmits radio waves directly to the user's hearing device or headset.

There are many options available today to help hearing impaired individuals live happier, more fulfilled lives. If you'd like to find out more about assistive listening devices, contact us at AUDIBEL. If you have a hearing instrument you are not happy with, bring it to us and we'll be happy to check it out and discuss other hearing aid options with you. Your complete satisfaction is our ultimate goal.

P.S. Under a new FCC rule, anyone who uses a wireless microphone that operates in the 700 MHz Band must stop operating his or her wireless microphone no later than June 12, 2010.

The Feet of the Master

A tiny little ball of fur, this puppy is so low to the ground that she is most familiar with her master's feet. Yet, when she is most lonely, just a cry and she is lifted up to see loving eyes that smile warmly. Though once again placed on the ground, the warmth remains.

Each day, one might say that we, too, sit at the feet of our Master. As we travel from task to task, we may lose track of Him, but God is always watching over us. When we cry to Him we are lifted up and we feel the warmth and love that can only come from our Heavenly Father.

Do you need to experience God's loving care? Visit your chosen place of worship this week – He will lift you up!

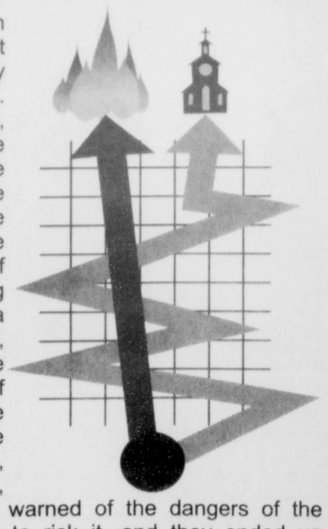
Beware of Shortcuts



It is human nature to want shortcuts, but they are often perilous. The longer route, the tried and true way, is usually the safer way. The story of the Donner party, the group of Americans going west to California in 1846 and 1847, is a tragic example of the danger of shortcuts. The leader of the Donner party, James Reed, even after being warned of the dangers of the shortcut, decided to risk it, and they ended up tragically losing almost half of their party, while all of the settlers who went the long way in that year's migration survived. The shortcut which they took, the so-called "Hastings Cutoff" was in actuality 125 miles longer than the usual route. As Virginia Reed, James Reed's daughter wrote to her cousin after the harrowing journey, "Never take no cutoffs and hurry along as fast as you can." It is a tragic story of mythic proportions with an important lesson. Shortcuts are often dangerous, and when it comes to the greatest things in life, there are no shortcuts. Excellence is invariably difficult and rare. There are no shortcuts to heaven.

And a highway shall be there, and it shall be called the Holy Way; the unclean shall not pass over it, and fools shall not err therein.

Antibiotics Prescribed for Meningitis

Meningitis, an inflammation of the tissues surrounding the brain and spinal cord, is caused by bacteria called Neisseria meningitidis. Between 1,000 and 3,000 cases of bacterial meningitis occur in the United States each year. The condition occurs most commonly in infants and persons with certain medical conditions, including persons without a spleen. Teenagers and college freshman are at an increased risk for getting meningitis. There are several different types of bacteria that can cause meningitis: types A, C, W, and Y cause the majority of cases in persons older than 11 years, while type B causes the majority of cases in infants.

Various antibiotics are prescribed for the treatment of bacterial meningitis. Third-generation cephalosporins, such as cefotaxime and ceftriaxone, along with vancomycin may be used to treat bacterial meningitis. However, bacterial meningitis is fatal in approximately 10% of persons diagnosed with the condition. Available vaccines for prevention of bacterial meningitis include Menomune, Menactra, and Menveo. These vaccines protect against bacteria types A, C, W, and Y. However, there is currently no vaccine available for protection against bacteria type B.

Someone's in the 'Kitchen' with Gordon – again

By Jay Bobbin

Gordon Ramsay

Q: Will "Hell's Kitchen" be returning to television for a new season? –Barbara Kirchner, Lake Worth, Fla.

A: Yes. Gordon Ramsay will put more cooks through their paces when the show starts its seventh season June 1 on Fox. Ramsay then launches another Fox series, "Masterchef," on July 27; he'll also be furnishing more "Kitchen Nightmares" as well, since the network has picked up that series for a third season.

Q: For a number of years, I've noticed that on many shows, the actors also are listed as producers or executive producers. Why is that? Are they all experienced in that aspect, or is it a way to guarantee the show won't be canceled because they have a larger stake in it? –Chuck Tangalan, Seattle

A: That's a good guess, but it isn't necessarily the fact. If it was, Kiefer Sutherland – who is an executive producer as well as the star of "24" – would be continuing that show beyond this season, which he won't, since Fox has canceled it. The jobs of actors who have such credits are as varied as the series they're on, but it comes down to one basic thing: more of a creative say in the given show.

Also being a producer virtually guarantees that the actor will have a bigger voice in the shaping of an episode, or the series in general, than he or she might without a production credit. It also guarantees the person another paycheck, or a larger one than acting alone would yield, since it's an additional job that's being performed.

Q: I enjoyed the show "Warehouse 13," which Syfy aired last year. Is it coming back? –Darla Mixon, Grand Prairie, Texas

A: It is, and it's little surprise, since last summer's run scored some of the highest ratings the cable network has enjoyed to date. Season two is set to begin July 6, with Eddie McClintock, Joanne Kelly and Saul Rubinek back as the agents investigating strange objects stored at the title site.

Q: What is the status of the Marvin Gaye biography starring former "Law & Order" actor Jesse L. Martin? –Bob Buscavage, Moriches, N.Y.

A: Named after Gaye's song "Sexual Healing," the film still is cited as being in development ... meaning that no actual film has been shot on it yet. Recently, it was reported that filmmaker Cameron Crowe ("Jerry Maguire," "Almost Famous") was planning his own movie about the late Motown star Gaye; what that may mean for Martin's project remains to be seen.
